Girl Disillusioned in Tour With Magazine Sales Crew

Disillusioned over the life and disappointed with the financial returns from traveling with a magazine sales crew in northwest states, Irene (Dolly) Koker, 17-year-old Jefferson girl who left Salem about two weeks ago, is home again.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Vesta Koker and Sherman Koker, of Jefferson. She had been sought as a "missing person" but returned home by bus from Missoula, Mont.

Whether possible action will be taken against a circulation campaign agency for two national magazines has not yet been decided by the mother, who claims the crewmen contributed to the delinquency of her daughter by keeping the girl out of school in a traveling job.

According to the story told by the girl she and Jim Monroe, 20, also of Jefferson answered a newspaper advertisement asking for crew members under 25 who were free to travel. They were accepted in Salem and went first to Tacoma, Wash. The sales crew consisted of two married couples, and another girl and herself after Monroe quit in Seattle.

Monroe, she said, was "fired" because he apparently was unable to "put over" his sales talk. Monroe, she declared, was left at the Seattle city limits with only $1 and hitch-hiked back to Jefferson.

The crew, the girl continued, worked in Yakima, Walla Walla and Pullman, Wash., in Moscow and Mullins, Ida. and Missoula. She said she earned $28 in six days of selling, representing her share of the 10 subscriptions she sold. The agency paid her way home from Missoula.

Irene related that the firm "specialized" in "working" college campuses although the crew knew it was unlawful in most instances to do so. She told her two sisters, both of California, who arrived in Jefferson Saturday, that she had started out in debt to the company and still owed the company. J. J. Berryman, Hong Kong manager of APL, said the door was left open for a last minute agreement but he had little hopes.
