

Abolishment of Hiring Halls May Set Off Strikes

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Federal Maritime Director Cyrus Ching told a senate committee today that abolishing union hiring halls probably would set off maritime strikes on all coasts.

Ching's warning was contained in a letter to the senate labor subcommittee, which is studying the maritime hiring hall. The supreme court has ruled in effect that hiring halls were outlawed by the Taft-Hartley act.

Mrs. Arthur Rubel

Tour of Israel Lecture Subject

Mrs. Arthur Rubel of New York City, who has just returned from a tour of Israel that took her from Dan to Beersheba and to the borders of Transjordan, Syria and Lebanon, will speak Thursday night at Temple Beth Sholem.

She will visit a number of regions and chapters during the fall and winter of 1949-50 to make a first-hand report on what she saw in Israel.

Mrs. Rubel visited military battlefields, Jewish National Fund kibbutzim, immigration camps and Hadassah institutions, including the new Youth Aliyah reception camp at Alonim—Ramat Hadassah-Szold—and the newly-opened Beersheba health center. She attended sessions of the Knesset (Assembly) and the actions committee, and became acquainted with the cultural life of Israel—the museums, opera, theater and university.

Mrs. Rubel was in Tel-Aviv on Independence day (May 14) and in Jerusalem for the opening of the Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical school three days later. Her most dramatic experience was a visit to the Negev, the southern desert region which is being restored to fertility after more than a thousand years of desolation. She saw Negbah, the underground quarters in Kibbutz Saad, and climbed the ruins of an Egyptian fortification—Iraqi Suldan—overlooking Gaza.

While visiting Cyprus and the Arab city of Nazareth, Mrs. Rubel also became familiar with the details of the Arab refugee problem.

Kiwanis Hears Story of Beer

Beer not only is a refreshing beverage and a food but makes an excellent hair wash, asserted Steve Tabacchi, head brewmaster for Sicks Brewing company of Salem, as he described the manufacture of his product for the benefit of the Salem Kiwanis club Tuesday noon.

Tabacchi described the process of manufacture from the time the grain is received until the finished product is placed in the containers. Absolute cleanliness is maintained throughout, said the brewmaster.

The speaker stated that the brewing industry was of ancient origin, dating back as far as 8000 B. C. Barley used during the first days of manufacture is not greatly different from that grown today.

Oregon Student Dies In College Infirmary

Eugene, March 21 (AP)—University of Oregon student Robert I. Phillips, 25, Portland, died of a heart attack yesterday in the school infirmary. He had complained earlier of sharp chest pains and succumbed before a doctor could help him.

He was a son of Dr. and Mrs. B. I. Phillips, Portland, and was in his sophomore year. Phillips had transferred to the university from Vanport college.

Holy Week Plan Almost Complete

Establishment of an International Christian university near Tokyo, Japan received the endorsement of the Salem Ministerial association Tuesday forenoon following the presentation of plans by Dr. Ernest J. Jaqua, former president of Scripps college.

"We must build up a bulwark of friendly relations in the Far East," stated Dr. Jaqua as he presented the outline for the university. "That means a friendly Japan, joined to us by ties of common acceptance of the democratic way of life, rooted in Christian principles."

Dr. Jaqua said the Japanese have raised $500,000 toward the construction of the university. The United States will be asked to contribute $10,000,000. The faculty will be partly Japanese and partly educators from this country.

Plans for Holy week, Good Friday and Easter sunrise services were discussed and virtually completed. The YWCA and YMCA are jointly sponsoring a series of Holy week noon-time services at Saint Paul's Episcopal church from Monday, April 3, through April 6. Participating ministers will be Rev. Dudley Strain, Rev. Brooks Moore, Rev. Lloyd T. Anderson and Rev. Chester Hamblin.

Good Friday services will be held at the First Congregational church, and Easter sunrise services on the north steps of the state capitol.

New Store to Open Thursday

With expanded organization and a bigger line of merchandise the Maurer-Bogardus Furniture company will open Thursday in its new location in the Oregon building at State and High, the former location of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The firm is moving there from South 12th and Highway 90E where it has been in business for three years. In the new location, where it will have over 20,000 square feet of selling space, it will occupy both the main floor and the basement, the entire space that was used by Sears. Added to the firm is George Maurer, former manager of the Gevurtz store, and with a back-ground of 35 years in the furniture business. The store at the South 12th street junction was operated by Warren Maurer and Earl Bogardus. In adding George Maurer to the firm Bogardus said that "we feel the addition of his knowledge and experience will be a decided asset to the business and to the people who buy furniture."

The present lease at the Oregon building is temporary, for at least 60 days. Announcements as to a permanent location will be made later.

"In the Oregon building," the firm announces, "we will have a much larger complete stock of home furnishings than we had in the previous location, and in every way our facilities for serving the public are larger and better."

are no more accurate or truthful than the remarks about me, then in my opinion he is not qualified to be governor of Oregon.

"During the war years," Hall added, "Mr. Flegel was busy enriching himself by means of fat shipbuilding contracts with the United States government. After the war he was busy spending these profits on pleasure trips to Europe. I assume his long absence from participation in civic affairs or his tendency to speak without thinking led him to refer to my voting record as a state senator. I have never been a state senator."

But Hall denied he had made such a statement or that he even attended the Waldport meeting of Flegel, the former governor said.

Minnie, the Cat, Adopts Mouse

Jersey City, N. J., March 21 (AP)—Minnie, the railroad cat, has temporarily abandoned her reputation as a good mother to adopt a baby mouse.

She added the baby mouse to her litter of three kittens yesterday and from then on it was just one of the family.

Minnie is the pet of office workers at the Railway Express Agency in the Central Railroad of New Jersey terminal here.

Until she was overcome by her motherly instincts, they said, Minnie was "an excellent mouser."

Gresham Fair To Be Probed

Portland, March 21 (AP)—A grand jury probe of the Multnomah County Fair association's management the past two years was promised last night by District Attorney John B. McCourt.

He said the decision followed an all-day check of audit reports and charges of "mismanagement" made by County Commissioner Gene Rossman against the association.

"The matter will be fully explored and all interested parties given the opportunity to be heard," McCourt said.

For several months the association and the commissioners have been feuding. The commission cancelled the association's lease on the Gresham property in December. A new fair board organization was started. The association then challenged the commission's right to cancel the lease and threatened court action to settle the issue.

Walter H. Evans, Jr., attorney for the association, said last night the association would cooperate with the grand jury investigation. He said the question of fairground ownership might be settled out of court, if the association was permitted to go ahead with plans for the 1950 program.

Rossman said the probe was needed. "Public monies are involved. If such funds have been misused or misappropriated they should be restored to the county."

The firm of Wells & De Lap, certified accountants who made the audit of the 1948-49 fairs, reported the association's board "lax in its failure to insist that ordinary safeguards be exercised to ensure protection of the liquid assets of the fair."

Latin American Lecturer Takes Digs at Marshall Plan

Bits of satire and humor, interlaced with matters of a more serious vein, gave members of the Salem Knife and Fork club an interesting program Monday night when Carlos Fallon, native born Colombian but now a citizen of the United States, presented his lecture "Misadventures of a Latin American."

Fallon took a few digs at the Marshall plan when he said that South America gets its dollars by working for them, adding that, in his opinion, the salvation of the entire western world, rested on a program of work for all concerned.

That South America constituted one of the largest cash markets for the heavy industries of the United States, was Fallon's assertion. In this connection, he stated that most countries of South America are on a rapidly ascending standard of living, consequently its citizens will be able to absorb many of the articles that residents of the United States have grown accustomed to.

Fallon suggested a triangle involving the Americas, western Europe and Great Britain in which all would work and all "would pay their own way." He asserted that "money for free"
