Sunday is the day set aside to honor all mothers—those who are grandmothers and great grandmothers, on down to the younger ones. To many mothers in the older generations the day is still something of a novelty, but most of the younger mothers have grown up with the day as a traditional and accepted event on the calendar, and, as their families grow up, look ahead to years of memories when Mother's Day comes each season.

On the page today are some of the young mothers, representative of many who have little children in the home starting out the tradition of Mother's Day.

Special breakfast gatherings, church services and family dinners are on the Sunday schedule as special tribute is paid to mothers.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER have a big time come play hours as pictured above, Mrs. Norman Sholseth and daughter, Stephanie, who is seven months old.
