Carol Bailey Found at Bend

Carol Bailey, 15, Silvertown girl who disappeared several days ago and for whom relatives and police have been making an intensive search, was located at Bend Saturday afternoon.

A report reaching Salem is without details, but indicates she voluntarily turned herself in to the state police.

She came to Salem early this week and went to the Catholic Charities office where she said she was going to California and needed help. Mrs. D. J. McLellan, at that office, gave her a meal ticket and got her a room at the YWCA. She didn't go to the YWCA, however, and her whereabouts was a mystery until today.

Her mother, who lives in Seattle, and her sisters have been trying to locate her and enlisted police help.

It is thought her disappearance may have been caused by some illness. She had not been in trouble and is said to be of good behavior.

Short Supplies Boom Textiles

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—Scarcity of raw wool and prospects of the smallest cotton crop in four years kept the textile markets on edge this week.

Most of the fabric makers just sat back, waiting for raw material prices to level off or for some indication of military demands.

Everyone's attention centered on the government's cotton crop report of Tuesday. When the estimate of a 36 percent lower yield than last year was published raw cotton prices rose.

"This report only makes our withdrawal of goods from the market a lot more solid," one mill spokesman commented.

And the resulting rising prices for raw cotton, he added, foretold increased prices for cotton goods.

About the only business transacted along New York's Worth street, world center of the textile trade, was a small fill-in business to regular customers urgently in need of goods.

In Boston, where trading in raw wool centers along Summer street, dealers were saying there was a scarcity of raw wool "such as never seen before."

Contempt Cases Citations Sent

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—The house today dispatched to two U. S. district attorneys for possible prosecution contempt of congress citations against 56 witnesses who defied the un-American activities committee.

Prosecutors here and in Honolulu will decide whether the cases shall be placed before grand juries.

Capitol Hill veterans said they could recall no previous occasion on which either branch of congress voted so many citations in so short a period.

In a matter of about an hour, the house yesterday adopted 54 contempt recommendations of the un-American activities committee. Two citations had been voted the previous day.

Thirty-nine of the citations were referred to the U. S. district attorney in Honolulu. Those cited were witnesses who appeared before the committee when it went to Hawaii last April to investigate communism.

The other 17 go to the district attorney here. These witnesses testified in Washington.

All those cited appeared before the committee during the present congress, which began in January, 1949. All refused to answer such questions as to whether they were or had been communists.

Korean Policy Rapped by Taft

Columbus, O., Aug. 12 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) said last night the Truman administration's policy in the far east was "an invasion," and "a green light" to North Koreans to attack South Korea.

His remarks were made at a mass "press conference" with some 100 Ohio editors and newspapermen. The Ohio Republican Editorial association sponsored the session.

Taft flew to Columbus to be guest speaker at the meeting.

Time and again the secretary of state said we would not defend anything beyond Okinawa, Japan and the Philippines," Taft said. Certainly, with that invitation the North Koreans had every reason to believe we meant what we said."

Taft said it would be up to the United Nations to decide whether the North Koreans should be pushed above the 38th parallel. He said the United States could not decide that question alone.

He added:

"But it seems to me that if all the UN does is to push the North Koreans back to the 38th parallel without punishing the aggressors, we had best stayed out. I think there should be some penalty. We are not there merely to occupy Korea."

Father Fatally Slaps Infant

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—A 25-year-old father has been accused of fatally slapping his infant daughter because her crying disturbed him as he watched a television show.

The father, Walter Dorn, was held without bail on homicide charges in felony court yesterday pending a hearing Aug. 25.

The child, Deborah, nine months old, was found dead in her crib by her mother, Bernice Dorn, 21, after she returned from her job as a telephone operator. An autopsy disclosed the baby died of a fractured skull.

Assistant District Attorney Harold Birn said Dorn admitted he slapped the child.

Sobbed Mrs. Dorn, "He's always been a good father and a good husband. He's innocent, no matter what anybody says. God moves in strange ways. It might be all for the best."

USS Columbus Wins Pennant

London, Aug. 12 (AP)—The heavy cruiser Columbus has won the 1949-50 battle efficiency pennant for being the all-round best cruiser in the U. S. Atlantic fleet, U. S. navy headquarters in London announced today.

In competition with other cruisers in the Atlantic fleet, the 17,500-ton Columbus came out on top in all phases of shipboard activity, including gunnery, communications, engineering and seamanship.

The Columbus, permanently assigned to the U. S. eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean fleet, is the flagship of Adm. Richard L. Conolly, commander in chief of the fleet. It is commanded by Capt. Ephraim R. McLean of Cleveland, Miss., and Arlington, Va. Conolly presented a pennant to the Columbus as the ship lay at anchor in Famagusta bay, Cyprus.

Weather Balks Formosa Raid

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 12 (AP)—China's communist armies have missed the best period for an invasion of Formosa—from a weatherman's point of view.

If they don't try to take this nationalist island by mid-October, they will have to wait until next spring says a young forecaster, appropriately named John Kain Fog.

The best months for the communists to try to cross the 100-mile Formosa trail, Fog said today, are May and June in the rainy season.

There is another briefer spell of favorable weather in late September and early October. This is between the typhoon season, now on, and the northwest monsoons. The monsoons are strong winds which cause rough seas in the Formosa channel. Mariners call it one of the worst water areas in the world during the monsoon season.

Oregon Quota 200 Reserve Officers

Portland, Aug. 12 (AP)—Oregon may have a quota of about 200 in the recall of unassigned army reserve officers to active duty, state military district headquarters reported today.

Quotas were expected to be received this week-end.

The air force quota of officers and men to be recalled may total 500. None will come from organized units such as the 403rd troop carrier wing here.

Two busloads of members of the inactive reserve left here yesterday for Fort Lewis, Wash., for pre-induction examinations. They are among 2,000 to be called from Oregon.

Building Fence Painted for C.C.

More than 30 members of Painters Local Union 724 painted two sides of the high board fence around the new state highway building at the corner of Capitol, Center and Chemekeka streets Friday evening at 5 o'clock for the Salem Community Chest.

Friday evening, August 18, the sign painters' local union will cover it with red feathers and appropriate signs for the Community Chest.

The painting squad was under the direction of J. L. (Jack) Cutler, business agent for the painters' local, and the paint was donated by the Fuller Paint company.

Mayor Robert Elfstrom and County Commissioner Roy Rice painted the first board and the painters spread out, painting 665 feet of fencing in 25 minutes. Loud speaker equipment made it possible for the Chest president, Al Loucks, and Special Features Chairman Charles Barclay, to introduce and thank the men for their work.

Two years ago the same group painted the fence around the state public service building.

The Community Chest board of directors adjourned their meeting early Friday afternoon to enable all members to attend the fence painting project.

1950 Russian Shell in Korea

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—The army today showed a picture of what it called a 1950 model Russian mortar shell picked up in Korea.

The picture was shown to reporters at a pentagon briefing in obvious reply to Russian claim that the Korean communists are using old Soviet arms supplied to them before Russia announced withdrawal from Korea in 1948.

Jakob A. Malik, the Soviet delegate to the U. N. security council, told the council earlier this week that American hints that Russia is supplying the North Korean army were slanderous and unfounded.

Malik said the North Korean troops actually have at their disposal supplies made available to them by the Russian army before its evacuation of Korea. That evacuation was announced as of December, 1948.

Today a briefing officer showed reporters a picture of what he said was a 120-millimeter Russian mortar shell picked up in Korea. He said the army's interpreters declared it bears the date 1950 pointed or stenciled on the casing.

The army spokesman made no reference to Malik's statement before the security council.

He said the numerals appearing on the captured shell are in Arabic, the letters in Russian.

Rocket Pilot Hit By Own Bomb

A U. S. Airbase in Korea, Aug. 12 (AP)—Air Force Lt. Joseph C. Miles of Harlem, Fla., was hit by a rocket he fired from his own Mustang fighter.

Miles brought back a 50-pound chunk of rocket to prove it. The airman fired the missile and hit a Red tank.

Almost simultaneously he felt a heavy jolt through his plane. When he tried to lower his wheels for a landing, he learned the reason.

A chunk of rocket apparently ricocheted from the tank and lodged in the plane's wheelwell.

Seventh Arrest Of A Bomb Spies

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—The seventh American—and second woman—arrested by the government in the Klaus Fuchs atom spy ring was charged yesterday with conspiracy to commit espionage.

She is Mrs. Ethel Greenglass Rosenberg, wife and sister of two men already accused of the same crime.

She is a small, slight woman of 35, the mother of two children.

The government accuses her of helping her husband and others persuade her brother to turn over A-bomb secrets to the Soviet spy ring.

"If the crime with which she is charged had not occurred, perhaps we would not have had the present situation in Korea," Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Miles J. Lane told U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald in asking for $100,000 bail.

He did not explain his remark, but he obviously meant that possession of A-bomb data put the communists in position to risk war.

Mrs. Rosenberg's brother, David Greenglass, a 28-year-old Brooklyn machinist, was stationed at the Los Alamos atom bomb center in 1945 as an army specialist.

Red China Aids Indonesian Reds

Saigon, Indo-China, Aug. 12 (AP)—The semi-official Vietnamese newspaper Echo Du Vietnam said today Red China has begun a massive program of military aid for communist-led Vietnamese forces in Indo-China.

The French language daily published a communique giving details of broad military cooperation between communist China and the Ho Chi Minh regime. It gave no source for the communique, but its form and information indicated it was probably of official origin. The newspaper reflects closely the views of the Vietnamese government.

Authoritative French military quarters confirmed details of the story.

Under the headline, "Sino-Vietnamese Pact," the newspaper listed five phases of collaboration.

French official sources said an order from Paris has ended talks between French and American officials on unfreezing Chinese funds in the U. S. to pay the upkeep of some 35,000 Chinese nationalist troops interned in Indo-China.

Fleeing before Chinese communist forces, the nationalist troops entered Indo-China last December. They were disarmed and placed in several French-operated internment camps.

Their upkeep costs France $350,000 to $500,000 per month.

U of W Football Player Hero

By DON WHITEHEAD

With American Troops in Korea, Aug. 12 (AP)—Marine Lt. Karl F. Sydel played four years of football at the University of Washington but the big guy never had it so rough as he did this afternoon at the wrong end of a North Korean machinegun.

Sydel and two other marines were driven to cover by a Red machine gunner who himself was under American fire. They were strafed by American planes and none got a scratch. It happened this way:

Sydel was on his way to the front by jeep with marine combat photographers, Sgt. Frank Kerr, Yakima, Wash., and Cpl. John Flynn, San Francisco.

The trio rounded a bend in the road and a Red machinegunner opened fire on them, scattering the jeep with bullets. Sydel was driving.

He slapped the jeep into reverse and tore through rice paddies into a village.

But two other machineguns opened fire. The jeep was hit again and caught fire. So Sydel and his buddies raced into a bamboo grove and threw themselves on the ground with machine bullets ripping overhead.

For six hours they lay there. And then our own planes roared in, straffing the area. The marines could do nothing but lie there and take it.

After six interminable hours, an American tank appeared. They raced out and jumped aboard the tank. Sydel pointed out one machinegun position to the tankmen—but their mission was to evacuate wounded from the battle area and they couldn't stop to engage the enemy.

Later Sydel came back with the tank and pointed out the position but the Red gunners had disappeared into the hills.

Wasco PUD Out To Buy Pacific

The Dalles, Ore., Aug. 12 (AP)—An offer of $1,065,000 was made by the Northern Wasco county peoples utility district yesterday for Pacific Power & Light company properties in Wasco county and some in Sherman county.

Paul McKee, president of PP&L, said in Portland that the company "could hardly discuss terms" until cash is available for the purchase.

W. J. Seufert, president of the PUD board, said the offer was being made before steps were taken to acquire the properties by condemnation.

In a letter to McKee, Seufert said present employees would be retained for a year at current wages under the offer, good for 30 days.

McKee said the PUD would first have to get a bond issue approved and the people would have to decide whether they wanted the PUD to operate the holdings.

Properties include the Tygh Valley hydroelectric generating plant on the White river, substations of Tygh Valley, Dufur and The Dalles and connecting transmission lines, some of them in Sherman county.

Hop Quota Set at 50 Million Pounds

Portland, Aug. 12 (AP)—A Pacific coast hop quota of 50,000,000 pounds was announced yesterday by the department of agriculture.

The figure is 1,000,000 pounds above the recommendation of the industry marketing committee, which had previously rejected a request from growers for an allotment increase.

The allocation is about 85 percent of an estimated 57,775,000 pound crop.

Last year's allotment was 39,000,000 pounds, 77 percent of the growers' output.
