

Barkley Gets Bid to Salem

State Treasurer Walter J. Pearson said today that he has invited Vice President Alben W. Barkley to attend a democratic party rally in Salem October 13.

Pearson, who is a democrat, sent the following telegram to Barkley: "It has come to our attention that you will be in our section of the country in early October. The democrats in Oregon have made wonderful progress in the last two years and while Oregon is still considered to be a republican stronghold, we are all doing everything possible to turn the tide."

"On Friday, October 13, at 8 p.m., there will be a democratic rally held in the armory in Salem, Ore., honoring our democratic nominees for the legislature, the governorship and statewide candidates. We wish to extend to you and to Mrs. Barkley an invitation to be with us at that time. It would be a very great honor to have you as our guests. If you can make this a part of your itinerary please let me know as soon as possible so that we may make the proper arrangements for your visit."

Reception for Stanford Team

A call is going out to all alumni of Stanford university living in this area to attend a reception on October 6 for the Stanford football squad.

Plans are that the reception will be from 5:30 to 6:30 at the Senator hotel. The Stanford team will headquarter in Salem for its game with Oregon State college Saturday, October 7. The team coaches and athletic officials will arrive by United Air Lines in the afternoon of Friday, October 6, in time to work out on the Salem high school gridiron as now arranged.

The reception will follow and the visitors, over 50 in number, will be in Salem overnight, leaving for Corvallis Saturday morning. Whether they will return to Salem to board a plane for the return trip hasn't been decided.

Withholding of Nuts Approved by AAA

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—The agriculture department today tentatively approved a proposal to withhold 25 per cent of the Pacific northwest's walnut crop and 7.5 per cent of its filbert crop from consumer markets to bolster grower prices. The move was proposed by industry control boards which administer federal marketing programs for filberts produced in Oregon and Washington and walnuts produced in California, Oregon and Washington. Final department approval is not expected for about two weeks.

Last year, 30 per cent of the walnuts and 25 per cent of the filberts were ordered withheld from markets. The surplus was diverted to export and oil mills. The government paid growers subsidies to compensate them partly for the lower prices these outlets pay.

989 Students At Willamette

Enrollment at Willamette university is slightly below that of last year, with 989 students registered thus far for fall term, Registrar Harold B. Jory said today.

However, Jory pointed out that more students may sign up before registration officially closes October 2. A breakdown of registrations shows that males outnumber the females by 230—with 295 women and 525 men registered for fall classes. Enrollment in the college of liberal arts, largest "school" on campus, includes 251 freshmen, 218 sophomores, 178 juniors and 140 seniors.

In the college of law, enrollment totals 103. Of that figure, two students are women. There are 41 first year students, 35 second year students and 27 third year law students.

The college of music boasts a registration of 67, with 18 freshmen, 12 sophomores, 17 juniors and 16 seniors. Four special students are taking music courses. Twenty graduate students are on the campus this term as well as 13 special students.

Huggins Heads State Insurance Agents

Portland, Sept. 21 (AP)—Charles H. Huggins, Salem, today was elected president of the Oregon Association of insurance agents. The group opened its annual convention here.

Huggins has been state executive committee chairman. He heads an agency which operates in Salem, Coos Bay, Myrtle Point and Gold Beach.

Opening the two-day session, the delegates were welcomed by Portland's Mayor Dorothy McCullough Lee. A headline speaker was O. Shaw Johnson, Clarksdale, Miss., president of the national association. He said a new type of war damage coverage, federally backed, is being formed. It will be similar to that operated for World War II.

Reject Ban on Economic Aid

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—The house refused today to impose an outright ban on economic aid to nations carrying on military trade relations with Russia or her satellites.

Instead, it approved a provision giving the national security council power to halt aid to any nation whose trade with Russia is found to be "contrary to the security interests of the United States."

The provision approved was backed by President Truman's forces as a substitute for a senate-voted stiff prohibition against U.S. aid to countries which export to Russia "arms or armaments or military material or articles or commodities" that are useful for military purposes. The main difference between the senate provision and the house plan is that the latter gives the security council, of which the president is head, discretion in determining when economic aid should be halted. The senate provision did not allow this leeway.

The senate wrote its plan into a $17,000,000,000 emergency defense appropriation bill and President Truman flatly opposed it. The administration plan was offered by Chairman Cannon (D., Mo.) of the house appropriations committee.

Most republicans favored a less flexible plan.

Fir Lumber Boom Spinning

Portland, Sept. 21 (AP)—The lumber boom is spinning Douglas fir mill production to a new record, perhaps to as much as 10,500,000,000 board feet this year.

H. V. Simpson, executive vice president of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, said today output the first eight months was 8,863,000,000 board feet. This was done despite a freight car shortage that curtailed shipments and shut down some mills of the Pacific northwest, he reported.

Weekly production in August averaged 241,839,000 feet, which was 147.4 per cent of the 1945-49 average. Orders averaged 222,384,000 and shipments 206,958,000.

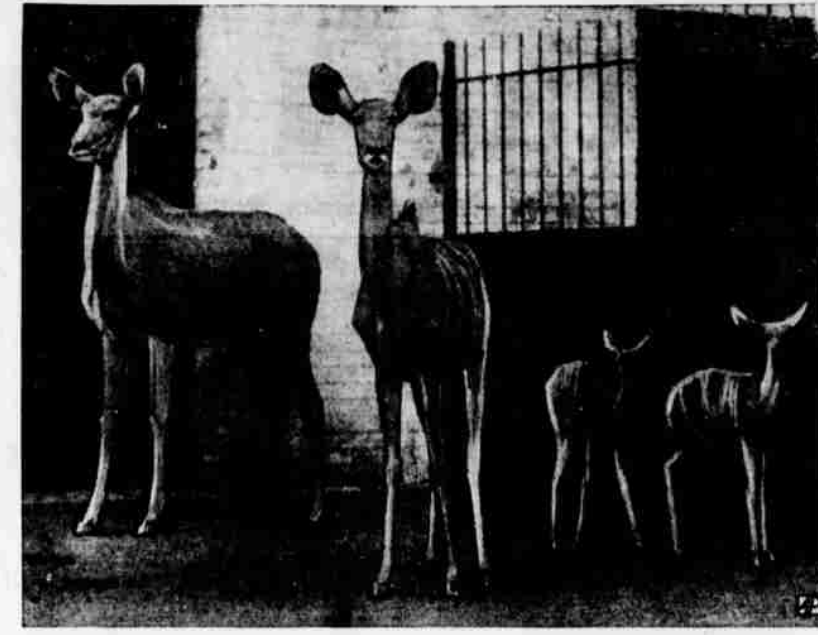

The mills of Washington and Oregon had a backlog of unfilled orders totaling 1,060,231,000 at the end of August, Simpson reported. Gross stocks were 785,533,000 feet at that time.

Earlier yesterday, Simpson said the rail car shortage had cut into production by 60,000,000 feet a week.

John D. George Now Lt. Colonel

Promoted to a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. army, effective September 7, was a former Salem man, John D. George, who prior to World War II was a deputy in the office of the city engineer here.

George, now a regular army man and until recently the army instructor for Oregon National Guard units in Eugene, October 2 is to report to Camp Stoneman for an overseas assignment.

The colonel, who has a ridge in New Guinea named for him, went to the Pacific with the 41st division during the last war. The ridge, which bears the name of George ridge, was given that name after the Oregon officer, then a captain, with 82 men and officers of his company A, 162nd infantry regiment, 41st division, held the ridge three nights astride the Jap line of communications.

George's outfit's fight against great odds became one of the famed exploits of the Salamaua campaign and was credited with helping force the withdrawal of the Nips from all occupied positions south of the ridge. George was awarded the Silver Star Medal.

Following World War II Col. George became a regular army man and served as an instructor for National Guard units. After being in the Silverton area as an instructor, the colonel went to the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. Following this he was assigned to the Eugene duty.

George's outfit's fight against great odds became one of the famed exploits of the Salamaua campaign and was credited with helping force the withdrawal of the Nips from all occupied positions south of the ridge. George was awarded the Silver Star Medal.

Snyder Talks on Game Resources

Chucker partridge and mountain goat may soon be hunted in Oregon, Phil Snyder, assistant director of the Oregon state game commission, told members of the Salem Lions club Thursday noon.

Snyder said that breeding grounds for chucker partridge have been established, and that mountain goats have been released in certain sections of eastern Oregon. When they become abundant, hunting seasons will probably be established for them, Snyder said.

Snyder also told of the work of the game commission's fishery division. He said that all of the state's 16 fish hatcheries are now operating at maximum capacity, and that 18 lakes that had never been stocked before were stocked last year.

Snyder said that an airplane is now being used to plant fish in the high mountain lakes. The use of the airplane cuts the cost of such planting in half, he said.
