Baseball Still Favorite Topic

Although living the life of a country squire on his secluded estate at Atherton, Calif., Ty Cobb (above), 64, still finds baseball his favorite topic and expresses his opinions of present day players. He thinks Ted Williams, star of the Boston Red Sox has "fine ability but he cannot be classed a truly great hitter." His boxer dog "Chud" is his constant companion. (AP Wirephoto)

Ty Cobb Says Williams Isn't a 'Great Hitter'

By RUSS NEWLAND

Atherton, Calif., May 21. (AP)—Ty Cobb, one of the most feared batters in baseball history, says Ted Williams cannot be classed as "great hitter."

The old Georgia Peach, whose flashing performances as a Detroit Tiger wrote vivid chapters in the record books, pulled no punches while discussing the Boston Red Sox slugger.

"Williams has fine ability but he cannot be classed as a great hitter unless he can hit to all fields."

Conceding the Red Sox star has the power to lose a ball if he connects solidly, he contended that alone does not make a top batsman. He reminded that big Ted smashes ball so consistently to right field that opposing teams shift their outfielders and second basemen far over with impunity.

"In my book you have to be able to hit them to all fields," he said.

Williams' slugging has been compared favorably to that of the late Babe Ruth. Cobb said the Bambino rightfully deserves recognition as one of the great hitters.

Of the famed New York Yankees powerhouse, whose home run feats will live forever, Cobb said simply:

"Ruth could choke up his bat and hit to left field any time he wanted. He had everything necessary to earn his place among the baseball immortals."

Ruth was Cobb's keenest rival, particularly when Ruth was sold to the Yankees in 1919 and started clouting his way into the headlines. Cobb already was an established batting, base-stealing and outfielding star with the Tigers when the Babe reported as a rookie to the Red Sox in 1914.

Others Cobb thinks belong in the category of "great hitters" include Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler and Joe DiMaggio.

Sacs Supplant Beavers Atop PCL After Weekend

By PAUL CANE
(United Press Sports Writer)

San Francisco, May 21 (U.P.)—As the army recruit wrote home to his college chums, "Gee, a lot sure can happen on a week end."

Such was the case in the Pacific Coast league as the eight teams entered their ninth week of competition. Just look at the delightful details demonstrated during yesterday's ball games.

Sacramento, a team so weak even Wheaties wouldn't help last year, assumed two-game command of the circuit with slim 4 to 3 and 2 to 1 victories over Hollywood. Terrific Joe Gordon, the Sacs' playing manager, was the difference between the teams.

Portland, an early pace-setter and tied for the lead yesterday morning, is now knotted with Oakland for second place. The Oaks twin-whipped Portland, 6 to 3 and 8 to 6, to go into a tie for second.

Hilarity almost ran rampant at San Diego. Grumpy Guy Fletcher, who wears glasses and is kind of soft around the middle, pitched the Padres to a 6 to 2 victory over San Francisco. Fletch was traded by the Seals earlier this month and had San Diego fans laughing uproariously as the aged righthander posted his first win of the season.

San Francisco won the second tilt, 4 to 3, but not before an extremely embarrassing situation developed. Another ex-Seal, Jack Graham, poled a three-run homer to get the Pads a 3 to 2 lead in the game. Just when it seemed two ex-Seals would paste their former employers with a double licking, San Francisco's Eddie Lake hit a homers and Joe Grace singled home Jim Brideweser with the tie-breaker. Brideweser, a Yankee optionee, had four hits.

Seattle and Los Angeles split, the Suds winning, 13 to 7 and then losing 9 to 4.

Lloyd Christopher, Oakland's big hitter with a bad knee, drove out a home run in the last frame of the second game to carry the defending champions home. Christopher's clout was good for two runs and highlighted a five-run rally.

Bill Ayers, another Oak cripple, made his first start in about three weeks in the opener and had Portland shut out until the ninth.

The twin divide at Los Angeles was saturated with safe hits. Seattle ripped through the Angels in the opener on home runs by Walter Judnich and Jackie Albright. The Angels had two circuit clouts of their own, Les Layton and Pitcher Bill Moisan getting them, but they could not cope with Seattle's big six-run inning.

In the second affair, Les Peden and Chuck Connors poled home runs to direct the Los Angeles victory offensive.

Manager Gordon, top homer hitter in the PCL with 17, and Leo Righetti accounted for Sacramento's abbreviated first tilt decision with two-run four-base hits. Murray Franklin hit one for Hollywood but his blow couldn't match the Solons' copyrighted homer technique.

In the second tilt, Rookie Walter Clough, a kid from the California league, got his fifth triumph of the year. He was matched against a tough cookie, Long John Lindell, and came through on a two-run Solon rally in the eighth. Orval Grove pitched the final frame for Clough and protected the youngster's lead.

Boss Gordon, probably the best ball player in the league, pummeled the Stars to defeat in the series. He doubled off the wall in Saturday's game to win for the Solons; his homer in the first tilt won for his boys yesterday and his single in the eighth batted home the Sacs' only two second-game runs.

Phils Bust Slump With 35-Hit Spree On Sunday

By CARL LUNDQUIST
(United Press Sports Writer)

New York, May 21 (U.P.)—Richie Ashburn, strictly a "single hitter," has to take a lot of kidding and pay off a lot of cokes as his mates bet for distance in pre-game batting practice—but the blonde little speedster looked today like the guy to lead the Phillies out of the wilderness.

They were getting into it pretty deep, too . . . those proud National league champs who had tumbled into eighth place in the mad current scramble, through it all Ashburna, with his one-base blows and a rare double or triple, was the only consistent hitter on the club.

Yesterday everybody finally broke loose in a 35-hit spree as the Phillies drubbed the Pirates, 17 to 0 and 12 to 4, at Pittsburgh before 36,166 fans, the largest crowd there since 1942. And Ashburn set the pace all the way with eight hits all singles, to be sure—reaching base 10 times out of 11 and eight times in a row.

What was even more encouraging in the opener was the pitching of Russ Meyer, who turned in a five-hit shutout, his first blanking since Sept. 28, 1949.

It was the second biggest shutout in National league history, the worst since 1906 when the Giants won 19 to 0, from the Cubs. Robin Roberts also had no trouble winning his fourth game in the nightcap. The Phillies got eight walks in the opener in which Mike Goliat homered. Eddie Pellagrini, Andy Seminick, and Del Ennis hit second game Philly homers.

Brooklyn stayed on top and sent Cincinnati into last place by defeating the Reds, 10 to 3 and 14 to 4. The Cubs remained a game behind in second by winning two squeakers from the Braves, 4 to 3 and 5 to 4.

St. Louis topped New York 8 to 7.

In the American league, the Yankees beat St. Louis 7 to 3, Chicago topped Washington, 5 to 4, Detroit won from Boston, 8 to 4, and the Indians ended a six game losing streak by edging Philadelphia, 5 to 3, after losing, 2 to 1.

Homers by Jackie Robinson and Cal Abrams accounted for five runs and ended Ace Ewel Blackwell's five-game winning streak in Cincinnati. Carl Erskine pitched five scoreless relief innings to win his second game. Clyde King, given a 14 to 0 margin in seven innings, found life beautiful in the second game as Abrams set the 15-hit pace with three singles and every Dodger starter got at least one hit. Ted Kluszewski and Ted Stallcup homered for the Reds.

Dutch Leonard, at 41 the oldest pitcher in the majors, had a lovely day in Chicago—he was credited with both victories in relief roles. Late rallies beat the Braves both times. The Cubs made two runs off Johnny Sain in the eighth of the opener on singles by Bob Ramazzotti and Mickey Owen. They put across the tying and dwinning runs in the ninth in the second game off reliever Vern Bickford on singles by Bob Borkowski and Ransom Jackson. Bob Elliott, Roy Hartsfield, and Sid Gordon hit Boston homers for the day.

Led by Red Schoendienst, who drove in four runs with a triple and two singles, and by Stan Musial, who singled home the winning run in a five-run eighth, the Cardinals edged the Giants in a wild game. New York used 18 players and St. Louis 16.

Lefty Ed Lopat became the first pitcher in the majors to win seven games, beating the Browns on an eight-hitter. He also hit his third homer. He has pitched seven complete games, won them all, and now has an earned run average of 1.29. Joe Dimaggio hit a two-run Yankee homer. The second game was rained at. . . .

Eddie Robinson had a big day before his old mates in Washington, hitting a homer, double, and single, and driving in three runs as the White Sox stayed two games behind the Yankees with their fourth straight win and their 10th in the last 12. Ken Holcombe won his third victory—a six hiter.

Detroit utilized homers by Hoot Evers and Steve Souchock for early strength and cashed in on the wildness of Pitcher Ray Scarborough for three more runs in the eighth as Hal Newhouser won his fourth game at Boston. Scarborough walked four batters to force in a run and Evers singled in two more in the big eighth.

Dick Fowler pitched a three-hit vitcory for the A's in which he yielded no earned runs, but Cleveland came back to end a six-game losing streak and take the second game, 5 to 3 with a two-run rally in the eighth that gave relief pitcher Mike Garcia his third win.

Hope Is Ousted From British Amateur Golf

Porthcawl, Wales, May 21 (AP)—Bob Hope, the Hollywood comedian, fell a first round victim of Christopher Fox, a tall, pipe-smoking Englishman in the British amateur golf championships today, but he gave his gallery of about 1,000 a good time while it lasted. He lost 2 and 1.

Bob visited about half the traps on the course, scrambling from one side of the fairway to the other.

"A great game, isn't it?" he asked a spectator at the fifth hole.

"Yes," was the prompt reply, "What game are you playing?"

Hope's first tee shot trickled about 100 yards into the rough. Hope thus lasted just as long in the tournament as his pipe-smoking pal, Bing Crosby, did a year ago.

Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., Walker cup star, scored the first American victory when he easily defeated Peter Rebagliati, a Birmingham businessman, 7 and 6.

Salemite Leads Delake Tourney Singles Bowlers

Everett Clark of Salem is holding down first place in singles competition of the gigantic all-coast bowling handicap tournament at Delake. He leads a field of several hundred bowlers. Clark's handicapped score is 694.

A Salem woman, Kay Krejci, ranks fourth in female kegling standings with 590.

Howard Wicklund's Sporting goods of Salem is resting in third place in the team event with 2972.

Several teams from Salem rolled in the all-coast event Saturday. Many of the team members stayed over for singles and doubles firing the next day.

Bowling in the turnament will continue in a lesser light during the week, and another full weekend of action is on tap beginning Friday night.

Cougars Win 3rd Title in 4 Years

Pullman, March 21 (AP)—Washington State college stashed away its third northern division track championship in four years Saturday.

The Cougars, with 50½ points, were well ahead of Oregon, which won last year. The Ducks placed second with 34 points.

Bunched closely together behind Oregon were Washington with 28, Idaho with 27 and Oregon State with 25½.

The WSC Cougars won six first places—the mile, shotput, high jump, 88-yard run, broad jump and mile relay.

Washington's Pete Steward ran the 120-yard high hurdles in :14.5, two-tenths of a second short of the record set in 1950 by ack Burke of Washington.

Gordie Farrar, Washington State student from Bremerton, missed by ⅝ of an inch the record of the broad jump set in 1938 by Panton of Washington. Farrar leaped 24 feet, two inches.

Merv Brock, Oregon State, was the only double winner of the meet, taking first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Oregon's Dennis Sullivan scored an upset in the 220-yard low hurdles by beating Washington's ack Donaldson and Pete Steward with a time of :23.8.

Idaho and Oregon State each took three first places, Oregon took two and Washington one.
