

Caution on Price Quoting In Sawlog Market Shown

Corvallis, May 21 (AP)—A little caution on price quoting was noted in the Willamette valley sawlog market last week, the Oregon State college extension service reported today.

In the first of a planned series of weekly farm forest market reports, based on data from state farm foresters and other sources the extension service pointed out that recent lumber price declines had resulted in unsettled conditions.

The report in detail:

Douglas fir—Willamette valley mills were paying from $35 to $44 a thousand board feet camp run for second growth saw logs. Offers were mostly around $40 with premiums paid for large logs and discounts for small logs. Eight foot logs down to 6-inch tops brought $15 to $18 a cord or $35 to $40 a thousand in the central and southern part of the valley. In some localities demand exceeded the supply. Old growth saw logs remained steady at prices ranging from $36 to $58 a thousand, depending on grade. Peeler logs were also steady at from $70 to $110 a thousand.

Prior to the drop in lumber prices, second growth stumpage prices were mostly $8 to $16 a thousand, depending on location, quality, volume and other conditions. The decline in lumber prices has had little effect on stumpage, but loggers are being more careful on naming prices.

Pulpwood—The pulpwood market was steady with demand generally very good. Delivered prices were $20 a cord for peeled spruce and $19 for peeled

Douglas fir, noble fir, white fir, and hemlock down to 4-inch diameter in 4-foot lengths. Unpeeled, these woods down to 6-inch diameter in 8-foot lengths were quoted at $17 a cord. Hemlock and spruce logs brought from $35 to $44 a thousand in the central valley. Cottonwood ranged from $18 a cord in the northern valley to $14 in the southern valley. Alder was in limited demand at $17 a cord.

Poles and piling—Douglas fir poles, both peeled and "barkies" were in generally good demand. Barkie poles ranged from 9 cents to 30 cents per linear foot for poles from 20 to 75 feet long. Peeled poles brought from 12 cents to 36 cents a foot for lengths from 30 to 80 feet in the southern valley. Northern valley prices for peeled poles were 36 cents a linear foot for 55-foot poles and 40 cents for 60 to 70-foot poles, minimum top diameter 8 inches. Sales of piling were insufficient to report prices.

Hardwood logs—Alder ash and maple brought $35 to $40 a thousand board feet in the central and southern valley. Demand was generally good, although outlets are few. Cottonwood ranged from $22 to $25 a thousand, with a very good seasonal demand for 54-inch split and peeled cordwood for excellent at $4 a cord, delivered. One mill in the Eugene area bought Chinquapin at $37.50 a thousand.

Other forest products—One mill in the southern valley was paying $27 a thousand for pine logs. There is a standing offer of $20 a ton for Douglas fir bark up to 1 1/4 inches thick at one tannery in the central valley. Cascara was reported at 10 cents a pound green and 25 cents dry at dealers, and 27 cents dry delivered to plants. Sword fern was 19 cents a bunch of 52 fronds.

Suction Pulls Air Force Pilot to Death

Westover Airforce Base, Mass., May 21 (AP)—An airforce pilot was killed yesterday when the powerful suction of a jet plane air scoop pulled him into the mechanism.

Dead was Lt. Thomas A. Kirkes, 26, of Lawton, Okla. An airforce spokesman said Kirkes had walked in front of an F-86 fighter plane. The accident happened shortly before thousands gathered at the field to watch an Armed Forces day air show.

Band Uniforms Arrive—Independence—Uniforms for Central high school's band arrived Wednesday morning. A parade by the band in both Independence and Monmouth had been planned for Tuesday, but Director Paul Dodd announced that for unavoidable reasons it had been postponed, and probably would be held some day next week.

Churches Hear Dr. Giersbach

By joining hands and working together the kingdom of God can be brought about in our time, declared Dr. Walter Giersbach, president of Pacific university, as he spoke before representatives of a dozen or more Salem churches at the First Christian church Sunday night.

The union service was conducted under the sponsorship of the Salem Council of Churches with Dr. Victor H. Sword as president. Other participating ministers were Rev. Dudley Strain, pastor of the host church; Rev. Brooks Moore, pastor of the First Methodist church and Rev. Louis White, of the Knight Memorial Congregational church. Mayor Al Loucks presided. Dr. Giersbach points out that trenches are man made while truth, love and faith are God-made and can span all differences. The common law of the New Testament, the common language, love and the common head, Christ, can combine to bring peace, he asserted.

Gen. Stratemyer Ill

Tokyo, May 21 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway was the only visitor permitted to see Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemyer, Far East air forces commander, in an air force hospital today. Stratemyer suffered a heart attack while playing golf Sunday. Doctors said he was resting quietly Monday.

OCE Summer School Plans Broad Program

Monmouth—A complete and interesting program for summer school will be available in the OCE campus elementary school, according to Dr. Elmer Ensz, principal.

The six-week session, which will begin Monday, June 25, and continue through August 3, will offer learning experiences in nursery school, kindergarten, primary, intermediate and upper grades.

Early enrollment is urged, as it may be necessary to limit the size of the nursery and kindergarten groups and some other classes, as well. A tuition fee of $5, payable to the college business office upon enrollment, is charged for the nursery school and the kindergarten. There is no charge for the other grades. Children must be four years old by November 15, 1951, to be acceptable for nursery school, and five years old by the same date for kindergarten. Children who are slightly younger will be placed on a waiting list for future admission in case enrollment permits.

12 4-H Scholarships To Be Given at Keizer

Keizer—Twelve scholarships to the annual 4-H Summer school held on the Oregon State campus are available to Keizer members through the courtesy of local organizations and business firms. Announcements of winners will be made after the Marion county committee goes through the applications, May 24. Eleven of the scholarships are for one-half of the expenses while one is for all expenses. The full scholarship is donated by the Keizer business men. Of the one-half scholarships, six are given by the PTA, two by the Continental Chemical company, two by the Keizer Grange and one by the Keizer Women's Sewing club.

Prof. Armand E. Singer of West Virginia university has made an acceptable dentifrice from an old Roman recipe using barley, flour, vinegar mixed with honey, salt and spikenard root.
