

Coast Highway Protest Curves

Grants Pass, June 21 (AP)—The state highway commission, touring the state to determine where to spend its bond money, now knows what residents along the coast highway (U.S. 101) want. "Straighten out the curves," the commission was told.

Commissioners heard it from residents at Astoria, and every city south of there as they traveled the length of the Oregon shoreline.

The commissioners, who came to Grants Pass yesterday, indicated they would allocate some money for curve-straightening projects on the route.

Here the commission will inspect southern Oregon roads, moving on for additional conferences with Medford and Ashland residents. Then the commission will go north, reaching Eugene today. A tour of eastern Oregon is planned later.

The commission indicated highway bond money in the next year will be used mostly for the stretches of highway with the heaviest use—the coast and Pacific highways, the Columbia river highway and the Dalles-California route.

Picks Cold War Strategy Board

Washington, June 21 (AP)—President Truman today had created a cold war strategy board and named Gordon Gray its director at $18,000 a year.

The president said the purpose of the new organization will be to provide "for the more effective planning, coordination and conduct, within the framework of approved national policies, of psychological operations."

Other members will be James S. Webb, undersecretary of state; Robert A. Lovett, deputy secretary of defense, and Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, director of central intelligence.

Gray has obtained a leave of absence as president of the University of North Carolina to take the job. He will return to his university duties periodically, but the White House said he will give the time needed to the government job.

The board itself designated Gen. Smith as acting chairman.

Quadruplets Born; One of Girls Dies

Bayonne, N.J., June 21 (AP)—Quadruplets, three girls and one boy, were born yesterday to Mrs. Irving Kronenberg, wife of a general store owner, at Bayonne hospital, but one of the babies died at birth.

The mother and the other three infants—two girls and the boy—were reported in good condition. The babies were placed in incubators.

The Kronenbergs have one other child, Martin 6.
