Donald Stahell, Hurricane, Utah, was elected president.

Sale of Ayrshire cattle at the show established an average of $450.52. Top price was $1150 for a cow bought by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Miller, Sebastopol, Calif., from L. W. Gardner, Coquille.

Joseph Wekerle, Woodburn, sold one Ayrshire cow for $600. The dog show took precedence at the exposition Friday with judging of other animals nearly finished.

Hopewell

World Communion service was observed at the Hopewell EUB church with a good attendance.

The Woman's Society of World Service of the Hopewell church will hold its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Marvel Brown Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The topic is, "Why Missions Today?" Mrs. N. O. Pearson is the leader and Mrs. H. E. Widmer the assistant hostess.

Ross Rogers and William J. Marley arrived home Monday from Ochoco mountain with a fine buck each. They were gone a week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Geisler arrived home from their vacation at Mt. Vernon, Ore., with his mother and other relatives, and brought home a buck.

Leonard Hickerson was another of the lucky ones, but the group of Wheatland district men were not so fortunate.

Lloyd Luckenbill and Albert Fleming are hunting this week.

Dorothy Brown, a student at Oregon College of Education at Monmouth, spent the week-end with her family here.

Mrs. Gertrude Dryden of Dayton visited Mrs. Ross Rogers while Mr. Rogers was away last week, and fell down the stairs Wednesday night. She broke a vertebrae and is in general hospital in McMinnville. Mrs. Dryden lived in Wheatland for many years.

Mrs. Arla Hagstrom of Portland was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beatty, and attended the funerals of Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Sifton. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilchrist were also guests at the Beatty home this week-end.

Mrs. Hagstrom returned to Portland with them.

Mrs. Ed Loop was seriously ill with flu this week and Mrs. Guy Freshour of Pleasantdale district has been caring for her mother. Mrs. Loop is now able to be up part of the day in a chair. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Loop of Toledo were callers Sunday afternoon.

The Hopewell school and the Lincoln school have a baseball game planned for this Friday afternoon.

VAL Dayton Sig

The Dayton Reading club met for its first fall meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. French. Mrs. Faith Watts, the new president, presided. Other officers are Mrs. Harry Sherman, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Graham, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Bill Belts was elected to become a new member.

The topic for the day was "Reading Club Reminiscences" with Mrs. O. C. Goodrich as leader. She was able to secure Mrs. Martin Miller, Portland, an ex-resident of this vicinity, who is the only living charter member of the club. The Pleasant Hour Reading club was organized in 1905 by a group of five ladies, with the object to be the "advancement of the educational and industrial interest of the ladies of Dayton and vicinity."

The five ladies were Mrs. Ella Harris, Mrs. Mary Gilkey, Mrs. Ben Swick, Mrs. O. B. Rippey (all deceased), and Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Miller told of the early life of the club. The club has held its membership to 25, because of accommodation in the homes where they meet. When there is a vacancy, a new member is invited to join by a member in rotation.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Miller came to Dayton in 1895, and purchased a farm home in the Unity district on Red Hill. They donated the several springs back of the Winnie McDougal farm that feeds water to Dayton for these many years. The fountain in the city park was built by the Civic club and dedicated to the memory of Martin Miller. They moved to McMinnville in 1908. Her son, Frederick Miller, lives in Portland, where she makes her home.

Mrs. Miller was presented a gift from the club. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earle Coburn, Oct. 19.

A chain of towns in the Ruhr valley of Germany is called the "Wuppertal" (witches' valley) because of the eerie glare of its steel mills.

Rodney Nyleen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nyleen, is home on leave from the navy, having finished boot training in Illinois. He will return Oct. 15 to receive an assignment.

Hubbard Hosts County Firemen

Hubbard — The Volunteer Firemen of Hubbard were hosts Wednesday evening to the Marion County Firemen's association. A majority of the fire departments in the county were represented at the meeting.

William Robie, chief of the Salem fire department and chairman of the Mutual Aid program gave a report on the Mutual Aid Move-up Plan which was put into practice the first time during the recent forest fire crisis when Gates called for assistance.

Participants in the move-up plan involved were Gates, Mill City, Stayton, Aumsville, and Salem. Gates, whose fire department was not signed up for the mutual-aid plan was the first to call for help and Idanha, also not signed up, benefited by the same call. The plan worked smoothly and without a hitch, according to Chief Robie.

During the program for the evening, Fire Chief Clarence Friend of the local department presented honorary badges to Levi Miller, George Grims and Forrest Loop and presented 25-year badges to Hugh Wells and Ed Erickson. Junior and George Parsons provided music for the program.

Refreshments were served by the local department under direction of Ben Miller and Veri Cochran.

Screen Star Greets Father in Salem—Heading a group of Hollywood actors and writers in Salem today was Victor Jory, who lived here until he was 10 years old and attended Rosedale school. The camera caught the star and his father, Ed A. Jory of Salem, greeting each other at the Senator hotel.

Hollywood Group Here For Movietime, Oregon

Salem's observance of Movietime, USA, 50th anniversary of the coming of motion pictures, began Friday when the city and the state welcomed a group of stars from Hollywood.

In the group, which the public was invited to meet at a noon reception at the Elsinore theater through the courtesy of Manager Wally Cowen, were:

Victor Jory, veteran stage and screen star who spent his boyhood in Salem, and who introduced other members of the party; Colleen Miller, young starlet who claims Portland as her home; Linda Douglas, also a Portland girl who was a princess at the Rose festival in 1947, and who later was spotted by a talent scout as she sat in a hotel lobby in Phoenix, Ariz.; and Joseph Calleja, whom Victor Jory said had, he believed, registered more smash hits on Broadway than any other actor alive. These were the actors who came to Salem.

But also there were Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, husband and wife, who Jory introduced as "one of the finest teams of screen writers in America today."

All the stars, starlets and writers talked intimately and briefly to the audience who greeted them.

The visiting playfolk were first welcomed for the state by Governor Douglas McKay and for the city by Mayor Al Loucks.

Dave Hoss acted as master of ceremonies.

They arrived in town just after 11 o'clock, were met at the Senator hotel by Manager Cowen, newspapermen, and photographers.

From the hotel they were taken to the State House to meet Governor McKay and other officials. The public reception hour at the theater was at noon.

Later the screenfolk were luncheon guests of officials and local theater people at the Senator.
