Needy Folk Get Dinners For Holiday

Generosity of several Salem groups is making it possible for 31 needy families in this area to have Thanksgiving dinners.

Marion Bowen, who heads the Marion county welfare office, Wednesday stated that seven different groups and students from Parrish junior high school had contributed enough food to care for a total of 52 adults and 172 children and expressed her thanks to the donors.

The seven groups furnished complete Thanksgiving dinners for seven families, which included 11 adults and 45 children.

These groups were the Brownie group under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur Lee; the Ann Guthrie Tri-Y group; Willamette University chapter of Chi Omega sorority; B'nai B'rith; Freeman Phipps Sunday school class of the Jason Lee Methodist church; Wesley Fellowship of the First Methodist church and the ninth grade Y-Teen at Parrish junior high school.

Students at Parrish Junior high school contributed between 1,300 and $1,500 pounds of food, most of it canned, which will be used for 24 families. The families include 41 adults and 127 children.

Welfare office employees Tuesday and Wednesday distributed the food to the needy families.

Coat Stolen—A Salem police report Wednesday listed Jack Larsen, 695 Court street, as having had his coat stolen from a downtown establishment.

Republicans Accept Challenge by Truman

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—Republicans today accepted President Truman's challenge to make his foreign policy a 1952 campaign issue and hurled back his charges of "smear" and "slush funds."

Mr. Truman issued the challenge in a fighting speech last night in which he lashed out at what he called the money-laden "special interests" and "backward-looking old guard" of the GOP.

He made a special trip from his Key West, Fla., vacation retreat to address the National Women's Democratic club, and delivered one of his sharpest political speeches in recent months.

The president planned to take off on the return flight to Key West at 10 a. m. EST today. In his speech, Mr. Truman said the republicans will be playing with "dynamite" if they make foreign policy an issue in next year's election campaign. He said he didn't want it to be an issue but if it is, it will be "the best issue the democratic party has," and the GOP will be defeated "overwhelmingly."

Regardless of the issues, the president said, he expects republicans to wage a campaign of "lies and smears" and "character assassination" financed by "enormous slush funds."

Mr. Truman promised that the democrats will win with a campaign of "truth and facts" because that's what the people want and "we proved it conclusively in 1948."

Although he departed from his text to inject the reference to his 1948 victory, he said he is not ready yet to disclose whether he will be a candidate again in 1952.

Republican reaction to the president's speech was swift and vigorous. At United Nations in Paris

At Paris, the United Nations is trying amid pessimism to find a political meeting ground between the west and the east on disarmament.

At home President and Mrs. Truman left Washington today for Thanksgiving at Key West, Fla. With them were Chief Justice and Mrs. Vinson and several White House officials.

The weather bureau reported warmer temperatures for the eastern half of the country, with cold and snow for many western areas.

Three European war orphans, treated to a Thanksgiving dinner in Hollywood, were served first with traditional black bread soup. It was symbolic, and no one ate it.

At Monday night's meeting of Portland central labor council, striking building service employees asked for help. Jack Schlaicht, teamster secretary, suggested a deadline be set after which if no settlement were reached all union workers leave the hospital.

Teamsters have been delivering supplies to the curb and hospital workers have been picking them up there. Under Schlaicht's proposal, those deliveries would end.

Any plans drafted Wednesday will be put before the labor council next Monday for approval, before being put into effect.

At Panmunjon Nucleos said there were traces of fundamental differences between the allied and Red proposals. He said the communist plan contained "rather ambiguous and vague phraseology." But at a later briefing for the press in Munsan he said: "I am more optimistic than I have been for some time past."

"The basic point at issue is when the buffer zone will be cleared of troops."

Under questioning by Hodes, Song Cho said "the troops will be withdrawn after the agreement is signed."

He did not say whether he referred to the cease-fire line proposal now before the subcommittees or to the final armistice agreement. And U. N. delegates did not ask. They are expected to clarify this Thursday.

Both sides agree fighting will continue until a final armistice is reached. But to insure this, the U. N. command wants the agreement to say specifically troops will not be withdrawn from the proposed demilitarized area until all truce terms are settled.

Pair Halted By Gunfire

A couple of gunshots from state police officers late Tuesday stopped two fleeing convicts from the state penitentiary.

Dean Funk, 20, and Gerry Hempel, 24, trustees, and members of a work gang outside the prison, quietly dropped off a truck while it was returning the crew to the prison about 4:30 o'clock.

Less than an hour later they were seen going across a field in the vicinity of the airport. The sound of gunfire made them stop.

Funk was received from Wasco county to do 18 months for assault and robbery, not armed with a dangerous weapon, and was due for release next April.

Hempel was received from Lane county on a five-year rap for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was scheduled to go before the parole board in two months and his release date would be in May, 1953.

Thanksgiving

He thanked "Almighty God for the bounty He has provided" and added in a statement: "We thank Him also for the opportunity given us of meeting again, as men, the challenge of barbarism once before overcome by the Pilgrim settlers of Massachusetts."

The field commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, told his troops:

"As a freedom-loving people we give thanks for the early warning the communist gave us regarding his aggressive intentions. And we say a prayer of thanks for the men who gallantly laid down their lives that we might live to further resist the enemy and ultimately eliminate his threat."

At almost the other end of the world, international military and political leaders are meeting in an effort to speed the buildup of European strength. To a point where they say it may prevent a Russian attack.

In Rome, top American and European military officials are seeking the practical military power which they consider Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's international army needs.

Reds Proposal

At the close of the session Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, heading the U. N. subcommittee, told the Red delegates "We will present you with the necessary revisions to clear up this proposal" at Thursday's meeting. It is set for 11 a. m. (9 p. m., Wednesday, EST).

Under questioning by Hodes, Song Cho said "the troops will be withdrawn after the agreement is signed."

Legal Research Bureau Is Initiated at Law School Here

States who offer a similar service. The organization's aid will be free to practicing lawyers, who by reason of limited library facilities, are not equipped to obtain authorities on questions of law. Each question which is submitted to the Willamette law college will be assigned to a student who will prepare a memorandum of authorities.

The service, a student enterprise, will be available to Oregon lawyers from September 15 to May 15.

This is the third service which Willamette law students make in cooperation with the Marion County Bar association, the law college operates a Legal Aid Clinic providing legal advice and assistance to persons financially unable to afford counsel.

The Willamette series of legal handbooks, which gives instruction to juries, is published by upperclassmen of the law school for the use of Oregon lawyers.

"It is our belief," said Seward Reese, dean of Willamette's law college, "that in every way possible, the College of Law should render service to the practicing lawyer where it is consistent with the main aims of legal education."

Some 69 students at Hillcrest school, put in the mood for Thanksgiving day with a play and dance Tuesday night, will dig into 141 pounds of turkey.

Their menu includes gravy dressing, creamed onions, green beans, mashed potatoes, hot rolls, butter, jam, fruit salad, olives, pickles, cranberry sauce, pumpkin or mince pie and milk.

At the tuberculosis hospital, special festive trays have been planned for the 200 patients. The menu, listing 360 pounds of turkey, includes dressing, gravy, sweet and white potatoes, peas, relishes, cranberries, pumpkin or mince pie and in addition to the specially decorated trays, the patients will be permitted a coffee and cream treat with their dinner.

Most of the students at the schools for the deaf and blind will be with their families for the holiday. But 75 pounds of turkey will be prepared at the deaf school and 50 pounds of turkey at the blind school.

Both schools will have a complete menu for the youngsters who remain at the institutions.

Turkeys are birds that don't fly, but they're fine for roasting.

Bar Exams to Be Discussed Today
The state supreme court was to meet this afternoon (4 p. m.) with the state board of bar examiners to discuss why graduates of eastern law schools don't have good luck in passing the state bar examinations.

The court announced it would investigate the matter after figures showed that 78 per cent of the graduates of Oregon law schools passed the last examinations, compared with only 38 per cent for the graduates of eastern law schools.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our thanks to friends and neighbors for their kind acts of sympathy. These kindnesses have meant much to us.
