Woodburn Will Vote On Lights for Athletic Field

Woodburn — An ordinance was adopted by the city council at a special meeting last week to submit to Woodburn voters at the primary election May 18 a proposal for the lighting of the city-owned baseball park here for night football, baseball and other sports, financed by a proposed bond issue not to exceed $10,000.

Financing of the project was designed so that no additional taxes will be required, retirement of the bond issue to be made from funds in the annual recreation and park levy.

The vote was called by the council following action the previous evening by the Woodburn school board favoring the use by the high school teams of the lighted athletic field, if installed by the city, on the rental basis or a mutually acceptable agreement for a period of five years.

A report by the board committee revealed that a fenced and lighted field and bleachers at the new high school would cost between $25,000 and $30,000. These figures, coupled with the fact that the district still had $325,000 outstanding in building bonds, brought the board to the belief that such a project could not be financed by the district for several years.

The lighting plan for the city baseball park is based on results of investigations by a Jaycee-Firemen-Legion committee, indicating that the program could be carried out for not more than $10,000. It would provide 120 floodlights on eight poles for the field and two dressing rooms with showers, heat and sanitary facilities under the present grandstand.

The baseball diamond would remain in the present location, while the football field would be laid out diagonally across the fenced area. The necessary poles are to be provided by the Jaycees and a large amount of volunteer labor will be required to keep within the estimate.

The present city-owned baseball field has a fence and a grandstand provided through efforts of local organizations and individuals and is valued at approximately $12,000.

The charter amendment to be submitted for approval at the primary election authorizes the council to issue bonds or other evidences of indebtedness up to $10,000 for lighting the field and providing dressing rooms. The indebtedness is to be repaid from the recreation and park board levy and the council is authorized to include in the board's annual budget an amount sufficient to pay principal and interest.

The recreation and park board budget amounts to approximately this same figure, other activities and projects being curtailed if necessary to meet the lighting payments without increasing taxes. Any rentals received for use of the field would go to the board to offset the amounts taken out for lighting the field.

Present plans call for leasing the field to the Woodburn school district on either a percentage or flat rental from early September until the end of May. The field would be under the school board's control during that time. The balance of the year control would revert to the recreation and park board to make the field available for Junior Legion baseball town teams or other summer sport events.

At the regular council meeting Tuesday night an agreement with the state highway commission was approved permitting the city to cut the Pacific highway to lay a larger water main into the area east of the highway. Repair of the highway will cost the city $80.

Adrain Schooler, water superintendent, was authorized to draw up plans and specifications for the proposed new city well and to call bids for the drilling. He announced that the site for the well has been tentatively set for the triangle bounded by Settlemier, West Hayes and Bottle avenues, the location subject to approval by the state health department.
