

Local Paragraphs

To Change Street Names—On account of confusion with other names the city planning and zoning commission has before it the matter of changing the names of eight streets. The names recommended will be passed on by the city council. The streets involved are Summit drive, at the west end of Madrona avenue; Georgia avenue, near Pringle road; George street, near Wainwright road; Indiana street, near Pringle road; Albert road, near Silverton road; Carolina street, near Bolton boulevard; Hayesville drive, west of Portland road; and Himes street, in west Salem.

County Boundary Board—The Marion county school boundary board Friday morning approved the transfer of a tract of 27 acres of land from the Central Howell to the Salem school district. There was no opposition from either district. A petition asking for the change was presented by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Austin who have a child attending school in Salem.

Church Extension—Articles of incorporation for the Church Extension Plan have been filed with the Marion county court by Atwood Foster, Salem; N. D. Davidson, Portland and Lester C. Young, Brooks. Purpose of the corporation is to assist churches in the financing of improvements and expansion of building facilities. Directors are to be named by the Assemblies of God church.

Road Contract Awarded—The state highway commission said today it has awarded a Washington county job to Donald M. Drake Co. of Portland on low bid of $164,320. The federal aid project involves construction of two 260-foot bridges over the Tualatin river on the west Portland-Hubbard highway. That route eventually will be a four-lane highway from Portland, Oregon's capital.

Log Structures—George Turner, C. W. Wright and H. C. Jensen Friday filed articles of incorporation with the Marion county clerk of Log Structures, Inc. Principal place of business is Aumsville and capital stock is fixed at $12,000.

Pang Retires—Notice that Lee Pang has withdrawn from the American Shanghai cafe has been filed with the county clerk.

Soap Box Derby Site Picked in Bush's Pasture

By RON GEMMELL
This Soap Box Derby REALLY got rolling Thursday night!

In fact, it looks like it is going to roll right into Bush's Pasture Park.

The site chosen, running north and south about 50 west west of the Willamette university grandstand, was endorsed as a community project by:

Governor Douglas McKay, who addressed the large turnout of men, women and boy Derby enthusiasts who invaded the Douglas McKay Chevrolet company for the session;

City Manager J. L. Franzen, who presented a map-profile of the proposed year-around playground site and who is desirous of building the Salem runway to the exact specifications of that used in the All-American Derby at Akron, Ohio;

Harold Davis, city engineer, whose office staff has been of extreme assistance in preparing the profile and doing the necessary surveying;

Ed Rogers, county commissioner, who is going to make county equipment available for some of the necessary grading;

Frank B. Bennett, superintendent of Salem public schools who stressed the value to the community of the project;

Bill Head, top-kick of the Warren Northwest Construction company, which company will be the biggest single contributor to building the permanent runway (that outfit is just going to put $5,000 worth of paving on the site—that's all!);

Mayor Al Loucks, who, like everyone else, approves the project for the reason that it is not only a Soap Box Derby site but is a spot that can be used the year-around by youngsters for coasting, sledding and roller skating;

Chief of Police Clyde A. Warren and Sheriff Denver Young, who approve the proposed location for youngsters from a traffic and safety standpoint;

C. A. McClure, the city engineer who first came up with this site proposal and who is secretary of the Capitol Planning commission and was planning engineer of Salem's Long-Range Planning commission;

District Court Judge Val D. Sloper, who is sponsoring a boy in the race and who was an interested attendant at the session;

Lee Ohmart, Salem realtor and member of the Realty Board, who has been an avid worker on the site committee;

Wayne Hadden and Les Green of the McKay company, who are doing a pile of work in registering youngsters and taking care of the many duties attendant to the Derby at Derby Headquarters;

Ken Foster, the Prudential Insurance company man who will be showing that very impressive All-American Derby film, "Winners All," to most all of youngsters in this area;

Barney Barnett, who represents the hard-working Marion VFW post 661 and who is chief of the sponsors' committee for the Derby;

W. W. "Bill" Chadwick, bossman at the Senator hotel who had his grandsons at the meeting;

Bill Page, one of Clyde Warren's young cops, who is a member of the official inspection committee and who thinks this Derby is going to be a grand Salem institution;

Robert Letts Jones, assistant publisher of the Capital Journal, who was one of the original investigators for Salem's first official Derby; and
Bill Byers, secretary-treasurer of the Willamette Farm Labor council and assistant Derby director;

18 Sworn In As Deputies

Eighteen persons have been sworn in as deputy county clerks to assist in the registration of voters for the forthcoming May primaries, County Clerk Henry Matison stated Friday. It is presumed a few more will be added to the list.

It is the plan of a citizens group to take registration at the banks of the city and later to establish a place in each one of the city's eight wards for similar action.

Those who have been sworn in include: Alvin Whitlaw, Margaret Oettinger, Georgia E. Corrigan, J. M. Hartley, J. Oscar Davis, Gladys L. Davis, Eleanor Eckersley, Louise R. Barton, Johanna Byrd, Thelma DeSart, Mabel G. McCall, Veda C. Byrd, Dorathea Steusloff, Elma H. Kennedy, Inez Weatherly, Genevieve O. Rogers, Marian Churchill and Belle Ullman.

It is known that the Peiping regime has been aiding the forces of Moscow trained Ho Chi-Minh for some time, supplying equipment and training insurgent forces.

Foreign Aid Bill
Neither Acheson nor Lovett indicated the size of the Chinese Red forces they said crossed the border. Acheson said, however, that the "bulk" of the troops fighting the French and their Vietnam allies were Indochinese natives.

Truman has asked 611 million dollars for all of Southeast Asia, 76 millions more than Congress appropriated last year. No breakdown has been announced to show Indochina's share.

Crackdown

The bureau issuing the publication and hear the story of such officials and then use the best judgment we have in making suggestions for cuts in cost of the publications."

Governor Douglas McKay said that he was standing behind his finance director in this matter, declaring that he, too, thought that the state departments are issuing many publications that either can be eliminated entirely, or at least reduced in size and a less expensive grade of paper used.

"Publications designed to give the people information do not have to be printed on the most expensive bond paper on the market," the governor said.

Army Bulldozers Rescue Starving Cattle in Nevada

San Francisco (AP)—Army bulldozers Friday went to the rescue of 600,000 head of starving livestock in north and central Nevada. Twenty 'dozers were sent from Ogden, Utah, to attack ranch roads clogged by snow and clear the way for rushing in feed.

Other bulldozers from the naval base at Hawthorne, Nev., opened a 35-mile long lane through snow to 2,000 marooned residents in Mono county, east-central California. Residents there low on fuel but had food.

In northern California, highway plows bit into snowdrifts which closed the two major highways over the mountains to Nevada—U. S. 40 and 50—Tuesday. Their reopening was expected shortly.

In the Rockies two snowstorms disrupted ground and air travel and left Denver streets almost impassable. The storm belt extended some 150 miles from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Colorado Springs.

The biggest crisis was in Nevada where Gov. Charles Russell declared a state of emergency to qualify for federal assistance. Promptly 20 army bulldozers were ordered sent to help save an estimated $18,000,000 worth of imperiled cattle and sheep.

The first success was scored Thursday by an Idaho state department plow. It opened a road for the feeding of 4,000 head of cattle in the Owyhee Indian Reservation in Nevada's north-Elko county. Behind the plow came 100 tons of hay in six trucks.

Reds Propose

The U.N. has warned that it never will force prisoners who have turned against communism to return to the Reds.

In an adjoining conference tent, other Red staff officers asked more time to map out specific areas around each of the 10 ports of entry through which troops and supplies may pass during a truce.

However, Col. Andrew J. Kinney of the U.N. told newsmen he anticipated no trouble in reaching a speedy final agreement on the issue. He said it may come Saturday, when the Reds submit additional data.

Must Curb Inspection
A high allied leader at the same time said "impatient" demands from the American people for a quick cease-fire have made it difficult for U.S. leaders in the Far East.

"Our people back home have got to curb their impatience for getting a definite solution to everything in sight overnight—in other words, we've got to grow up," he said.

"What's 21 months or 10 years or 30 years to the communists?"

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, spokesman for the U.N. spokesman, said the communist "compromise" proposal on prisoners actually was a clarification of a hazy proposal they first made March 5.
