

Churches in Sharing Hour

“Christian compassion wrote a life-saving and heart-warming record in 1951, and should do even better in 1952,” says the Christian Century editorially concerning the “One Great Hour of Sharing” movement which is being participated in by Salem churches.

The editorial continues in part: “As the week of March 16-23 comes nearer, when another ‘One Great Hour of Sharing’ will be observed by the churches of this favored land, it is only fair that that record shall receive the credit it deserves. During 1951 the 36 denominations cooperating in Church World Service shipped overseas 9,812,594 pounds of clothing, food and miscellaneous supplies, including medicines. By American values, these shipments are rated as worth $3,901,985. That is a substantial sum, but the goods may be worth 10 or 20 times as much where they are sent. For example, an overcoat weighing five or six pounds would be counted by C. W. S. as worth around $4, but it would bring $80 in Pusan if anybody could be found with that much money. And who can say that $5 worth of milk powder is really worth in the currency of compassion when it gives a growing child a supplementary glass of milk each day for a year?”

“Every penny of funds given for human help is precious, so we have good reason for reporting to the last penny the money Church World Service received and disbursed in 1951. It was $966,757.14. It went to help men, women and especially children in Korea, Japan, Okinawa, India, Palestine and central Europe. Through C. W. S. the churches sent an additional $562,192 to the World Council of Churches for use in helping churches and refugees in distress. Another $203,049.22 was allocated to missionaries abroad, who also carry on relief, through the committee on relief and reconstruction services of the division of foreign missions of the National Council of Churches. All together then the gifts for human helpfulness contributed by the churches through Church World Service last year totaled $5,635,603.36—an achievement which deserves a hymn of gratitude in every congregation in the land.”
