Y., who was serving with Filipino communist-led Huks and captured by Philippine army forces, greets his Filipino wife, Celia Mariano, in Manila, following her capture. A Philippine army spokesman quoted Pomeroy as saying, "Thank God she is safe in hands of army." (AP Wirephoto via radio from Manila)

Oregon Teacher Survey Gets Started Monday

The survey of teacher education in Oregon, sponsored by the state board of higher education, got under way in earnest Monday when Dr. Earl W. Anderson of Ohio State university, recently appointed research director for the survey, arrived in Portland.

Anderson was introduced to members of the board of higher education, which met Monday morning at the Benson hotel, and will confer with the survey committee Monday afternoon.

The Ohio educator was recommended by Dr. T. C. Holy who conducted the survey of public schools for the legislature last biennium. Anderson will spend one week in Oregon on this trip, and will return for six months on June 15.

Under the board's present allocation of major work, elementary teacher education is conducted by the three colleges of education at Monmouth, Ashland and La Grande. Secondary teacher education is the assigned function of the University of Oregon and Oregon State college. The general extension division, which operates classes on a state-wide basis, draws instructors from all campuses and offers work but no degrees in both fields.

Survey committee chairman Dr. J. F. Cramer, stricken with illness in February, is expected to resume his work with the committee by June when Anderson returns on a full-time basis. Anderson will be located in Portland.

In approving the survey, the board indicated it would call in at least two additional outside consultants when the committee and its research director have compiled data on teacher education in Oregon.

Members of the survey include W. L. Van Loan, Corvallis, representing the Oregon Educa-

Dairy 4-H Club Boys Visit Kirsch Farm

Mt. Angel—James and LeRoy Fessler entertained members of the Mt. Angel Dairy 4-H club, boys from St. Mary's school, at the April meeting of the club, which was held at the Carl Fessler country home.

President Ralph Smith was in charge, with all members present. Virgil Diehl, leader, gave a copy of the Guernsey Journal to the members having Guernseys.

After the business meeting the members went to the Alois Kirsch farm to look at his cattle.
