Korean Vets Will Get War Benefits If Congress Agrees

Washington (AP)—Veterans of the Korean war will get benefits similar to those given World War II veterans if a measure approved by the House Veterans Committee is passed by Congress.

Before House and Senate okay such a bill, if they do, they may make changes. So the finished product is apt to be different from the committee version. But this is a quick look at it as it stands.

The benefits apply not only to members of the armed forces who served in the Korean theater but to all who were in the armed forces, at home or abroad, on or after June 27, 1950.

Education — If he served at least 90 days, a man gets 1 1/2 days of education or training at government expense for each day of service but no more than 36 months. And he must apply within two years after discharge.

A World War II veteran who served at least 90 days got a minimum of 15 months. The maximum was 48 months. Without going into details, it can be said generally he was allowed more time after discharge to apply.

Education and Training Allowance — If he's enrolled in a course full-time, a Korea veteran gets $110 a month if he has no dependents and $150 if he has one or more. That's all. On that money he must live, pay his tuition, buy his books.

A World War II veteran got $75 a month to live on if he was single, $105 if he had one dependent, and $120 if he had two or more dependents, plus his tuition fees and book costs up to a limit of $500 a year.

What of a World War II veteran who was getting an education under the old GI Bill of Rights and then had his education interrupted by going back into the service?

He'd be entitled, upon his discharge, to finish out the time in school due him under the old GI bill, plus whatever schooling he earned as a Korea veteran, but no more than a combined total of 48 months.

But a World War II veteran who didn't apply for his educational benefits before the deadline of July 25, 1951, set up for most World War II veterans, couldn't claim them now as a result of service in the Korean War. He'd get only the benefits due him as a Korea veteran.

That July 25, 1951, deadline doesn't apply to men who had World War II service but were discharged after July 25, 1947. They have until four years after their discharge to apply for World War II benefits.

Model Airplane Club Meets on Wednesday

Meetings of the Salem Model Airplane club are held each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Air Scouts building at the Salem airport and builders of model planes interested in joining the group are welcome to attend.

The club, the oldest of its type in Oregon, was organized in 1938 by Elmer J. Roth of 2080 Market street who continues as director of operations.

Members of the club enjoy the privilege of having their own flying field, a model car race track, a radio transmitter (for radio controlled models), an engine starter, a pylon for indoor speed flying and a club trailer for transporting their models to and from contests.

Inspections Made Of 232 Elevators

State elevator inspectors made 232 inspections in the past six weeks, and ordered 58 changes made, State Labor Commissioner W. E. Kinsey said Tuesday.

There are 3,000 elevators and escalators in the state, and they are inspected every year.

O. W. Newton, chief elevator inspector, said his biggest headache is provided by children who use escalators as amusement devices.

Concert Tonight In Memoriam

The Iva Turner memorial concert, sponsored by Salem branch, Oregon Music Teachers association, will be this Wednesday evening at Waller hall, Willamette university campus.

The concert is in conjunction with the syllabus and auditions held in the Music hall last Friday and Saturday, sponsored by the music teachers.

Starting at 7 o'clock and continuing through to 8 o'clock, with 15-minute intermission, and beginning again at 8:15 o'clock and continuing until 9:15 o'clock, the program will present students receiving high ratings in the syllabus and auditions in formal concert. Awards will be announced, made possible by Joy Turner Moses, former violin and piano teacher in Salem, in memory of her mother, Iva Turner; the Business and Professional Women's club of Salem; the Music Teachers association and the local board of the Portland Symphony orchestra.

Stacey Green of the piano department, University of Oregon, did the adjudicating for the two-day syllabus and auditions, and reported outstanding performances and fine ability for the students participating. There were more than 60 who entered. The event is an annual one here. The public is invited to attend the concert Wednesday night.
