Lincoln

Lincoln—Ninety-five descendants of pioneer families who settled here on donation land claims in 1846-47, and their friends and relatives attended the 15th annual Lincoln-Zena reunion at Lincoln school grounds at Lincoln, Polk county, recently.

After the picnic luncheon spread on long tables under the big oak trees, Miss Hazel D. Price, president, presided at the business meeting and election of officers.

Elected as president for the ensuing year was Jack Spong; vice president, Frank Windsor; and Mrs. Lois Crawford was reelected as secretary-treasurer.

The organization voted to donate $10 toward uniforms for the newly organized local baseball club.

L. I. Mickey gave a memorial "Time Marches On" for those members who had passed away since the meeting last year, including Miss Letitia Abrams, Mrs. Emma Purvine Prescott, and her brother Monroe Purvine, Guy Phillips, J. P. Smart, Mrs. Tracy Walling, Mrs. Bertha Garrow, Lely Gardner Morrison, Philo Crawford, John Childers.

Bouquets were presented to Mrs. R. F. Yungen, as retiring president of last year; A. M. Patrick, 91, oldest man; Mrs. Addie Curtis, 77, oldest woman; Mrs. Angelina Shanon, 94, of White Sulphur Springs, Mont., as the oldest visiting woman; and to the youngest, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nash.

The member who had the most descendants was Tracy Walling, with seven children and 13 grandchildren.

Tracy Walling is a grandson of Zena pioneers Jesse and Eliza Walling, who located on a donation land claim and raised a big family.

Tracy Walling now resides on part of that claim at Lincoln. Additional grandchildren of the pioneer Wallings present were Mrs. Eva Walling Purvine, and her brother, Jesse Walling, who both own part of the claim, and a brother, Harold Walling of Salem.

Only remaining three children of the six of Jackson and Emily Purvine, early Zena pioneers present were Mrs. Ida Purvine Willis, Mrs. Gertrude Purvine Remington, Fred Purvine and a granddaughter, Mrs. Pauline Remington Cohen.

Worth W. Henry was another grandson of early pioneers Major and Jane Walker, who were instrumental in establishing the Zena community.

Mrs. Lois Simpson Crawford and Jack Spong are grandchildren of Mrs. Harriett Crangle, pioneer who came across the plains by ox team and covered wagon from Missouri to Oregon in 1846, and her husband, C. P. Crangle, who came from Ireland when a very small boy and when a young man joined the California gold rush.

Mrs. Crawford resides at Lincoln at the home which her grand father built. Frank Windsor is the son of Ben Windsor, who came here from England by way of Cape Horn, when a young man.

Carolyn Hurst and her sister, Mrs. Estella Hurst Albert, whose parents located at Lincoln in the early days, attended Sunday for the first time. Master of ceremonies was Jack Spong.

On the program were vocal numbers by L. I. Mickey, Edgar C. Crawford, Mrs. Eva Purvine, Mrs. Lois Crawford; rattling bones, Frank Boehringer; talks by Walter Gerth, son of the former Lincoln blacksmith; Mrs. Justina Kildee, who taught school at Lincoln in 1914; Carl Abrams, whose father, Louis Abrams, located at Lincoln and became a mill owner, and operated the general grocery store; Harold Walling; Mrs. Everett Anderson.

Frank Boehringer, departed member, Mrs. J. D. Walling and Mrs. Lois Crawford organized the annual Lincoln-Zena reunions in 1937. Addie Curtis gave two of her 90 original poems. The group voted to meet at the Lincoln school house in 1953.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ashford have just returned from a two weeks vacation trip.

While away they were guests at the home of old army friends of Mr. Ashford, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Roth at Port Angeles, Wash., and at the Seaside home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ashford. They also visited a short time at Raymond and Victoria.

JoAnne Rogers Wins State Essay Prize

Independence—JoAnne Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers, has won first place in the American Legion auxiliary state essay contest with a prize of $40.

Miss Rogers' essay was first entered in the contest sponsored by the Monmouth auxiliary, in which it won the $5 prize. It was then entered in the state contest.

An essay by Marc Nelson won first prize in the junior division of the Monmouth contest.

The title of Miss Rogers' essay was "Americanism, Our Way of Life."

Willamina

Nettie Wise and Nancy Canby were hostesses for the June meeting of the FL club. President Jere Boundy presided at the business meeting. The resignation of Neva Lee as secretary was accepted and Kathryn Parrett was elected to fill the position. Nancy Coddington was elected treasurer. Jessie Tucker and Kathryn Parrett won game prizes, and Jere Boundy won the door prize.

Guests were Loretta Monaco and Ethel Tatom. The July meeting will be held July 16 at the home of Avis Brock in Newberg, with Ruth Skophammer as co-hostess.
