Rev. Fred Ott Dies in Hospital

Ill for several years and hospitalized since February of this year, Rev. Fred Ferdinand Ott, former pastor of the Bethany Evangelical Reformed church here, died at a local hospital Tuesday.

Ott, who came to the United States in 1925, was born in Basel, Switzerland, January 19, 1889, and spent most of his early life in church activities in Europe. He attended school in Beuggen, Germany, and served an apprenticeship at a Basel mission book firm.

Later Ott went to Paris to study the French language, returning from there to live for several years in Berlin and Munich, Germany. In 1915 he was assigned to a book depot in Accra, Gold Coast, Africa, where he served for three years. From there he returned to Switzerland and became prominent in YMCA activities.

With his family Ott came to New York in 1925 and in 1928 attended a seminary in Bloomfield, N. J., training for the ministry. Ordained in 1930, he was assigned a church in Grenfell, Saskatchewan, Canada, where he served for several years.

Ott next was assigned to a church in Upham, N. D. Ill health forced him to come west and he served at churches in Hillsboro and Walla Walla, Wash., prior to coming to Salem in 1945 to serve as pastor of the Bethany Evangelical Reformed church here. He resigned his pulpit here in 1947 because of ill health.

Survivors include his wife, the former Marguerite Meyer to whom he was married in 1913 in a seminary in which he attended school in Basel; a son, Fred Carl Ott; two brothers and a sister in Switzerland; a sister in New York and two grandchildren. Announcement of funeral services will be made later by the Howell-Edwards chapel.

Test of ILS at Airport Begins

Checking of the ILS system at McNary field to establish minimums was started Wednesday morning by Jim Rudolph and Charles Stacey, air carrier inspectors for the CAA from the regional office in Seattle.

Used in testing the system is a twin-engine Beechcraft, piloted by Rudolph. After compiling their statistics the CAA will issue a form of listing the established minimums for distribution to the air carriers and other persons interested.

Present minimums for the field, established before installation of the instrument landing (ILS), are a 500-foot ceiling and a mile visibility.

Last month airways flight inspectors for the CAA, Seattle, were here in a twin-engine Beechcraft checking the tolerance of the ILS.

United Air Lines will also flight check the ILS with one of their planes.

Ike and Adlai Asked to Speak

Atlantic City (AP)—The American Federation of Labor Executive Council announced Wednesday it will invite both Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson to the union's national convention in New York next month.

This is the first time that candidates for president have been asked to address the eight million member union's convention.

The AFL traditionally has skirted presidential politics and, on a national level at least, has avoided naming a favorite candidate.

The council also said it will invite President Truman to the convention which starts Sept. 15. After the two candidates have spoken to the convention, the council is expected to recommend whether the AFL should back one of the two men.

Marine Reserves Return Saturday

Members of the Salem organized Marine Corps Reserve unit, who left Salem aboard a marine air corps transport plane August 2 for two weeks of summer training at Camp Pendleton, Calif., will return to Oregon by plane next Saturday.

On their return trip, however, the men will be aboard a United Air Lines plane, flight 651, which lands in Portland at 6:15 p.m., daylight time. Aboard the plane will be seven of the members of the unit and three of the inspector-instructor staff.

Returning by automobile and arriving here Saturday morning will be Lt. David S. Berger and Staff Sgt. Alonzo A. Esau. Two members of the inspector-instructor staff also are making the trip by auto. They are Staff Sgt. Donald L. Barnes and Sgt. Ray C. Donnerwirth.

Sparkman Wants Ike Given Information

Washington (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman, the democratic vice presidential nominee, Wednesday, urged that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, republican presidential candidate, be given complete information on international affairs by the Truman administration.

Sparkman told reporters he thought Eisenhower should be given a briefing similar to that provided Tuesday by President Truman and top administration leaders for Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the democratic nominee for president, at a series of private conferences.

Two Charges—Dan Custor, Rt. 2, was fined $35 in city police court Wednesday on a reckless driving charge and another $5 fine was levied for having no operator's license.

At left is Stan Baker, local Dodge dealer and at right are Don Blaisdell, 1015 Edina lane, and Homer Stiffler, 1495 Hayesville drive, local salesmen who received membership certificates in the Dodge "400" club of top salesman in the nation.

Prison Expense Nixon Invades Adlai's Capital

State Treasurer Walter J. Pearson and Secretary of State Earl T. Newby, both contended that state officials and employees sent out of state on official business should not be required to pay a portion of expenses out of personal funds.

After the discussion ended, the board agreed to an increase of $1 in the lodging allowance for state travel. This will bring the in-state travel allowance to $5.50 a day for lodging.

Parking Area Survey
A preliminary survey of the proposed underground parking area in the sunken gardens north of the capitol by James A. McDevill, Portland engineer, was authorized by the board.

The underground parking plan was favored by Francis Keally, New York architect who drew the plans for the capitol building, on his recent visit to Salem.

At the request of officials of the First Presbyterian church an appraisal will be made by the state of the church property, which will be eventually needed in the development of the capitol mall.

On recommendation of Roy Mills, secretary of the board, employment of Holbrook-Walstrom property counselors to make the appraisal was approved.

Church Appraisal
The church officials in a letter to the board said that the church was in need of additional space and moving of the church building to a lot on the southwest corner of Summer and Chemeketa street was under consideration.

Payments to contractors were authorized by the board to the following: H. G. Carl Construction company, $26,061.64 due on the school building at Fairview home; $26,070.82 to E. E. Settergren on construction of the employees dormitory at the state Tuberculosis hospital in Salem; $13,333.78 to P. S. Lord, on contract for boiler plant at Western Oregon state hospital; $9,630.50 and $7,994.25 to Bohron, Inc., on steam distribution system at state tuberculosis hospital; $2,452 to Smith and Nelson on cold storage facilities at MacLaren school for boys; and $6,084.45 to T. J. Prater on residence for principal of state school for the blind.

People Want a Change
"The American people want a change," Eisenhower said flatly. Then he gave a hint of issues he will pound at during his campaign by declaring:

"They want a change in order to replace corruption with honesty; reckless spending with economy; inflation with economic stability; mismanagement in foreign affairs with clear-cut policies and programs for positive peace; brazen assertions of 'inherent power' with constitutional government, both in spirit and deed."

Storage Facilities for Grain Crop Needed
The mid-Willamette Valley's excellent grain crop, combined with a boxcar shortage, is leaving farmers in the area with an acute problem of where to put their grain.

Although the Dallas Cooperative Warehouse is still accepting grain for storage, the Mt. Angel, Pratum and Silverton grain elevators are filled to capacity, with few boxcars arriving to take the grain to market. Very few farmers have facilities to store their own grain.

The Southern Pacific boxcar shortage is the result of the recent California earthquake which shut off the normal flow of cars from California for a time.

Salem Woman Hurt in Mishap

A young Salem woman suffered a fractured skull and her air force husband and month-old child were shaken up in an auto accident near Hailey, Idaho, Monday.

Mrs. Mary Heider is in a hospital in Hailey, near Sun Valley. Her husband, A 1/c Douglas Heider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Heider, 1435 N. 18th street, suffered minor cuts and bruises and shock. He was released from the hospital Tuesday. Their month-old baby was uninjured except for superficial scratches. The car was demolished.

The young couple were enroute to Hunter Air Force base, Savannah, Georgia, where Heider is reporting for duty after a two weeks furlough here. He recently returned from a tour of duty on Okinawa as a left gunner on a Superfortress. He was recently awarded the Air Medal there.

The accident happened when Mrs. Heider, who was driving, turned around to speak to her husband who was caring for the baby in the back seat. The car wheel ran off the paving and she lost control, the car going over an embankment.

The young airman's parents left Tuesday afternoon for Hailey. They will probably bring the baby back with them, although Mrs. Heider will probably have to stay in the hospital there for at least two weeks, according to doctors' reports.

Mrs. Heider is the former Mary McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Zoe McCormick, 2185 Myrtle Ave.

The young couple has been married just slightly over a year.

Marines Plant

The word "Korea" is printed on the green side. On the yellow side is a figure of the Archangel Michael. The marines consider it sort of an unofficial battalion flag.

Marines told harrowing tales of the battle early Tuesday for Bunker Hill.

It is within sight of the balloons hovering over the true site of Panmunjom.

The once-green ridge has been turned to dust and broken rock by thunderous artillery and mortar shelling, tank fire, rockets and air attacks.

The Leathernecks crawled up the slopes through a curtain of rifle, machine gun and artillery fire to win it.

Some Chinese are still on the northern slopes.

The bombardment was "wicked and wild," muttered Pfc. Donald J. Biesack of Meridan, Conn.

Egyptian Riot

The Brotherhood's "Supreme Guide," Hassan El Hodeiby, announced this stand in an interview shortly after the Egyptian cabinet set up seven committees armed with sweeping powers to clean up public corruption dating as far back as 1939.

The latest government action was viewed by informed sources as the results of pressure for a swift crackdown on Egypt's military power, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, and the army.

Premier Aly Maher had suggested the nation's political parties be given time to purge their own ranks, but so far the powerful Wafd party—expected to be a chief target of the graft cleanup—has kicked out only six minor party members.
