Miss Tiger, Mr. Davis Are Wed

Miss Lora Lee Tiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Tiger of Stayton, was wed to Daryl Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbern Davis, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church, with Dr. Lloyd Anderson officiating.

Baskets of Calla lilies and spring flowers were on either side of the altar and two white candelabras flanked the main altar. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons. Miss Lorraine Saul was the organist and Eldon Casey sang.

The brunette bride wore a gown of ivory satin. The dress was made with a tight-fitting bodice, long sleeves with self-covered buttons; the rounded neckline was of net and lace, and the skirt was slightly flared with five rows of lace on it. The short veil was of net and lace, and was fastened by a half-crown to the head with seed pearls. The bride's only ornament was a strand of pearls, and her bouquet was a large white orchid with clusters of baby orchids woven with bouvardia. The bride also carried a small white Bible.

Preceding the bride to the altar as the maid of honor, was her sister, Miss Wanda Tiger of Stayton, and two bridesmaids, Miss Clara Deyo and Miss Rosella Reimer. The maid of honor wore Nile green and the bridesmaids dresses were in bluish pink. The style of the dresses was identical. They were of satin with net overskirts, a row of rosettes banding the necklines and were worn with bolero jackets. Shattered carnations were used for headresses and the bouquets were of pink and white roses.

Candlelighters were Bobby McGill of Jefferson and George Tiger of Stayton. Ringbearers were Susan Tiger and Larry McGill. Flower girls were Carol Ann McGill and Judy Dawson of Jefferson. The junior girl attendants' dresses were replicas of the bridesmaids' frocks and were Nile green and pink.

Best man was Delbert Davis, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Roger Giles and Oliver Allen, fraternity brothers, and Laurence Scheeler, Jr.

Mrs. Tiger wore a navy blue crepe dinner dress for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were white, and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Melbern Davis, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of golden brown crepe with a long sprig-colored sash and insets of lace at the neckline. Her accessories were brown and sprig-rose and her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Following the wedding, the reception was in the fireplace room. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and flanking the cake were pink and white bells. Cutting the bride's cake was Mrs. Wallace Dawson of Jefferson, an aunt, and assisting was Mrs. Lee Coleman. Presiding at the coffee urn was Mrs. Hugh McCain, aunt of the bridegroom, and pouring punch was Miss Bernice Struckmeier. Assisting in serving were Misses Louise DeShon, Joyce Saul, Darlene Engdahl, LaVerne Gammon and Marvel Lee Coleman. Carol Tiger passed the dream cake; Sandra Dawson passed the guest book.

When the couple left on their honeymoon for Vancouver, B. C., the bride was wearing a heather-colored dressmaker suit and a small black velvet hat, with accessories in black, and she wore a white orchid corsage. After their honeymoon, they will return to Salem for a short time, and on February 8 the bridegroom will leave for San Antonio, Texas, where he will take officers training in the air force. Mrs. Davis will join him at a later date.

The bride received her schooling in Jefferson and for the past year has been employed here as a private secretary. The bridegroom is a graduate of Salem high school and in December received his degree from the University of Oregon. He is a member of Acacia fraternity.

LEAVING on Thursday for Miami, Florida, is Mrs. C. D. Smith. She is stopping in Chicago en route to visit a daughter.
