

Bound In Red Tape—Moses Tokee, 37-year-old wounded war veteran of Hyannis, Mass., with his wife, Irma, reads immigration order that she must return to her native Finland by March 4. Mrs. Tokee came from Finland last spring and they were wed in the summer. Now her visitor's pass has expired and Tokee has exhausted all means of keeping her in this country. A carpenter, he says he has spent all his money building a house and can't comply with ruling that Mrs. Tokee return to Finland and reapply for entry.

'Note From a Neighbor' Asked In Campaign for News of Home

By ADELAIDE KERR
New York (AP)—One day Mrs. George Blakeslee began to think of the bleak look she had seen on the faces of servicemen turning away from mail call empty-handed.

Of the young corporal, home from Korea with a wounded leg, who said: "The most important things to the men overseas are food and mail."
Of the letter from her soldier son, urging her to "do something about the apathy toward the men who are serving overseas."

Mrs. Blakeslee, chic blonde wife of a New York neurologist, had been co-chairman of the Committee for the Army and Navy in World War II.

To her, to think of something needed by servicemen is to act. This time she reached for the telephone.

Oregon Rates as Sixth State in Homes Occupied by Owners

By FRANK O'BRIEN
Washington (AP)—The Census Bureau said Monday its 1950 survey of the nation disclosed Michigan had the highest proportion of homes occupied by their owners.
New York, which had the largest number of dwelling units among the 48 states, had the lowest percentage of home ownership.
The bureau said the 1950 census showed 67.5 per cent of Michigan's 1,790,702 occupied dwellings were residences of their owners.
The bureau said 40 states reported more than half of their dwelling units were occupied by their owners, and 18 of these states reported 60 per cent or more of owner-occupied dwellings.

Only New York, where 37.9 per cent of its 4,325,139 dwelling units were occupied by owners, fell below 45 per cent in home ownership.
The five states with the largest number of dwellings were New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio, in that order. All except New York reported 50 per cent or more of home ownership.
The leading 10 in owner-occupied were:
Michigan, 67.5 per cent of 1,790,702 dwellings; Minnesota, 66.4 per cent of 845,265; North Dakota, 66.2 per cent of 162,105; Indiana, 65.5 per cent of 1,168,918; Idaho, 65.3 per cent of 470,047; Utah, 65.3 per cent of 187,825; Washington, 65 per cent of 735,746; Kansas, 63.9 per cent of 586,650, and Wisconsin, 63.5 per cent of 967,448.
Nevada had the lowest number of dwelling units. Of its 50,241 dwellings, 48.7 per cent were occupied by owners.

Cox Chosen for Albany School

Albany — Leslie R. Cade, chairman of the Union high school board announced the election Wednesday of John R. Cox, a Linn county native, but now superintendent of schools at Hillsboro, as superintendent of Union High School district No. 8.
Cox has accepted, the board chairman said, and will come to Albany in July to take over duties of office here.
Chairman Cade said, "we found that Cox' experience in school work particularly fits him for the job he will have to do here and he appears to have made good at it. His recommendations are excellent."

The local board chairman referred to the organization of a union high school at Sherwood, Washington county, as well as to Cox' success at Hillsboro, where he has been superintendent of the union high and grade school systems for the last 13 years.
Cox was graduated from Albany high school and from Albany college in 1929.
He received his master's degree in education at the University of Oregon and is now well on his way toward acquiring a doctor's degree.
He taught school at Turner and was also superintendent of the union high school and grade schools there until he went to Sherwood in 1936.

It is believed that many of the "witches" executed during the inquisition of the Middle Ages were practicing the pagan religions which existed in their countries before Christianity.
