Hal Boyle

being a self-made capitalist, doesn't it? Just what is the formula?
Sir William gave these three rules:
"To get ahead requires first of all the will to work.
"Then you have to be enthusiastic, and take advantage of opportunities as they arise.
"And your real goal must be achievement."
"But how about money? What is a capitalist without money?"
"Oh, money always follows achievement," said Sir William genially. "But the man who simply works for money itself doesn't get very far. He's got blinkers on."

Undoubtedly there are at least one or two other Salem motorists who agree with Hartley's sentiments.

Novelty Maker Passes Here

Erskine J. Shumaker resident of Oregon for many years and of Salem for the past 19 years, died Saturday night at a local convalescent home where he had lived for eight months.
Shumaker, whose home was at 30 Leslie street, was a retired interior decorator and was well known in this community for the novelties that he made as a hobby in the basement at his home. He had been a semi-invalid from arthritis for 30 years and helpless for the past two years.

Born in West Salem, Wis., January 29, 1881, Shumaker came to Oregon as a boy of 2 or 3 years with his parents, Jacob and Margaret Burnett Shumaker, and the family settled at Jefferson. He lived there most of his life, except for a short time spent at Toledo, Oregon, until coming to Salem following his retirement 19 years ago.
Surviving are the wife, the former Edna R. Gill, to whom he was married, October 19, 1904; a daughter, Mrs. Roy W. Hunt of Salem; two sisters, Mrs. Harriett Looney of Salem and Mrs. Victor Looney of Albany; and two grandsons, James and Robert Hunt of Salem.

Services will be held at the Howell-Edwards chapel Tuesday afternoon, February 17, at 1:30 o'clock with interment at Belcrest Memorial park. Rev. Dudley Strain will officiate at the services.

Holland Commends GIs' Rescue Work

Steenbergen, The Netherlands (AP)—Sgt. Charles L. Apple of Sedro Woolley, 618 Puget Ave., Wash., was commended here Monday for helping rescue 70 people in flooded Holland.
Lt. Col. John S. Lynn, commanding officer of Apple's unit in Holland, said the soldier's action was "representative of the initiative, resourcefulness and alertness displayed by the military men of many nations working in the disaster stricken Netherlands."
Apple moved two Army ducks into a flooded area and brought out survivors.

Heart Attack Fatal to Oregon Journal Publisher

Portland (AP)—Philip Ludwell Jackson, 54, publisher of the Oregon Journal for 29 years, died of a heart attack at a Portland hospital Saturday.

He had been ill since Jan. 27 when he was stricken at his home with coronary thrombosis.
He became publisher of the Journal in 1924 after the death of his father, C. S. Jackson, who founded the paper in 1902.

Jackson also became editor in 1937. He also was president of The Journal Publishing Company, the Journal Building Co., Portland radio station KPOJ, and was chairman of the board of the Columbia Empire Telecasters.

Born Oct. 18, 1893, he attended the old Portland Academy and later was graduated from Princeton. He also took a business degree at Harvard.

He spent 18 months in Europe with the Army during World War I and upon his return in 1919 became a director of the Journal Publishing Co.

He was married in 1922 to Dorothy Stroubridge of Portland. They were divorced in 1929. In 1931 he married Mrs. Ella R. Tenney of San Francisco. She died in 1950. A year later he married Mrs. Esma P. Ransom of Portland. He had no children.

Besides the widow, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. C. S. Jackson of Portland and a grand-nephew, Peter Kennedy Jackson, II.

Maude Mosher Is Summoned

Mrs. Maude Mosher, for many years a resident of Salem, died Sunday at her home in Palo Alto, Calif., at the age of 70 years.

She was the widow of D. H. Mosher, who operated a tailoring establishment on Court street prior to his death several years ago.

Survivors include three sons, Harry Mosher of Palo Alto; Kenneth H. Mosher of Seattle and William A. Mosher of Newark, Del. Also surviving is a brother, William Stone of Oregon City and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon in the chapel of the W. T. Rigdon company with interment in City View cemetery.

Dr. Chas. H. Law Struck by Car

Amity—Dr. Charles H. Law, 79, is convalescing at the McMinville hospital from injuries received Friday night when he was struck by an automobile while walking across Trade St., near his home.

Dr. Law suffered a broken right ankle, scalp wounds and numerous bruises when he was thrown onto the hood of the car and then to the pavement.

Driver of the car, Richard Blenkinsop, 1116 Alpine St., McMinnville, was not held.

Six Fatalities Over Week-End

(By The Associated Press)
Two children died in a house fire and four persons were killed in traffic accidents in Oregon and Southwestern Washington last week-end.

Raymond, 8, and Roger, 6, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Foyer, died in a fire that swept through their home near Drain Saturday night. The father and another son suffered third degree burns. The mother suffered minor cuts when she was pulled through a broken window.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out in the Foyers' new home at about 11 p.m.

Robert F. Michael, 22, Orchard, Wash., and George C. Bump, 22, Vancouver, Wash., were killed early Sunday when their car collided with a freight train at a crossing near Vancouver.

Miss Alice Steiwer, 25, of Oregon City, was fatally injured Sunday when a car in which she was a passenger collided with an oil truck south of Portland.

Charles Arthur Moore, 80, was fatally injured Saturday when he was struck by a car on Highway 99 near Medford.

Gasoline Price

Taking a 2 3/10 cents per gallon jump were heating oil, stove oil and diesel oil. Heavy heating oils were increased 20 cents per barrel.

Portland, (AP)—Retail gasoline prices went up three cents a gallon in Portland today and Standard Oil Company of California raised wholesale prices of motor and aviation gasoline by 1.6 cents a gallon on the West Coast.

Portland gasoline dealers decided on the price boost yesterday. Alton Wright, chairman of the Portland Gasoline Dealers Association, said they made the move after rises had occurred in other Pacific coast states.

Standard said that in addition to increases in wholesale prices, retail posted prices will be generally increased an additional one-half cent a gallon in company stations. The company has no jurisdiction over prices set by independent dealers.

Those favoring the adoption of the minority report were Senators Allen, Belmont, Brady, Bryson, Chase, Day, Geddes, Gibson, Giersbach, Hitchcock, Holmes, Loneragan, McMillin, Merrifield, Neuberger, Walker and Marsh.

Those opposed were Senators Bingner, Brown, Ellis, Gill, Hardy, Hounsell, Loening, Smith, Steen, Ulett.
