

Commission to Stress Future City Planning

Planning will from now on get greater stress from the city planning and zoning commission.

Tuesday night Chairman W. W. Rosebraugh, at the suggestion of Mayor Al Loucks, and following out a policy announced made at a recent city council meeting, appointed a special planning committee from the commission membership.

Appointed were Robert K. Powell, chairman, V. D. McMullen and Frank Guerin. It was explained that in the 25-year history of the planning and zoning commission most of its work has had to do with zoning because of changing conditions in the city, shifting of business areas, etc. That has predominated over long-range planning, it was said.

With planning now a more definite policy the new committee will report back to the commission in about 60 days. It was asked to look into the planning programs of other cities. Its work will probably coordinate with that of the county planning and zoning commission.

Myrl G. Clark submitted to the commission Tuesday night a proposal for approving garden-type apartment houses in the neighborhood of the new South Salem high school. It was referred to the code revision committee.

To clear the record the commission recommended to the city council that it vacate streets and alleys occupied by the Thomas Kay Woolen mills.

For the first time since the commission came into being a quarter of a century ago Hedda Swart missed a meeting. He is ill with the flu. Swart served several years as chairman.

The ICC said railroad rates for handling newspapers have risen 38 or 39 per cent since 1931, while rates on other baggage car traffic have increased "considerably more."

Newspapers are carried in baggage cars or in the vestibule of passenger cars on trains that do not carry a baggage car.

Los Angeles (AP)—A $100,000 damage suit has been filed against crying singer Johnnie Ray. Herman Prujansky said he became Ray's publicity man at $200 a week last July 15 but was fired without cause last Dec. 3. He said he had an oral agreement that provided for him to continue his services so long as Ray remained in show business.

Portland (AP)—The Army Engineers will resume negotiations soon with the Warm Springs and Umatilla Indian tribes to clarify some legal provisions of an agreement reached earlier on compensation payments for their fishing rights on the Columbia River.

Col. Thomas H. Lipscomb, Portland District engineer, said Tuesday that the amount of pay for the fishing rights they will lose because of construction of The Dalles Dam will remain unchanged.

But he said the office of the chief of the Army Engineers asked a restudy of the agreement's renegotiation provisions and the revised clause on the use of contracts as evidence in other claims.

The Warm Springs tribe, with 1,078 members, will receive $4,047,000 in payment for the fishing rights granted them under an 1855 treaty with the government. The Umatillas, with 1,118 members, will receive $4,198,000.

But the money cannot be paid to them until the agreement is approved by the chief of Army engineers and the Interior Department secretary and is ratified by members of the tribes, Lipscomb said.

Dallas—Circle B of the First Presbyterian church completed arrangements for their part in the dinner to be served by the women of the Presbyterian church to the members of the Farmer's warehouse.

The meeting held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Cleveland featured sewing in addition to the business which was discussed. Devotions were led by Mrs. Forest Holmes.

The table was decorated with forsythia and camellias from the yard of the hostess. The next meeting of the Circle B will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Johnson at 713 Lyle Street.

St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis County Water company says it now has an answer for previously unexplained sudden increases of water usage during the evening.

Television commercials, the company reported, cause a quick drain on the water supply. The firm said a survey showed housewives do their dishwashing piecemeal during the commercials, and junior postpones his before-bed wash-up until the product blurps at the end and at the start of TV shows.

Moshberger Portland Rites

Woodburn—Funeral services were held Tuesday in Portland for Orson Moshberger, 52, of Portland, long time resident of Woodburn, who died Feb. 15 at Providence hospital. Interment was in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Moshberger was the son of the late Charles and Estella Moshberger of Woodburn and was born at Molalla, May 31, 1870. The family moved to Woodburn where he spent most of his life, moving to Portland in 1920. He was a member of the Woodburn Volunteer fire company for 15 years.

After moving to Portland he had the distinction of wearing the only badge ever issued in the Portland fire department for work with the Portland Toy and Joy Makers.

He was made an honorary member of the Portland fire department in 1948 and in 1949 was named citizen of the week by the Portland Traction company.

With his wife he started repairing toys for the Toy and Joy Makers in 1927 which they have carried on since that time. Mrs. Moshberger filled Christmas stockings for underprivileged children and would dress as many as 500 dolls a year.

Survivors include his widow, Nellie Moshberger, three sons, Walter, Ellsworth and Norman Moshberger and a daughter, Mrs. Ione Radatz, all of Portland. Mr. Moshberger was the last member of the original Moshberger family of four brothers and one sister, all of whom resided in Woodburn for many years.

Portland (AP)—The Oregon State Highway Commission today refused to recognize the D river at Delaks on the Oregon coast as "the shortest river in the world."

The Oregon Coast Ad Club, Inc., asked the commission to erect a sign at both ends of the Highway 101 bridge across the 400-foot long river claiming the world's title for the stream which empties into the ocean from Devil's lake.

R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer, told the commission that "we don't really know whether the river is the shortest one in the world or not." He said a stream in Italy also was claimed to the title.

The commission, in other action, designated the entire Highway 101 from Astoria to the California state line as a throughway. The section from Astoria to Coquille was made a throughway in 1948 but the part from Coquille south to the border was not included until today. The commission explained that designation as a throughway limits adjoining property owners rights of access to the highway.

The commission tomorrow will open bids on more than $2,500,000 of highway construction work.

Portland (AP)—A dog that fell into an abandoned well Tuesday was rescued by the combined efforts of the Park Rose fire department, the Multnomah county sheriff's office and a small 8-year-old bystander.

The bystander, Tommy Felix, was lowered into the abandoned well on a rope sling by Fire Chief Paul Jarrett and Sheriff's Deputy Henry Moore.

Tommy held the dog in his arms and was hauled back up. The dog had fallen in the well, which is about 20 inches in diameter, when the cover was accidentally pushed aside. Moore said the well will be filled.

Freight Rates 'Unreasonable'

Washington (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today dismissed a complaint by the American Newspaper Publishers Association that western railroad rates on newspapers and newspaper supplements are "unjust and unreasonable."

The complaint was filed after the western rates increased their rate 20 per cent in March, 1950.

The publishers association contended that the charges for handling newspapers west of the Mississippi are "unreasonable" in comparison with eastern rates.

The ICC said there is "no adequate basis" for concluding the rates are "in any respect unreasonable."

The ICC said railroad rates for handling newspapers have risen 38 or 39 per cent since 1931, while rates on other baggage car traffic have increased "considerably more."

Newspapers are carried in baggage cars or in the vestibule of passenger cars on trains that do not carry a baggage car.

No Residence Clause in Bill

The Senate Elections Committee decided Tuesday to delete the residence requirements from the legislative districting bill.

The bill would have state representatives in Multnomah, Marion and Lane Counties run in subdistricts that the bill would create.

Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton told the committee it is unconstitutional to require that a man must live in a sub-district in order to run there. So the committee eliminated the requirement.

Multnomah county would be split into five sub-districts, and Lane and Marion county two sub-districts each.

The bill also provides that senators and representatives run for numbered positions in counties or sub-districts where there are more than one to be elected.
