

Scio Resident Ends Own Life

Lebanon—Linn county's third suicide in 1953 occurred this week when a 73-year-old Scio man took his life.

Glenn Huston, county coroner, said Peter Janitsky was found in his car parked in the victim's garage by Police Chief Walter Babson of Scio. A suicide note saying goodbye to friends was found in the house. Doors to the garage had been locked from inside and clothing stuffed into the cracks.

The key in the ignition was turned on, gas had been used and car battery was dead, but the victim's foot still pressed the accelerator.

A neighbor, Dell Westinhouse, reported Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. William Zielinski that something seemed to be amiss at the aged man's home and immediate investigation followed. State police aided county officers in the matter.

Mr. Janitsky, a Lithuanian, lived alone. He had been a Scio resident for 20 years.

The state was asked to take over as a secondary highway the 8.8-mile route between Carlton and the Yamhill-Newberg Highway in Yamhill County.

E. 82nd Ave., from Portland to Oregon City and widening of U. S. 99 from New Era to Hubbard and of the Mt. Hood Highway from Sandy to Rhododendron.
