Bomber Fleets

Fighter-bombers of the 49th Thunderjet wing made one of their deepest penetrations of North Korea in blasting enemy supply centers, communication hubs, railroads and highways.

Some of them flew right up to the Yalu river frontier of communist China. "It looked as if you could throw a pebble out of the cockpit across the Yalu into Manchuria," Col. Richard N. Ellis, of Montgomery, Ala., said.

A formation of 32 Thunderjet fighter-bombers made a daring foray far into Northwest Korea, 140 miles north of Pyongyang, to destroy buildings and a lumber yard at the communications center at Nampo-Jim, near Kangye.

Deluge of Bills

Elections Committee holds its first hearing on the bill that would prevent U. S. Sen. Wayne L. Morse from running as an Independent for re-election in 1956.

Thursday—The Welfare Subcommittee will hold a hearing on the most controversial issue of all—old age pensions. The hearing will be on bills to make public the names of welfare recipients, and in measures to tighten the law which requires relatives to support welfare recipients.

First Saturday Session The Senate held its first Saturday session, but the House will hold its first one next Saturday.

In the 1951 session that ran 116 days, there were 1,214 bills introduced, an all-time record.

So far, there have been 975 bills introduced, compared with 715 at the same stage two years ago. That means the committees have a hard job.

The Legislature disposed of one of its biggest bills this week when the Senate sent to the governor the $2 million dollar highway construction bond bill.

The liquor by the drink bill was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. But the Senate Alcohol Committee is taking a hard look at it, indicating it thinks the license fees for clubs might be too high.

Banks Open As Usual Monday

Monday, February 23, will be observed as a legal holiday by most city, county and state public offices, as well as the post office due to the fact that Washington's birthday falls on Sunday.

However, Salem's banks will be open for business as usual, as will all of the city's shops and stores.

While the county clerk's office will be closed for all legal operations, County Clerk Henry C. Mattson, states that one deputy will be on hand to issue dog licenses. Mattson points out that the deadline for purchasing dog licenses without penalty is drawing near.

Postal service will be restricted to the handling of special delivery material and the regular dispatch of mail on holidays. There will be no deliveries and none of the windows will be open.

Virtually all state offices will be closed Monday, although skeleton crews will operate in a few departments.

Ask for Cut In Mint Crop

Corvallis, (AP)—Oregon mint growers holding their annual meeting here Friday, approved a resolution calling for reduction of the 1953 mint crop. They said overproduction had caused a surplus and had lowered prices in 1952.

They also voted a levy of 1-cent a pound on 1952 production to finance an Oregon State College research project on mint.

John Whipple, Rainier, was elected president; Vernon Wood, Eugene, vice president; H. J. O'Reilly, Oregon State plant pathologist, treasurer, and Elbert Chambers, Albany, director.

Farmer Union Meeting Opening Here Tuesday

With Harvey Solberg of Denver, president of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union, as the headline speaker, the 43rd annual state convention of the Oregon Farmers Union will open in Salem Tuesday. All sessions will be held at the VFW hall on Fairgrounds road.

President Richard Moeller of Washington county will preside at the three-day session. Moeller's annual report to be given Tuesday afternoon will show the affairs of the organization to be in a healthy condition. Membership has more than doubled over last year. The financial report will show a surplus in the treasury. The insurance department has made a healthy gain.

Reports from state staff members will be given the first day, following the invocation by Dr. Paul N. Poling of the First Presbyterian church.

Al Louche's, Salem's mayor, will welcome the delegates. The annual meetings of insurance delegates for both the Farmers Union Life Insurance company and the Farmers Union Auto & Casualty company will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Former Governor Charles A. Sprague, publisher of the Oregon Statesman and alternate U.S. delegate to the recent UN general assembly meeting in New York, will address the delegates Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. He will recount some of his experiences at the United Nations.

Other speakers slated include Arnold Bodtker, state PMA, chairman; Elmer McClure, state Grangemaster; George Brown of the Oregon CIO; J. T. Marr of the AF of L; and Ralph Beck of the Oregon extension service.

President Solberg will speak at the annual banquet to be held at the Knights of Columbus hall, 735 Shipping street, Wednesday evening.

A number of important matters are scheduled to come before the convention. Resolutions will be introduced opposing any changes in Oregon's initiative and referendum system; opposing the surcharge and any changes in the nation's public power policies; and urging that immediate steps be taken to halt the rapid decline in farm prices.

Judges Favor

In the poll made of counties, Senator Rex Ellis gave each county court one vote, even though in most instances several members of the court were present.

Counties favoring the bill included Marion, Benton, Clackamas, Crook, Jackson, Lane, Umatilla and Yamhill counties.

County Commissioner M. James Gleason of Multnomah county refrained from voting, explaining that the other members of the Multnomah county commissioners had not yet expressed themselves on the bill. Same Live High

County Judge George I. McBee of Benton county agreed with members of the committee, that names of children in foster homes should not be made public.

However, he said there were fringe cases, where families in which there were a number of children, obtaining public assistance and living on a higher scale than employed neighbors.

Both County Judge Wallace R. Telford and Commissioner Stan Skoko favored the bill, although they reserved the right to suggest several amendments.

Neighbors Could Aid "I believe that this bill would enable neighbors of welfare recipients to report cases to the welfare commission where welfare grants are not justified," said Skoko.

Judge Telford contended that the taxpayers are entitled to know where their money is being spent and favored opening all welfare records to public inspection.

Rep. Dave Baum, co-chairman of the meeting, explained that if the bill passed, names of welfare recipients could not be used for commercial or political purposes nor could they be published in a newspaper, as some persons were wont to believe.

Tell of Fraud A number of the county officials present cited specific cases of fraud in their counties, and these officials declared that opening welfare lists to the public would make investigation of welfare cases much easier for officials.

The committee also discussed a bill which would expand the financial responsibility of relatives of welfare recipients by including a brother or sister. This bill revamps the present law, which Rep. Alva Goodrich of Bend, a lawyer, said was cumbersome and difficult to administer.

One of the terms of this bill would enable the public welfare commission to obtain limited information from the state tax commission on tax returns of

Benson Asks Aid of Farmers For Program

Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson called upon farmers Saturday to help him and the congress build strong farm programs requiring a minimum of government price supports.

"Programs must be built with the assistance of farmers and those who are working with them. Let's build strong from the 'grass roots'—the type of program which farmers want—the kind that will not bring serious regrets and disappointments later."

In a speech prepared for the 16th annual National Farm Institute, the secretary sought to assure producers that the Eisenhower administration will do everything possible to bring stability to a farm price decline which, he said, had been inherited from the preceding administration.

Benson said farm markets have become stabilized. He called upon farmers themselves to help keep them stable by making full use of existing price support programs.

Benson assured farmers that he believes in price supports. He pointed out also that he is under oath to give "sound administration" to all price support laws now in effect. He said the present laws "are the combined judgments of our two great political parties."

Blaine McCord

(Continued from Page 1) was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1906, and to the Oklahoma bar in 1907. But in September of that year he came to Oregon and located at Woodburn.

On June 17, 1908, he was married to Edith M. Bouton at Bentwater, Mich., and he was admitted to the Oregon bar November 9, 1909.

McCord had served as a member of the board of governors of the Oregon State Bar. For many years he served Woodburn as city attorney, and also was attorney for the Woodburn school board and the Bank of Woodburn. He was past master of Woodburn lodge No. 106, AF & AM.

He is survived by his wife; by a daughter, Elizabeth Spear of Coos Bay; his mother, Mrs. Seely McCord of Benton Harbor; four sisters, Mrs. Dwight M. Ruth of Benton Harbor, Mrs. Gertrude McCord of New York City, Mrs. C. S. Ronald of Portland, and Mrs. Karl de Schweinitz of Los Angeles; three grandchildren, Susan and Betsy Spear of Coos Bay, and Anne McCord of Arizona. His only son, Blaine, Jr., an air force pilot, was killed April 12, 1943.

Funeral announcements will be made through the Ringo Mortuary of Woodburn.

Back Broken — Harvey D. Weltman, 28, of 4040 Portland road, is in Salem General hospital with a fractured back resulting from a fall from a telephone pole in Woodburn Friday. He fell about 80 feet.

Steel Penetrates Eye — Abe Mehl, 49, Route 2, Dallas, is in Salem General hospital where a splinter of steel was taken from one of his eyes. The metal penetrated his eye when he was driving a wedge into a tree.

relatives of persons on the welfare lists in order to ascertain if truthful statements had been made by the relatives. No action was taken on the bills Saturday.

The new GCP farm chief said he will never be guilty of heading down "ready-made programs," adding: "Programs must be built with the assistance of farmers and those who are working with them. Let's build strong from the 'grass roots'—the type of program which farmers want—the kind that will not bring serious regrets and disappointments later."

Fear Internal

(Continued from Page 1) The Indo-Chinese and German questions will be among the problems hashed over when Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden—scheduled to sail next Tuesday for the United States—meets President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, the informants said.

The British and American chiefs, it was indicated, will talk over confronting France with solid Anglo-American support for West Germany's participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization if the six-nation army project founds. France turns Salky

France drew up the plans for the unified defense force but the French parliament lately has shown signs of backing at ratifying the pact that would return Germany—her traditional enemy.

The Eden - Eisenhower - Dulles talks also will aim at a joint approach to France's long fight against the communist-led Viet-minh rebels in Indochina, the sources said. The conference will attempt to link this war with Britain's battle in Malaya and the United Nations' fight in Korea.
