

Resolution to Condemn Reds Being Worked Out

By JACK BELL

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported trying today to bring the State Department and Congress together on the wording of a resolution to condemn Russian enslavement of Iron Curtain peoples.

The President was said to have overruled the contention of Secretary of State Dulles that a pending resolution to do that is satisfactory just as it stands. Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, has said he wants the measure revised to make it clear that Congress, in criticizing what Eisenhower has called Kremlin perversion of World War II Big Three agreements, is not affirming the understandings.

The President was said to have directed Dulles at a White House conference with legislative leaders to get together with the chairmen of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees on new wording.

The Senate committee scheduled a session today to consider proposed amendments. The House committee already has approved the proposed resolution in the form in which Dulles submitted it, so any changes there probably would have to come through amendments from the floor.

Democrats generally had indicated they would protest against any effort by the Republicans to repudiate the Big Three agreements. Sen. Gillette (D., Ia.) however, told reporters he has proposed that all reference to the World War II agreements be stricken from the resolution.

"We can express our concern over the Soviets' enslavement of peoples in Europe without any reference to the agreements," he said. "As far as I am concerned, I won't vote for the resolution in its present form."

The Senate committee's inquiry into the agreements themselves produced closed-door testimony yesterday from Charles Chip Bohlen, nominated as ambassador to Russia, generally defending the action of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt in reaching understanding with Russia's Premier Stalin.

Bohlen charged the Soviets with treaty violations—an accusation some thought the Russians might seize upon to withdraw their tentative welcome to him as U. S. representative to Moscow.

As reported by Chairman Wiley (R., Wis.) Bohlen testified the map of Europe would be the same even if the agreements hadn't been reached. Bohlen served as Roosevelt's interpreter at Yalta and Tehran.

Wiley gave this version of Bohlen's testimony: Poland was in the hands of Russia at the time of the Yalta conference and the question then was "whether we should recognize the control or try to mitigate it in some way."

At Yalta the Russians agreed to free elections in Poland and other countries. Bohlen reportedly said it was not the language of the agreements, but Russian violation of them, that has caused trouble.

"I find it difficult to believe that these agreements were so favorable to Russia when Russia has found it in her interest to violate them openly and continuously," Wiley quoted him as saying. "But the alternative was

Cottage Grove Baby Tested in Heart Case

Philadelphia (AP) — Little Rose Ann Sweeney, 11-month-old Cottage Grove, Ore., girl born with a faulty heart, was reported ready today for tests which may determine whether the condition can be corrected surgically.

Doctors in Portland gave her only five years to live, but then her parents learned that a Philadelphia surgeon had invented a mechanical heart which might permit the delicate operation. She was brought here in weakened condition last month.

Now attendants say Rose Ann has been built up to a point of strength nutritionally where doctors can begin more strenuous functional tests on her. A conclusive diagnosis will have to await results of these tests, a spokesman said.
