Peck Avenue — The county court has approved Peck avenue as to its physical requirements for improvement under the provisions of the Bancroft act. The county surveyor will now make a check of the signatures on the petition asking for the improvement and then determine the cost of the project. Morning-side street, which intersects Peck avenue is now being processed for surfacing and it is probable bids for both projects will be asked at the same time.

Parents Night Friday — Richmond Parent-Teacher association will have parents night Friday night from 7:30 to 1 at Richmond school. The purpose is to raise money for the budget, and it will be an evening of games. Whatever the game is pinocle, bridge, canasta, Chinese checkers, or what not — bring your table, equipment and friends, is the word that has gone out. You also are advised to bring your own snack, but coffee will be served.

Helm to Convention — Wendell Helm will attend the convention of the American Society of Piano Technicians to be held in San Francisco March 5 and 6. He will make the trip by plane.

Driver Fined — Michael William Sprinkle, Lebanon, was fined $250 and jailed in lieu of payment Wednesday by municipal court Judge Douglas Hay on a charge of driving while his drivers license was revoked. Sprinkle told officers that his license has been revoked twice in the past year.

High Honors In Recruiting

Salem's army and air force recruiting office has taken top honors in recruiting for the month of February and Sgt. John Gilley, U.S. army, Salem recruiter during the month tied with a Portland recruiter as top recruiter in the district.

Gilley enlisted 39 of the 65 men signed to duty during the month of February. Tying with him from Portland was Sgt. Louis Nemeck. There is one other recruiter in the Salem office, Tech. Sgt. William Vanderpoll, air force.

The district including the Salem station during February signed 500 men for duty. The Salem station to take top honors in the recruiting for the month had 245 per cent of its quota for the regular army and 163 per cent of its quota for the air force.

The large group of air force enlistees depleted the waiting list for that branch of the service so much that men now have an opportunity to get into that branch of the service much sooner, Gilley said Wednesday.

City police apprehended four of them later and a cab driver later reported he took two girls to Portland who answered descriptions of the missing pair.

Van Fleet Says

 Later, Van Fleet endorsed by inference one of the pronouncements by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who was fired by former President Truman as Far Eastern commander.

Rep. Cunningham (R., Iowa) asked: "There is no substitution for victory in Korea?" MacArthur's words.

Van Fleet: "Not in my opinion." Van Fleet, who is home for retirement, testified for an hour and a half at a public session of the House committee. Then the committee went into a closed session to hear more details which could not be brought out in public for security reasons.

The general, in declaring a military victory could be won without enlarging the war, said that was his "personal opinion" but that he would have to withhold his reasons for that view until his closed meeting.

During a general discussion of the situation in Korea, Van Fleet said there is no serious supply shortage but that replacement of men is not satisfactory either in numbers or quality of troops.

Van Fleet called the present war situation of stabilized lines a "sit-down of our own choice." Rep. Vinson (D., Ga.) asked the former Korean commander "if an offensive is launched, wouldn't that be broadening the war?"

"Not necessarily," replied the general. "That's my opinion. It would not."

Warning Heard By Dumpers

Spring housecleaners and other individuals who persist in dumping their garbage along county roads had better be prepared to pay the penalty, Sheriff Denver Young warned this week.

The usual spring rash of garbage dumping is beginning and deputy sheriffs are investigating as many of them as possible, Young said.

So far one man has been fined $50 and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence conditional on his cleaning up the garbage, a warrant is out for another man, and several other cases are under investigation.

Some of the incidents are taking place in areas plainly marked against dumping refuse, Young stated. He noted Madrona avenue south of Salem where a county bulldozer cleared the area recently and "No Dumping" signs were erected, only to have several more piles of garbage dumped there in the last month.

It is a lot cheaper to take the garbage to the city or county dump than to have to pay the maximum penalty of $100 or 30 days in the county jail, in addition to cleaning up the mess, Young added.

More Property Is Transferred

Transfer of Lot 6, Block 67, except 70 feet of the easterly portion of the property, has been made to the Salem Title company by the Veterans Living Memorial Building association, according to records of the county recorder's office.

The lot is located on the northeast corner of the Marion and Church street intersection. The transaction is one of a series consummated in recent weeks in and around the school administration office building. A nominal sum of $10 was recorded.

The property involved in the deal is the lot on which the Veterans Living Memorial Association started to construct a building a few years ago. Financial difficulties were encountered and the project was dropped after the basement walls had been completed.

Since then damage suits have been instituted by factions involved in the project.

Hit-Run Driver Kills Woman

Aberdeen (AP) — An Aberdeen woman died of a brain injury Tuesday night and Police Chief Pat Gallagher said she apparently was the victim of a hit-run driver.

The woman was Mrs. Maybelle Lehto, 43. She died in a hospital shortly after being found lying in a downtown street. Gallagher said an unidentified person telephoned police that a woman had fallen and injured herself. But when police arrived they found the woman apparently had been "hit by a car or truck."

Relatives of Mrs. Lehto include a daughter, Miss Gale Pickens of Portland; a brother, Clyde Wunder of Independence, Ore., and a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Marsters, of Dallas, Ore.

No New Report

"Comrade J. V. Stalin had a sudden hemorrhage of the brain which affected vitally important parts of the brain, as a result of which paralysis of the right leg and right arm occurred, together with the loss of consciousness and speech," the eight attending physicians announced.

They added that treatment had brought no material change in the condition of their patient, and "the degree of the disturbed functions of the brain has somewhat increased."

Balancing

and miscellaneous revenues are expected to total $42,432,444.77 and in addition the statement shows a surplus as of June 30, 1933, of $39,644,241.

Total requirements from the general fund included in the report total $198,076,686.62 with total requirements listed as $188,462,390.

The total requirements do not include the board of control's building fund of $6,772,000, the building program recommended by the board of higher education of $9,455,000. Neither does it make any provision for pay increases recommended by the civil service commission of $425,000 for more than 3,300 state employees who were by-passed in a wage increase last fall.

General Fund Appropriations
 In addition bills have been introduced calling for general fund appropriations in excess of $10,300,000. Major items in this total are forest fire cost fund, $500,000; constitutional convention, $250,000; domiciliary hospital near Portland, $3,035,000; public school building account, $4,000,000, and war veterans bonus extension, $1,069,503.

The Central Committee of the Communist party and the Soviet Union's Council of Ministers — both headed by Stalin — said his absence from duty would be "more or less prolonged." But they called his withdrawal temporary, and urged the 200 million people of the Soviet Union to "display the greatest unity and... redouble their energies in building communism."

Sen. Dean Walker who presided at the Wednesday general meeting in place of Rep. Henry Semon who is ill, said that two years ago the legislature utilized all surpluses available to balance the budget and it was expected at that time that the present legislature would be faced with no surplus whatever. However, he said, increased income tax receipts provided a surplus of $39,000,000.

"We now face the same situation but before we become too alarmed let us remember that there may be an unanticipated surplus available when the legislature meets two years from now," Sen. Walker said.

Civil Rights

The committee members voting for it were Chairman Paul Geddes, Roseburg; and Warren McMinimee, Tillamook; Frederick S. Lamport, Salem; Stewart Hardie, Condon; and Dean Bryson, Portland.

Butler's job includes counting the bonds, checking the coupons on each individual document and then recording them in a large book, 75 to a page. The date of issue, time when due and the amount of money involved in each coupon must be recorded. Then when they are paid, this too is made a matter of record. Eventually the bonds and coupons, when cancelled find their way back to the school clerk.

The treasurer must sign all of the bonds to make them legal. When all of the enumerated tasks have been completed, Butler will visit Portland where he will make delivery and receive a check $1,500,000, minus $30,000 deposited by the successful bidder.

Incidentally the new school is now in the process of construction. More millions in bonds must be issued by the time the job is completed.

If everything goes according to schedule the debt will be liquidated in 1973.
