TELE-VIEWS Radio-Television By DAVE BLACKMER

Of interest to many readers is that KSLM is starting daily operation till 1 a.m. every night except Sunday. There are many shift workers, teen-agers, party-givers, etc., who want good music after midnight when most other stations are off the air. KSLM is Salem's only fulltime, 1,000 watts network station.

They started operating un-til 1 o'clock last Friday night.
I Love Lucy

The most talked-about program on television. Lucy and her zannie antics keep Desi, her husband, in a continual whirl. They are seen on Monday nights at 9.

CBS Radio and Television Comedian Jack Benny will play a three-week engage-ment at the Curran Theater, San Francisco, starting April I Love Lucy 21. Benny and Louis R. Lurie, owner of the theater, signed contracts over the week-end for the comedian to take over Congressman Donald Jackson has authorized television coverage of the House un-American Activities Committee hearings scheduled to begin in Los Angeles Monday, March 23. Jackson will be chairman of the subcommittee which will hold hearings on communism in the entertainment industries in Hollywood.

Theater at 8: "Letter for the Queen." Soldier intercepts a letter which incriminates Queen of France as a traitor. Queen's adversaries plot against him and while he fights valiantly for the Queen's name he plays right into the enemies' hands.

Voice of Firestone at 8.30. Hilde Gueden, Vienese coloratura soprano will be guest. She will sing "I Give My Heart",

'Quel Guardo II Cavaliere' and "Yesterdays". I Love Lucy at 9. Ricky accidentally gives Lucy a shiner and Fred and Ethel think they are having a family "tiff", and intercede with black-eyed results.

Robert Montgomery Playhouse at 10 stars Diana Lynn "Dinah, Kip and Mr. Barlow" story of three people trying for the same job in an advertising agency and how love complicates things.

Nite Owl Theater at 11:30. "Larceny on the Air". Rob-ert Livingston, Grace Bradley, Willard Robertson.

He Really Was Horrified

Long Beach, Calif. (F)-Police were skeptical of Ray E. Reed's stotry that a woman held him at gunpoint, then danced in the nude among the tombatones of a grave-yard in the moonlight.

But, checking on Reed's in-formation, they found it was all too true.

Reed saw a pretty brunette in a stalled car and went to her rescue. But she displayed a gun and advised him: "Be a good little boy and you won't be hurt."

She marched him to the Loma Vista cemetery and there did her dance. When she Loma finished she told the 24-year-old Reed he could leave. "I was horrified, and I left hurriedly."

Officers traced the car's owner through license plates but Reed declined to prosecute. The woman said only that she was "celebrating."
