Stayton Girl IOOF Winner

Marjorie Prichard, 15-year-old Stayton high school sophomore, won the Odd Fellows United Nations pilgrimage contest here last night, which means a trip to New York for her next summer with several hundred other youngsters from all over the United States.

Marjorie won over five other contestants. An audience of about 125 persons heard the extemporaneous talks in the lodge room of Chemeketa lodge, and the judges read the essays upon which 60 percent of the grading was based. The winner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Prichard.

Named alternate was Lorraine Owens of Gervais. The other contestants, who had won in local competitions previously, were Agnes Scott, Independence-Monmouth; Bill Phillips, Dallas; Richard Lovel, Mill City, and Kay Ruberg, Salem.

The contestants spoke at a tour of the state capitol building during the afternoon. The essays were written on "What the United Nations Means to Me."

Judges were Walter W. Foster, Dallas; George Veteto, Mill City; Larry Morgan, Mehama; Mark Sayre, Monmouth, and Bernard Mainwaring, Salem.

Del Downey, who was chairman of the contest in this area, presided. Harley Looney, who accompanied the young pilgrims to the U. N. last year, described his experiences, as did David Nettling, Stayton, who went from the area.

Motion pictures of the 1952 pilgrimage were shown and refreshments served after adjournment.

Seek State-Wide Curfew for Juveniles

A state-wide curfew from midnight to 6 a.m. for children under 18 years of age would be provided in a bill introduced Tuesday by the house social welfare committee.

The bill, which would not apply to cities or counties having their own curfew regulations, would prohibit children from being out at those hours unless accompanied by adults.

For the first violation, an offender would be taken home. After that, he would go to court and face a possible 30 fine.

Henry Cabell Gives $100,000 to Reed

Portland (AP)—Reed college reported Tuesday that Henry F. Cabell had given the college $100,000.

There are no strings attached, Duncan S. Ballantine, Reed president, said. He added that no decision had been made on what would be done with the money. The last gift of that size, in 1930 from Eric Hauser, was used to build the college library.

Cabell, member of the State Board of Higher Education, and former chairman of the Oregon State Highway Commission, is president of Reed's board of trustees.

Lebanon Seeks Cash Burglar

Lebanon—City police this week are investigating a break-in at the Blue Creek lumber company at Fourth and Tangent streets where $100 is reported missing.

It is thought that entry early Monday was gained through a rear window. The money was taken from the manager's office and includes 18 rolls of dimes having a value of $90 and 10 one dollar bills.

Overlooked was a considerable amount of other small change and currency.

Another burglary was reported at the Francis Fox home at 320 Berry st., which occurred during daylight hours last Wednesday morning. Missing is $25 in currency and silver.

Stanley Steamers Whistles Permitted

If there are any Stanley Steamers still running under their own power, they soon will be able to pass a team of horses without having to stop.

Capital Journal, Salem, Ore., Wed., March 11, 1953—13

They also will be allowed to cross bridges and culverts without their operators having to lay down planks, and their whistles will be permitted to toot inside cities and towns.

A bill to repeal those 50-year-old laws was on Gov. Patterson's desk Tuesday after the Senate passed it.
