Rotary Told Navy Progress

Electronics developments in the navy are "beyond belief," Commander Robert Tomlinson, public relations officer for the 13th naval district, told Rotary club members today at the Marion hotel.

A radio station located at Arlington, northwest of Seattle, can send messages to ships as far off as the Indian ocean, and is a problem to the population for miles around because of its immense power, the speaker said.

The navy has also made great progress with guided missiles, which have been kept under wraps in the Korean war as a "Sunday punch" to be thrown when it has to be, Commander Tomlinson explained.

"Push-button warfare isn't here yet, but the navy has come a long way," he declared. Tomlinson said the navy has moved 50,000,000 barrels of petroleum products and 20,000,000 tons of supplies to Korea and has hauled more ammunition in the first two years of this war than in all World War II.

Cobe Grabenhorst introduced the speaker. Reynolds Allen, vice-president, presided. Elton Thompson, former Klamath Falls Rotarian, was introduced as a new member here.

The Ainu of Northern Japan are believed to be descendants of the primitive Neolithic inhabitants of the country.

Burma Says U.S. Burglars Aids Guerrillas

Rangoon, Burma, (AP)—Defense Minister Ba Swe said Wednesday the Burmese government has conclusive proof "a few Americans" have been active in training and arming Chinese Nationalist guerrillas now fighting Burma's Army near this country's borders with Communist China and Thailand.

But the defense minister took pains to say in an interview there is no proof the Americans are agents of the U. S. government and added: "I think the United States government is anxious to take the necessary steps to cause the surrender and eviction of Kuomintang Chinese Nationalist troops from Burma." Ba Swe, one of the top men in Burma's anti-Communist government, is the first Burmese official to go on public record as saying Americans are involved in the mysterious supply of arms to an estimated 12,000 Nationalist guerrillas who have been organizing in the remote, mountainous border area.

Range and Pasture On Plains Said Bad

Denver (AP)—Range and pasture conditions in the eastern Rockies and Central Plains on March 1 were the poorest as of that date since 1937, the Department of Agriculture reported today.

The USDA, in its western livestock and range report, said that western ranges and pastures had a short supply of old feed, and that there was a shortage of soil moisture to start new grass. Only in Oregon were range and pasture conditions above the 10-year 1942-51 average.

Russia Grilled

While Assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada, gavelled for order, Lodge reminded Gromyko that "the U. S. army you seek to smear is the same U. S. army which stood beside the Russian army to defeat the Nazis in Europe."

Lodge told Gromyko that "the U. S. army was good enough for you in 1942, 1943, 1944 and 1945. It would be the same today had not the policies of the Soviet government so tragically changed."

Earlier Eden told the Assembly that it was in nobody's interest that World War II should break out.

Wholesale Food Prices Unchanged

New York (AP)—Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, remained at $6.28 this week—unchanged from a week ago. The figure is the highest reached by the index this year.

In the same week a year ago, the index stood at $6.58 — 4.6 per cent above this week's figure.

SUBMITTY MEETING
Sublimity—The St. Boniface high parents association will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, March 12, at 8 p.m. in the club rooms. The athletic banquet will be discussed.

The British statesman said that "with the growing strength of the West there is no reason why it should break out."

He called for support of the United Nations as a "world meeting place" where opposing forces can get together and try to settle their differences without war.

Edon called on the Communist world to agree to the Indian Korean plan which the Assembly adopted last December. This plan would permit Red prisoners who don't want to go home to stay behind. He recalled that former Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky had said the prisoner question was the only issue preventing an armistice.

In all of the building entries, desk and cabinet drawers were gone through and papers scattered about but nothing was taken, they reported. Apparently, they were only after money and found none.

Reject Salary

The La Grande representative also declared that under the proposed integrated federal security and state retirement systems, contributions of state employees for retirement would be materially reduced, increasing their take home pay, and in addition, the state workers would get additional benefits under the new plan.

Sen. Dean Walker, co-chairman of the joint committee, ran into a brick wall when he suggested that the state interagency committee and interim committees be prevented from making junkets.

Sen. Walker proposed a standard clause in all bills authorizing state-expense trips empowering the director of finances to refuse the trip if he considered it a junket.

"The 11 western states meet in Palm Springs and Timberline lodge, Walker said, "and I don't think those places are the proper ones in which to hold such meetings."

No Hands Raised
When Sen. Walker called for a show of hands on his suggestion, not a solitary hand was raised. Then Sen. Belton suggested that some curb be placed on travels of legislative interim committees.

But discussion of this subject was delayed when Rep. Alva Goodrich of Bend declared: "We'll accept the idea for future study."

U.S. Pilots

The committee approved a bill which permits political subdivisions to receive civil defense equipment under the same terms as the state and cities and counties. The government pays 50 per cent of the cost, the state 25 and the cities or counties pay the remaining 25 per cent.

Sen. Gibson objected to the bill, declaring that he would like to have the entire law repealed. "This is just another grab," he said. "We talk about federal spending but we grab all we can get from the government."

8 Ex-cabinet

of money in payment for annual leave accrued at the time the officials left government service.

"Unquestionably," the subcommittee said, "a great many of the persons involved accepted cash for their accrued annual leave in the conviction that they were taking only what was due them."

"But the facts are that Congress never intended that accrued leave be settled on a cash basis. The intent was to follow the established business practice of improving employee morale and efficiency by providing adequate vacation periods. The civil service ruling putting such cash payments into effect is, in our opinion, a violation of the intent of Congress."

Informed sources in Washington said that while officials were taking the firmest attitude toward Czechoslovakia, no consideration was being given to breaking diplomatic relations with Prague.

U.S. Pilots

The Prague version was that the American jets had penetrated 25 miles inside Czechoslovakia, and had been intercepted by Czech planes.

Prague said a fight took place and one American plane was struck by Czech bullets. The communist version said the crippled jet crossed back into Germany with flames pouring from its fuselage.

U. S. Pilots Fired No Shots
The American pilots—Lt. Warren C. Brown of Henderson, Colo., and Lt. Donald C. Smith of Marysville, O., said they did not fire at the Czech MIGs. Asked why, they replied they would rather not answer the question.

But the Air Force spokesman said later the only reason the Americans did not return the MIG fire was because they had no chance—the intruders vanished so quickly after the shooting.

Informed sources in Washington said that while officials were taking the firmest attitude toward Czechoslovakia, no consideration was being given to breaking diplomatic relations with Prague.

Most probable lines of action appeared to be demands on the Czechs for an apology and cash indemnity for loss of the plane. The American pilots suffered no serious injuries.
