Cuban heavyweight champion Nino Valdez in an uproarious 10-rounder that had the spectators standing in the final round.

But today he took a plane for Spokane, Wash., and a Tuesday engagement, no nearer to a big money bout than ever before Archie's next opponent is Al Spaulding and the chances are that the hard-hitting champ will add him to his hit parade, but again for a small purse.

"We are going to try to smoke out Jack Hurley," Moore's manager, Charlie Johnston, said after the fight. against his boy Harry Mat-thews."

Moore, a veteran campaigner who fought all comers for 16 years copped the title from Joey Maxim last December only after he agreed to take the short end of the purse. And he has not had a big payday since.

Last night he gave a national television audience a glimpse of the form that keeps the name fighters shying away from him. He clouted Valdez from bell to bell in spite of giving away 29 ½ pounds, five inches in reach and eight years. The 36 - year - old Moore weighed 180, Valdez
