eral Motors stock by the end of this month, and democratic senators are planning to ask him exactly how and to whom he sold it. . . . Senators Hendrickson of New Jersey and Kefauver of Tennessee have launched an important study of the rising rate of juvenile delinquency in the U.S. More than 1,000,000 children each year now get in trouble with the police, and the senators want to discover some way to halt these youthful tragedies. . . . The United States senate, "most exclusive gentlemen's club in the world," proved that gentlemen prefer blondes last week when Dagmar visited the capitol as the guest of doughty democratic Sen. Matt Neely of West Virginia. The nation's business virtually came to a halt as Neely's covetous colleagues, led by GOP Sen. Gene Millikin of Colorado, stampeded off the floor to meet the curvaceous television star. . . . Proudest office trophy of GOP congressman "Pat" Kearney of New York is the last U.S. flag that flew over Paris when Nazi troops entered in June, 1940. . . . Kearney, former VFW national commander, helped hoist the flag in 1937 over Legion hall, Paris headquarters of the Legion and VFW. . . . When the Nazis invaded the city three years later, the hall's caretaker refused their commands to take down the flag until the American embassy ordered him to do so rather than risk an insulting incident. Kearney now has the flag in his office.

Pleads Innocent—Herman O. Vigeland, Route 2, Silverton, pleaded innocent in municipal court Friday to a charge of drunk driving. He was arrested by city police Wednesday night. He was held in lieu of $250 bail pending trial.

Matter of Signs—The county court is expected to make a decision in the near future concerning its road sign policy. Matt Kuenzi, assistant engineer, reported to the court Friday that he had been making some experiments in the use of so-called beaded signs. He said that the reflection from this type of sign was good when viewed from an angle. However, it was his opinion that the direct reflection was little better than from the ordinary sign. Use of Scotch tape reflector type of signs has been restricted to some extent because of the expense involved.

Guns Taken—The theft of a .22 caliber rifle and a .410 gauge shotgun from a trailerhouse behind the Whittaker Welding works, 3038 Portland road, was reported to city police Wednesday by F. O. Whittaker. The trailer was the home of the late Wayne Baker who died about a month ago.

2 Divisions in Talent Show

Two divisions of talent contestants will be seen in action Friday night, March 20, when the Marine Corps League puts on the annual talent show at Salem High School Auditorium. Herb Johnston, formerly with KSLM, now with KXL in Portland, will be here to serve as master of ceremonies. Cash prizes being offered are generous. For the senior division, children from 12 to 18, the prize list is: First, $50; second, $25; third, $15, and fourth, $10. For the junior division, children from 6 to 12, this is the prize list: First, $15; second, $10; third, $7; and fourth, $5. Proceeds from the contest will go toward the Marines' welfare fund.

Facility Inspection Set Sunday, March 22

Salem's Naval Air Facility and reserve squadrons taking training at the facility will be inspected by officers from the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Seattle, Sunday, March 22. Heading the inspection group, which will fly into here from Seattle Sunday morning will be Comdr. N. L. A. Berger, acting commanding officer of NARTU. Following the inspection there is to be a luncheon for the visiting officers, men from the reserve units and officers stationed at the facility. The inspection will be the second by the Seattle group since the facility was officially established here August 5, 1949. The first inspection of the facility was February 24, 1952, with the inspection group headed by Capt. Robert E. Coombs, Jr., who then was the commanding officer of NARTU.

Liquor-by-Drink

The Senate fixed a schedule of license fees that is lower than the House's proposed fees. While the House provided that clubs should get bottle licenses before they could get a license to sell by the drink, the Senate would allow the clubs to have either club or by-the-drink licenses, or both.

The Senate also added a restriction that there couldn't be more than one drink outlet for each 2,000 population. The House voted to require that the Liquor Commission sell to dispensers at retail prices, but the Senate decided to leave the price matter up to the commission.

The matter of dual licensing was the big item in the debate. Under this system, clubs will be allowed to sell both by the drink, and from the customers' own bottles. Opponents charged it would be impossible to enforce, asserting that club bartenders would sell a customer a drink out of a bottle belonging to somebody else.

The assault on the bill was led by Sen. Jack Bain, Portland, who demanded that all liquor being served be sold by the drink only; and Sen. Eugene Allen, Portland, who wanted to require dispensers to make a choice how they wanted to sell it. Sen. Dean Bryson, Portland, chairman of the Alcohol Committee, declared that there would be about 620 places licensed to sell liquor by the drink. The committee hopes that liquor by the drink will become a reality next month, although the State Liquor Commission indicated it might take until July 1. Senators voting against the bill: Allen; Howard C. Belton, Canby; Phil Brady, Portland; Truman A. Chase, Eugene; Walter C. Giersbach, Forest Grove; Philip S. Hitchcock, Klamath Falls; Robert D. Holmes, Gearhart; Warren McInimie, Tillamook; John C. F. Merrifield, Portland; and Richard L. Neuberger, Portland.

City Budget Bill Provides

Opinion was expressed that first aid activity could be much reduced if the service were confined to cases actually needing first aid, "and not called upon by every woman who burns a finger on the stove or gets a splinter in her hand." There was some talk also of closing and boarding up the westside fire substation, but all members present indicated they would be reluctant to do that. Talk of cutting out fire inspection as a special division and of closing the westside station led to general comment on insurance rates.

There never has been a reduction on residential insurance rates, several members said. And others complained that the industrial rate reductions made public here several months ago were invisible and have brought no general benefit.

"On the other hand," said one member, "they list several million dollars in things that are exempt from reductions." No members of the non-council wing of the budget committee were present today. The whole committee will meet Monday night to elect a chairman and possibly set up sub-committees to study various activities and departments. At that time it may also be decided whether a special committee on salaries will be appointed.

Gasoline Fire Sears House at Albany

Albany—Gasoline in which a plastic tile worker was cleaning his hands on a construction job Thursday became ignited and inflicted first degree burns on him besides causing from $1000 to $1500 damage to a house. Burns were sustained by John Fluett, who was washing tile mastic, used in affixing the tile to walls from his hands about 10 feet from a fireplace in which a fire was burning. Fire Chief Don Hayne said later that fumes from the gasoline apparently were ignited from the fireplace. The flames flashed to the gasoline container and spread quickly thence to surrounding paint cans.

Fluett was tiling a bathroom in a house being erected by Dick Sapp in the Lehi addition, on highway 20 east of the city limits.

June Miley of Mill City Wins

Mrs. June Miley, Mill City Toastmistress club, will represent this district in competition held in Eugene in April, as a result of her winning the area contest held in Salem Thursday night. Mrs. Miley's subject was "The Schools — Our Greatest Bargains." In second place and alternate for the Eugene contest was Mrs. Jane Starr of Stayton, whose subject was "A Thought for Tomorrow."

Other contestants and their subjects were Miss Ruth Jaynes of Salem Toastmistress club, "Hurry Up and Wait," and Mrs. Lee Haakins, Chemeketa Toastmistress, Salem, "Teacher, Listen—the Children Speak."

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Edith Mason, Mill City; Robert Forkner, Mrs. Marion Curry and Robert Sederstrom all of Salem.

The contestants were judged on their 10 minute prepared speeches and five-minute impromptu speeches, subjects for which were given them when they were introduced for their speeches.

Additional numbers on the evening's program were by Coralee Daughton and Aimee Girod of Willamette university and Doris Starrett, Jerry Stewart and Jim Fluke, a trumpet trio from Salem high school. Mrs. J. M. Hattley was toastmistress for the contest.

Lebanon Needs Six Teachers

Lebanon — At a joint meeting of Lebanon elementary and union high school boards this week, 75 of the city's 81 instructors were re-elected for the coming year, James W. King superintendent announced. Resignations of six teachers were accepted. These include three in the grades and three in high school. High school instructors not returning this fall include Vinton Snyder, band instructor; Russell Scott, drawing and driver education training director, and William Bishop, biology. Grade teachers leaving the system are Mrs. Adalee Winters, Cascade school; Adela Baker and Alice Franson, Green Acres school. Bishop informed board members he wished to move closer to Eugene. Alice Franson plans to move to Alaska, while Mrs. Adelle Winters has previously sought resignation, which will become effective this Friday. Until the end of the term her post will be filled by Mrs. C. H. Gregory who will serve on a substitute basis. No reasons were given for the other resignations, King stated. Instructors to fill the vacated posts will be sought at an early date, the superintendent said.

Molalla Boy Drowns in Pit

Molalla (P)—Francis Scott Key, 6, drowned Thursday in a water-filled pit which his stepfather had dug near their farm home two miles west of here. Coroner Ray Rillance said the boy's mother, Mrs. Pearl Wright, told him the child disappeared after she had seen him playing near the six-foot-deep, rain-filled pit. Neighbors found the body.

9 Per Cent Rate Lebanon Needs Six Teachers

The public utility commissioner declared further that if he refused the requested increase for lack of an adequate cost separation study, he could be forced to do so under the Interstate Commerce ruling known as Section 13. Under this act the Interstate Commerce commission has power to freeze the entire local freight rate structure and prevent the Oregon commission from awarding Oregon shippers any relief as to unreasonable local rate situations.

"Our invitation of such a result," he concluded, "would be a disservice to the Oregon shipping public." New freight rate tariffs can be filed by the railroads in five days from the date of the order; the commission ruled, in place of the usual 30 day period.
