Michigan State Becomes Third Opponent to Pact

By ED SAINSBURY
Chicage (U.D.— It was teach and gs today whether the Big Ten will renew its Rose Bowling the other two enhouls contract with the Facific Ceast Conference. Michigan State's faculty yesterday voted its faculty yesterday voted the pact in 1951. Both have contract with the Facific Ceast Conference. Michigan State's faculty yesterday voted to sprose renewal of the seven-year-old agreement, which calls for one more game, next Jan 1.

Earlier Minnesota and Wisconsin amounced they would oppose renewal, while Illinois said it would favor continuing the pact.

Michigan State's decision to vote no was a switch from the belief cast by the Spartans two years ago when the original five-year bowl agreement was approved by a vote of 6 to 4, and thus 100 miles to be the week-end. The tournament is far from completed, and the Salem quintet is liable to be situated down the line several notches before the huge bowling affair is ended.
