Joseph Foggi, who has served 25 years of a life sentence in Oregon prison, and who, says Judge Kimmell, shouldn't have been sentenced to over five years.

Prisoner

"The question here is," Judge Kimmell's decision reads, "Did the judge have authority by virtue of any legislative enactment to sentence Joseph Foggi to life imprisonment on the record before him. . . ? In considering this matter, this court adopts the legal premise that the limit of punishment for crime is a matter for legislative and not judicial determination."

"The protection of all persons alike in their possession of the inalienable right to personal liberty, to free access to courts of justice and to due process of law is perhaps the greatest duty of the judiciary — faithful performance of that duty is indispensable to a free government," Judge Kimmell reasons.

Sloper Wednesday after Uentille pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving. His operator's license was suspended for a year. It was Uentille's second such offense in recent months.

Open House Announced — An open house will be held for Kenneth Peterson, new administrator of the Marion County Public Health department, from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday, March 20, in the office at 475 North Church street. Invited are executives from institutions and organizations with which the department deals, including the Marion county welfare commission.

Ways-Means

"Twenty years ago there was no state welfare program" he said. "Not one penny was spent by the state but now we have an overall budget for welfare that totals $69,000,000," he said, "every session of the legislature the budget for welfare increases. We of the sub-committee feel that the bill will be a step to check this increase in welfare expenditures."

Sen. Holmes asked if at a recent public hearing on the bill, was not the majority sentiment against it.

Rep. Dave Baum, a member of the sub-committee declared that the hearing was "stacked by people who are opposed to this kind of legislation."

"There was a lot of misinformation given out at that hearing," Baum continued. "Some people were there to play politics. It is easy to ignore facts and even easier to appeal to emotions."

Careful Study Made Baum said that the committee had made a careful study and produced figures from the social security agency which revealed that after Indiana had passed a similar law, the decreases in the relief rolls were greater than in any other state in the union.

In regard to the law putting teeth in the law requiring sons and daughters of persons on the relief rolls to contribute, if able to do so, the principal change grants the public welfare commission the authority to obtain from the state tax commission amount of gross income such persons have and the number of dependents.

Relatives Fall to Aid Rep. Alva Goodrich of Bend, said that at present the welfare commission is not getting any results from the relatives of welfare recipients. With the added authority granted in the bill Rep. Goodrich said he believed the commission could collect $1,800,000 in the next biennium additional revenue. This, he said, was possible, if

Irish Survive, 'Erin Go Brath'

By MIKE FORBES

Silverton — If it hadn't been for the luck of the Irish the Dinty Moore dinner given by the American Legion Auxiliary at Silverton Tuesday night might have turned out to be a smorgasbord.

But the blessing of St. Patrick, the fortitude of a sprinkling of Irish and tables swayed-backed with corned beef and cabbage withstood the Scandinavian sortie and preserved the reputation of the sons of Erin.

The infiltration became obvious at the start. There were Lindquists, Larsons and Johnsons, Petersons, Andersons and Swensons and one of the first toasts, drunk in coffee, was "Skool to the Vikings."

But the thin green line of Irish was undaunted. There were Powells, Murphys and Francises and perhaps a Donovan and a Kelly somewhere in the background, who stood behind their bunker of Irish delicacies until exhausted and the Scandinavians sated with corned beef and cabbage, pie and other delicacies.

Contributing to the morale of the dauntless defenders were Irish melodies played on a harp, mind you, by Patricia Brandt of Mt. Angel, and huge shamrock cutouts adorned the walls.

Mrs. Ralph Francis was general chairman of the dinner.

The last toast was "Erin go Brath."

only three per cent of the relatives contributed.

There was no opposition in the joint committee against the bill which was also sent to the house for action.

U. S. Protests

"The American embassy at Moscow this morning on instructions from the State Department lodged a vigorous protest with the Soviet Foreign Office against the attack by MIG fighters upon a U. S. Air Force RB-50 in the Bering Sea on March 15.

Text of U. S. Note

"The note sets forth the position of the U. S. plane when attacked about 100 miles north-east of Petropavlovsk and at least 25 miles from the nearest Soviet territory, vigorously protests the action of the Soviet aircraft, states that the government of the United States expects to be informed at an early date of the disciplinary action taken with regard to the Soviet personnel responsible for the attack, and asks for information concerning measures adopted by Soviet authorities to prevent a recurrence of incidents of this kind." It has been made clear here that the U. S. Air Force will continue to fly its missions despite Russia's implied challenge to its use of air space over international waters of the North Pacific.
