

Flaming Dessert Spectacular

So many happy gay little observances can come from the kitchen that mean more to small boys — and those grown all — than anything money can buy! Birthday cakes and holiday color schemes, special occasion dishes, food customs that become family tradition—these are the things that have graying business men reminding on "what Mother used to make" and giving a sigh for the good old days when cooking was a studied art instead of a packaged science.

Sure to be repeated often and well on the way to making tradition is this Flaming Ice Cream Ring which makes of the most commonplace an occasion. This crunchy butter-caramel circle filled high with favorite ice cream is brought to the table a flaming spectacle of beauty as well as goodness. Its pattern reads "easy to do."

Butter-Crunch Ice Cream Ring
For nine-inch ring mold:
¼ cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
½ to ¾ cup chopped pecans
9 cups corn flakes (crushed slightly)

Combine butter and brown sugar in heavy saucepan and heat slowly, stirring constantly. Boil 2 minutes. Add to pecans and cornflakes in buttered bowl. Toss quickly with a fork to coat flakes thoroughly. Press firmly into well-buttered ring mold. Chill.

To serve—loosen with spatula and dip in warm water. Invert on serving plate. Fill with scoops of your favorite flavor of ice cream. A sauce may be served with this.

Flaming Butter-Crunch Ice Cream Ring

For eight-inch ring mold:
¼ cup butter
1½ cups brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans
8 cups corn flakes

To serve aflame:
Place pineapple slices, drained and patted dry with paper toweling on galyx, grape, strawberry or geranium leaves (to protect the plate and add decoration). Other fruit may be added for garnish. Dip quickly a cube of sugar in lemon extract and place in the center of each pineapple ring. Touch a lighted match to each dipped sugar cube and carry to the table—triumphantly!

Cookie Bars Use Mince Meat

Spring isn't too far away but we still have some crisp days, and for these there is no treat like Cookie Bars, rich in energy-giving nutrients. They're delectable to taste, handy to handle, and easy to prepare. Served with coffee, tea or milk, they're just right for all the family.

Mince Meat Cookie Bars
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon milk

1½ cups mince meat, drained
Sift flour. Measure and sift again with baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Add vanilla and milk. Gradually add flour, stirring until well blended. Press ¼ of dough into greased 9x9x2-inch square pan. Spread with mince meat. Roll remaining dough into 8x8x2-inch square. Cut into 12 strips. Place over mince meat lattice fashion. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until browned. Cool. Cut into squares ¾x3 inches. Makes 18 cookies.
