Peg in Washington

BY ALENE (PEG) PHILLIPS

Washington, D.C., March 17

Dear Marian:

Again this past week visitors from Oregon or with Oregon connections have been calling in the office of the Department of the Interior to greet Secretary Douglas McKay. Among them have been Howard Bobbitt, Portland attorney for the state board of medical examiners and a frequent caller at the Capitol at home; Dr. Walter E. Snyder, superintendent of schools in Salem and John E. Taylor of the state department of education in Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark of Corvallis; Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, Portland, well-known to members of the Daughters of the Nile in Salem and a friend of the McKays; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Brown, Albany—he is director of the National Wildlife federation. Accompanying the Browns, Miss Amelia Zuhlsdorf of Albany; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Walrad of Gresham, all here for the federation meeting; Herman Kehrl, executive secretary of the League of Oregon Cities and a frequent Salem visitor; and two friends of a former Salem Zontian, Miss Helen Barrett, in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Pinckney, of Aberdeen, Wash., where Helen and Mrs. Pinckney are associated with the same hotel. Mr. Pinckney was a fellow-Oregon Stater of Secretary McKay in 1917.

From Cottage Grove, the former mayor, Frank Doleman, and Mrs. Doleman, Miss brought greetings to the Secretary. Miss Sallie Peabody, singer with the Fred Waring musical aggregation, a Portland girl, stopped by with some friends, par-

MRS. ROGER K. PUTNAM AND FAMILY

LEAVING SOON for Portland to make their home are the Roger K. Putnam family. Mrs. Putnam and the children, Roger, Jr., Stephen and Marcia, are pictured above.

THE QUEENS' will be the subject of Dr. R. I. Lovell's talk for the Salem Woman's club on Friday. Special guests for the 2 o'clock meeting will be members of the Junior Woman's club.

A program of whistling solos will be presented by Miss Harriett Aller. Her accompanist will be Miss Elizabeth Shields.

Tea chairman is Mrs. Grant C. Rogers. Her committee includes Mrs. S. O. Schlesinger, Mrs. Carl W. Emmons, Mrs. Winifred Pettyjohn, Mrs. Chris Renschler, Mrs. Willis A. Jones, Mrs. Ralph Schlesinger, Mrs. J. Howard Shubert, Mrs. W. B. Showalter, Mrs. Percy R. Kelly and Mrs. J. E. West.

Evelyn deVries circle of the Leslie Methodist church will meet on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. K. Hughes, 3880 Scenic drive. Mrs. L. E. Richter will assist the hostess. Mrs. C. W. Stacey will give a travelogue of her recent trip through the United States and Mexico. Cars will leave the church at 1:15 for those wishing transportation.

Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet at the hall for a social evening on Monday at 8 o'clock.

"This Is the Hour" is the title of a movie to be shown when members of Hadassah meet Monday at 8:30 o'clock at Temple Beth Shalom.

Dr. John R. Goldsmith will address the group on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. Hostesses will be Mrs. Morris Ullman and Mrs. Alvin Ross.

ticularly to thank the McKays for attending the Waring show and Bill Bowes, Jr., son of City Commissioner Bowes, Portland, winding up Air Force service with a visit in the east.

An informal and pleasant coffee-cocktail party for Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Corvallis, was given by her daughter, Miss Ethel Johnson, on Sunday at the latter's apartment in Kew Gardens on Que Street. Among the Oregonians in the final half hour were Congressman and Mrs. Homer D. Angell, Miss Genevieve Cooper, and Miss Grace Townsend.

The first lightning and thunder storm of the spring hit during that period and the comment was that a similar storm could be expected almost daily at 4:30 p.m. when summer starts.

The weather Sunday delayed the McKays' departure for the Virgin Islands from the scheduled time of noon until 9:30 p.m. as both New York and Washington airports were having difficulty. This meant an overnight stop at Miami but this morning they were on their way again to the Islands.

I have more inspiration than usual to write to you tonight, Marian, as the envelope with all the friendly and much appreciated notes from the Zontians of Salem arrived today. So many of them mentioned reading these Capital Journal letters and thought I if that many busy people take time to read my ramblings, what better incentive could I have.

Sincerely,

Peg.

Spring blooms and candlelight decorated the church for the service. Lighting the candles were Misses Glenna Parks of Albany and Rean Fletcher of Salem. Both wore yellow organdy frocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin W. Potter sang, Jean Hobson Rich playing the organ. In White Dress

The bridal dress, floor length, was of white nylon lace and tulle over satin worn with a long-sleeved lace jacket which was styled with Peter Pan collar, the sleeves edged with tiny pearls. The dress had a deep plenum of the same lace. For her flowers the bride carried pale pink feathered carnations and stephanotis with white orchids in the center. Mr. Simpson gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Freida Carlson of Portland was honor attendant. She wore an orchid lace and net over taffeta dress.

Miss Elaine Peterson of Sherwood and Miss Kathleen Wilkes of Salem were the bridesmaids. Both wore identical frocks of aqua lace and tulle over taffeta.

Grant Mills of Salem was best man. Ushers were Douglas Nelson of Canby, Ralph Miller of Portland and Albert Miller of Redmond, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Simpson wore a dusty rose dress with navy blue and white accessories, and a corsage of pink rosebuds and violets.

Reception Follows

The reception was in the Carrier room of the First Methodist church following the service. Yellow and orchid were the theme for the reception decorations, the table set with yellow candles and nosegays of violets and spring blossoms. Mrs. W. Lester Hunsperger, aunt of the bride, cut the cake; and pouring were Mrs. Marvin Simpson, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Robert Anderson, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Henry Lutz, aunt of the bride. Assisting were Miss Alta Hadley, Miss Elaine Irwin, Miss Jean Forbes, Miss Darlene Gortmaker, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mrs. Grant Mills.

For going away the bride wore a navy blue suit with pink and navy accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Following a trip to northern Washington, the couple will be at home in Veterans Village, Monmouth, both attending Oregon College of Education.

Some Notations . . .

By M.L.F.

The party of parties for the legislature; the "clambake of clambakes for the session"—in other words, the second biennial "Timber Party" put on by senators and representatives from counties in the fourth congressional district was a big success Friday night at the American Legion club . . . More than 400 turned out for the event, including all members of the senate and the house and their wives, state officials and their wives, secretaries and clerks in both houses, the press, and many from the lumber industry assisting in arranging the affair . . . It was the big jollification party of the session . . . For this affair, political differences, issues and all their problems were forgotten, and everyone let down and had one swell time . . . It was a costume affair for a good majority attending—red hats, plaid and red shirts, and typical logger's outfits for the men; gingham, prints and sports attire for the ladies . . .

Using a lumber industry term, the party was dubbed the "Second Setting" of the Timber Party . . . The committees in charge put in hours fixing up for the event . . . Two huge logging trucks were arranged in front of the entrance, the long poles used with them forming a bower as it were for guests to pass under to get in the door . . . Fir boughs and trees decked the hall throughout . . . Huge axes befitting Paul Bunyan, legendary hero of the lumber industry; miniature trees on the tables, and signs galore featured the decorations . . . "Defousing" crews were on hand as guests entered the "timber," each one receiving a good sprinkling from hand sprayers operated by the host group—you just didn't guess or worry about contents of the spray . . . The hosts wore little badges reading "bull cooks," others "skid greasers," others, "whistle punks." . . . One sign informed that the door beneath led to the "Spruce Budworm Station," another over the kitchen door read "Ulcer Gulch," and there were many more of them, but then for this writing we better skip some of them . . .

For costume honors we would nominate Marion county's dignified Senator Frederick S. Lamport—his bright orange wig (and he insisted he had spent hours trying to comb his hair) and a set of horsey teeth would give one the shudders . . .

Entertainment included numbers by the famous Swiss Family Fraumbelder from Hood River; songs by a barber-shop quartet; community singing led by Senator Paul Geddes of Roseburg; and dancing, there being an orchestra for the dance . . .

The supper was buffet, the long table set up in the south dining room . . . The secret of what happened to Paul Bunyan's Babe the Blue Ox was revealed—it was all a lot of bologna, and sure enough it was, a super huge bologna gracing a special table . . .

Among chairmen for the party getting special mention: Representative Loran Stewart, Cottage Grove; Senator Paul Geddes, Roseburg; Representative Robert Root, Medford; Mrs. Root, Mrs. Gene Brown, wife of Senator Gene Brown of Grants Pass; Representative John Amacher of Winchester, and many others . . .

Among special guests: Governor and Mrs. Paul L. Patterson; Secretary of State and Mrs. Earl T. Newberry; State Treasurer Sigrid B. Unander; Attorney General and Mrs. Robert Y. Thornton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Helzelt; Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Dorman; Max Landon, former state representative from Linn county, and Mrs. Landon, over from Sweet Home; Dr. and Mrs. Ned Fowler of Astoria; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Marsh of McMinnville, the former the twin brother of Senate President Eugene Marsh; Dr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Purvine; Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Malson; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bown . . .

Meeting at 8 o'clock Wednesday at the Scottish Rite temple will be Cherry court, Order of Amaranth. Election of officers will highlight the business meeting.

In charge of the coffee hour are Mr. and Mrs. George Maurer, chairmen, Dr. and Mrs. C. Ward Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Evert Givens.
