Brooks

Brooks—Mrs. Willard Ramp entertained the Brooks garden club with a 1 o'clock pot luck lunch, serving 14 members and one guest, Mrs. R. G. Hocking. During the business meeting the club accepted the invitation to attend the Mt. Angel primrose show. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sidebottom. At that time there will be a plant sale and the discussion will be on dividing perennials.

The new order, which goes into effect April 15, will allow the 3.8 milk to sell for 22 cents, the same price that regular milk now sells for.

Four percent milk will drop from 24 to 23 cents a quart and 4 percent fluid from 28 to 24 1/2 cents a quart.

The board also granted an optional store differential at 1/2-cent a quart on two-quart sales.

Board members said the optional store differential was granted in response to a long-standing popular demand. There has been no differential between milk bought in stores and home delivered since 1935.

It was indicated by board members that the price reductions and increased butterfat content were made possible by producers who at their February hearing here said they wanted a better product to go to the public at no extra cost.

Morse Changes Mind And Won't Join Demos

Washington (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ind., Ore.), who bolted the Republican party last fall, has changed his mind about moving to the Democratic side of the Senate—for the time being, at least.

Morse told the Senate Friday his decision to "stay put" was prompted by a "completely unfounded" published report that his intended switch to the Democratic side was due to his not being able "to take it any longer."
