

Local Paragraphs

Toastmasters Elect — Paul Frederick was elected president of Salem Toastmasters club at a meeting Tuesday night at The Spa. Lloyd Hamel was elected vice president, Dr. Ray Pinson secretary treasurer, Robert Collins assistant secretary-treasurer, James Calvert sergeant-at-arms, and Sidney Schlesinger educational executive. Officers are elected for six months. Installation will be Tuesday night, April 7, at The Spa.

Baseball Pictures — Motion picture highlights of the 1952 world series baseball games will be shown during Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Salem Lions club, Deke Walker, business manager for the Salem Senators, will be in charge.

Basel Returns — Sgt. Richard F. Basl, Route 1, Stayton, is among those marines from Oregon due to arrive in San Francisco Wednesday aboard the transport Gen. J. C. Breckenridge. The men are returning from Korea.

Zone Meeting Tonight — The third in a series of public hearings held on the new Salem zoning code will be held Wednesday night at Leale Junior High school. It will be for people living south of Mission street and west of the Southern Pacific main line. Next Wednesday night a similar meeting will be held at Mayflower hall in north Salem and the following Thursday night at City Hall.

Square Dancing — The beginners class in American square and round dancing which opened at the YMCA last week and will continue until June is still open to registration. Classes are held each Wednesday night from 7:30 to 8:45 and partners are not necessary. Lucy Wilson, considered one of the best instructors in the folk dancing field, will be in charge.

Rhode Returning — Sgt. Lloyd H. Rhode, 286 South 16th street, Salem is among the Army veterans, returning port Gen. Mark L. Hersey. The ship is due to dock in San Francisco Thursday.

Chiropractor

(Continued from Page 1) operating room, his file of patients and some other papers for examination.

At the time of his arrest, Smith stated that never in his 22 years of treating female disorders has he performed an abortion.

"Many cases have come to me who had been going to druggists," he said, "and I saved these girls from going to the hospital."

At least 15 girls had been sent to him by doctors, he stated but declined to answer any questions about the doctors, commenting, "The girls told me they were sent by doctors... of course I don't really know."

The indictment against him charged that Smith had used drugs and instruments with the intent to destroy the unborn child of the woman... the measures not being necessary to preserve the life of the woman. The incident supposedly took place on February 13.

The tall, white-haired chiropractor said he was innocent of the charge and said he was willing to face it.

He said he had been practicing as a chiropractor in Woodburn for the past four years and previously had practiced in Dallas for another 21 years. He received his chiropractic degree from Pacific Chiropractic college in Portland in 1922, he added.

He is also a short story writer, he said. He is a former school teacher and mill worker.

Russia Gives

(Continued from Page 1) In regard to the specific proposal for exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war, Molotov said:

"Both the government of the Chinese people's republic and the government of the Korean People's democratic republic have stated that they agree to the proposal for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war, and as before express readiness to reach agreement on the immediate settlement of the entire question and thereby of ending the war in Korea."

BORN

BALEM MEMORIAL HOSPITAL
STARK — To Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stark, Rt. 1, Box 182-E, McMinnville, a girl, March 31.
CIBER — To Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gies, Rt. 1, Box 264, Independence, a girl, March 31.
ELLIOTT — To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott, 3989 Douglas St., a girl, March 31.
BALEM GENERAL HOSPITAL
HAMILTY — To Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Haelet, 2235 S. 15th St., a boy, March 31.
APFOLZEN — To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Apfoller, Rt. 1, Box 282-E, Dallas, a girl, March 31.
SILVERTON HOSPITAL
SCHMIDT — To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt, Mt. Angel, a girl, March 29.
SCHNEIDER — To Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schneider, Woodburn, a boy, March 29.

Ouster

(Continued from Page 1)

Wardens Joseph Ragen of Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, L. E. Clapp, warden of the Idaho state penitentiary at Boise, and G. North Jameson, warden at the South Dakota prison at Sioux Falls, were named, came to Salem, spent three days at the Oregon prison, interviewed 40 witnesses, inspected the penitentiary from top to bottom, and then proceeded to their homes after agreeing on a report which reached the board of control Tuesday afternoon.

In the meantime, on the suggestion of Governor Paul L. Patterson, the board contacted James V. Bennett, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons and Austin MacCormick, of Berkeley, Calif., an official of the Osbourne Association, an organization interested in penology in the United States, to obtain suggestions for a successor to O'Malley, in the event the investigating wardens recommended his release.

Gladden, who was recommended highly by Bennett and MacCormick, as well as other nationally known prison authorities, was contacted and agreed to come to Salem and serve as warden on a temporary basis.

Last night, the board met with Gladden and Alexander, and following this conference called in O'Malley and notified him that he was through as of right then.

Announcement of the change was made at the late hour, the governor explained, because at that time there was maximum security of prisoners at the prison. The news was withheld from radio broadcasts until 11 p.m. Tuesday, when it was known that all prisoners were securely locked up for the night.

Here as Long as Needed — "Warden Gladden will remain in charge of the prison as long as is necessary," Governor Patterson said. "We have told him that he is in full charge and that anything within reason that he requests of the board will be granted to aid him in putting the institution in proper shape."

When asked if Deputy Warden Lawrence O'Brien would remain, Governor Patterson said that it was entirely up to Warden Gladden.

"The deputy warden is appointed by the board of control but we will follow any recommendation made by the new warden," he said.

Prison Budget

(Continued from Page 1)

"I have more confidence now in the prison administration," he said.

Virgil O'Malley, now ex-warden, declared that he had "no comment" to make on the Board of Control's discharge order. He said that he planned to study the warden's report and would make an official statement later in the day.

COURT NEWS

Circuit Court
Dewey Goddette vs Union Security Co., Ed R. Visko and Claude N. Post: Verdict of $10,000 in favor of defendants given by jury.

Mabel M. Hooks vs James L. Hooks: Divorce complaint, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. Married at Yuma, Ariz., May 19, 1931. Asks ownership of household effects.

Seven indictments, one secret, have been returned by a Marion county grand jury. One not true bill was returned.

Those indicted were: Richard E. Anderson, 1905 Alder street, charged with larceny by bailer; Ray Zinke, 333 Union street, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor; Wm. M. Austin, 419 Liberty Circle, charged with non-support; Kenneth Reed, 1140 South Liberty street, charged with forgery; Leonard Clyde Mallard, Nelson Hurd and Charles P. Duncan, charged with escaping from the penitentiary.

Frank Cron was cleared of a charge of larceny by bailer.

Jean I. Carrow vs Armond L. Carrow: Order giving plaintiff custody of minor child and directing defendant to pay $100 monthly support.

Reginald E. Gilbert vs Nona Lee Gilbert: Divorce complaint, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. Married Dec. 4, 1948. Plaintiff asks for custody of two minor children.

Credit Service Co. vs Darwin Schaber: Suit for judgment of $1,928.78.

Hannie K. Hassen vs Arthur B. Hassen: Defendants' demurrer based on grounds of insufficient facts.

Glen E. Browning and David V. Nandolph vs Phoenix Indemnity Co.: Defendants' answer denying, admitting and alleging. Asks dismissal of suit.

Betty G. Cunningham vs Myron C. Cunningham: Motion by defendant asking modification of support money from $25 to $35 for each child.

Inmates

(Continued from Page 1)

"Guards stationed throughout the institutions seemed uninterested," the report continued. "There seemed to be a general lack of knowledge of who had keys for certain gates. No one seemed to be in charge of various parts of the institution. There seemed to be little knowledge of work assignments."

Inmates Roam
"Inmates seemed to roam at will throughout the cellblocks, corridors and other parts of the institution."

"Outside of the two new cellblocks, the others gave definite indications of lack of maintenance," the wardens reported. "They were dirty and unkempt. Cells were screened off with curtains so that it was impossible for a guard to see what was going on inside. Cells were full of all sorts of gimcracks and other articles which, in most institutions, would be considered contraband."

"It is our opinion that the guard would find it next to impossible to properly supervise a cellhouse in this institution. Windows were broken out. Bottles of milk were setting on the window sills. Everywhere the appearance was that of disorganization and complete surrender to the will and desire of the inmate body."

The dining room in the prison, the report stated, appeared clean and offered good facilities for the handling of food.

"Big Shots" Favored
"However, there were indications that the serving of this food was not properly supervised, and that those who were so-called 'big shots' among the inmate body were getting the best of the food distribution. The kitchen was not clean. The floor and stoves were dirty, and the place was littered with dirty utensils and towels. There seemed to be little supervision over the men who were working there, and several were apparently idle."

"There seemed to be little control over the ice boxes and other storage places," the wardens said.

Food Stolen
"Testimony taken would indicate that a great amount of food was stolen from the kitchen area and traded about by inmates."

"According to reports, it is not unusual to see inmates with several steaks and frying them in various departments and shops. Conditions observed would substantiate these reports."

The wardens found there was little or no control over eating utensils and tools generally.

"We saw a large assortment of knives, shivs, blackjacks and other dangerous implements, as well as imitation guns, which had been confiscated from the prisoners of the institution, and as we were told covered only a period of six months. Many of these implements were made from property stolen from the dining room, kitchen, shops and elsewhere."

Conditions Not Justified
"Such a condition is definitely not justified in any prison," they declared "and we have never heard of it elsewhere on the scale that it exists in the Oregon penitentiary."

Dual leadership at the prison by the warden and superintendent was condemned by the wardens, who said that such a condition could not last long.

Guards Praised
The custodial force, the wardens said, gave an appearance of being high caliber individuals and neat in appearance. Wages of guards in the Oregon institution, are above the average for the whole country, but not in the top bracket.

However, the investigating wardens found that even though guards were frequently beaten up, little or no punishment was meted out to the inmates involved.

"To every member of the committee," the report stated, "this is an unheard of situation. In most institutions with which we are acquainted, one such beating would be a rarity and would meet with instant and appropriate punishments for the inmate or inmates responsible," the report said.

The investigators declared that much was to be desired in the manner in which the farm annex of the prison is being operated.

"It appears that in the last two years, the number of men used in operating the farm has almost doubled, whereas the produce from the farm has been annexed."

Inmates Won't Work
"We are informed that the basic reason for this is that men sent to the farm are first, not qualified; second, don't want to work; and third, are undisciplined," the report comments.

"We have been informed that there are many instances where men returned to the main institution for violation of rules are immediately sent back to the farm."

"We are informed that men have gotten drunk and gone into town have been thus returned within a day or so after having been sent back to the prison for disciplining."

Some Are Ill
"At the present time there are 25 men segregated in one of the rooms at the farm dormitory who are unable to work because of illness or disability."

Building

(Continued from Page 1)

Another way to look at the figures is from the point of view of new construction and alterations of existing buildings. January showed 25 permits for new work to cost $206,585 and 26 permits for alterations costing $43,830. February showed 31 permits for new work, $285,375, and 43 permits for alterations, $34,654; and March 46 permits for new work, $705,860, and 57 for alterations, $199,439.

New permits issued today by the building inspector's office were: Pat Jarvill, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2515 Northgate, $10,000. Blue Lake Cannery, to alter cannery at 378 Patterson, $4,500. F. M. North, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2870 Englewood, $11,000. C. Cannon, to alter a slaughterhouse at 1505 South 25th, $3500. W. M. Rutherford, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 750 North 14th, $8,130. Charles Layport, to alter a two-story apartment house at 1133 Chemeketa, $2000. M. D. Bruckman, to alter a one-story dwelling at 1990 Virginia, $2,500. Charles D. Wood, to wreck a one-story dwelling at 1383 Edgewater, $50. William T. J. Foster, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 1145 North 18th, $9500.

Capitol Visitors — Five hundred persons, mostly school children, visited the Oregon Capitol each day during March, James McGilchrist, Capitol guide, said Wednesday. More than 125 schools sent classes or study groups to observe the Legislature during March. The peak day was March 24, when 1,400 persons were shown through the building and seated in the legislative galleries.

Building

(Continued from Page 1)

Another way to look at the figures is from the point of view of new construction and alterations of existing buildings. January showed 25 permits for new work to cost $206,585 and 26 permits for alterations costing $43,830. February showed 31 permits for new work, $285,375, and 43 permits for alterations, $34,654; and March 46 permits for new work, $705,860, and 57 for alterations, $199,439.

New permits issued today by the building inspector's office were: Pat Jarvill, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2515 Northgate, $10,000. Blue Lake Cannery, to alter cannery at 378 Patterson, $4,500. F. M. North, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2870 Englewood, $11,000. C. Cannon, to alter a slaughterhouse at 1505 South 25th, $3500. W. M. Rutherford, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 750 North 14th, $8,130. Charles Layport, to alter a two-story apartment house at 1133 Chemeketa, $2000. M. D. Bruckman, to alter a one-story dwelling at 1990 Virginia, $2,500. Charles D. Wood, to wreck a one-story dwelling at 1383 Edgewater, $50. William T. J. Foster, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 1145 North 18th, $9500.

Capitol Visitors — Five hundred persons, mostly school children, visited the Oregon Capitol each day during March, James McGilchrist, Capitol guide, said Wednesday. More than 125 schools sent classes or study groups to observe the Legislature during March. The peak day was March 24, when 1,400 persons were shown through the building and seated in the legislative galleries.

Building

(Continued from Page 1)

Another way to look at the figures is from the point of view of new construction and alterations of existing buildings. January showed 25 permits for new work to cost $206,585 and 26 permits for alterations costing $43,830. February showed 31 permits for new work, $285,375, and 43 permits for alterations, $34,654; and March 46 permits for new work, $705,860, and 57 for alterations, $199,439.

New permits issued today by the building inspector's office were: Pat Jarvill, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2515 Northgate, $10,000. Blue Lake Cannery, to alter cannery at 378 Patterson, $4,500. F. M. North, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2870 Englewood, $11,000. C. Cannon, to alter a slaughterhouse at 1505 South 25th, $3500. W. M. Rutherford, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 750 North 14th, $8,130. Charles Layport, to alter a two-story apartment house at 1133 Chemeketa, $2000. M. D. Bruckman, to alter a one-story dwelling at 1990 Virginia, $2,500. Charles D. Wood, to wreck a one-story dwelling at 1383 Edgewater, $50. William T. J. Foster, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 1145 North 18th, $9500.

Capitol Visitors — Five hundred persons, mostly school children, visited the Oregon Capitol each day during March, James McGilchrist, Capitol guide, said Wednesday. More than 125 schools sent classes or study groups to observe the Legislature during March. The peak day was March 24, when 1,400 persons were shown through the building and seated in the legislative galleries.

Building

(Continued from Page 1)

Another way to look at the figures is from the point of view of new construction and alterations of existing buildings. January showed 25 permits for new work to cost $206,585 and 26 permits for alterations costing $43,830. February showed 31 permits for new work, $285,375, and 43 permits for alterations, $34,654; and March 46 permits for new work, $705,860, and 57 for alterations, $199,439.

New permits issued today by the building inspector's office were: Pat Jarvill, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2515 Northgate, $10,000. Blue Lake Cannery, to alter cannery at 378 Patterson, $4,500. F. M. North, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2870 Englewood, $11,000. C. Cannon, to alter a slaughterhouse at 1505 South 25th, $3500. W. M. Rutherford, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 750 North 14th, $8,130. Charles Layport, to alter a two-story apartment house at 1133 Chemeketa, $2000. M. D. Bruckman, to alter a one-story dwelling at 1990 Virginia, $2,500. Charles D. Wood, to wreck a one-story dwelling at 1383 Edgewater, $50. William T. J. Foster, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 1145 North 18th, $9500.

Capitol Visitors — Five hundred persons, mostly school children, visited the Oregon Capitol each day during March, James McGilchrist, Capitol guide, said Wednesday. More than 125 schools sent classes or study groups to observe the Legislature during March. The peak day was March 24, when 1,400 persons were shown through the building and seated in the legislative galleries.

Building

(Continued from Page 1)

Another way to look at the figures is from the point of view of new construction and alterations of existing buildings. January showed 25 permits for new work to cost $206,585 and 26 permits for alterations costing $43,830. February showed 31 permits for new work, $285,375, and 43 permits for alterations, $34,654; and March 46 permits for new work, $705,860, and 57 for alterations, $199,439.

New permits issued today by the building inspector's office were: Pat Jarvill, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2515 Northgate, $10,000. Blue Lake Cannery, to alter cannery at 378 Patterson, $4,500. F. M. North, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 2870 Englewood, $11,000. C. Cannon, to alter a slaughterhouse at 1505 South 25th, $3500. W. M. Rutherford, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 750 North 14th, $8,130. Charles Layport, to alter a two-story apartment house at 1133 Chemeketa, $2000. M. D. Bruckman, to alter a one-story dwelling at 1990 Virginia, $2,500. Charles D. Wood, to wreck a one-story dwelling at 1383 Edgewater, $50. William T. J. Foster, to build a one-story dwelling and garage at 1145 North 18th, $9500.

Capitol Visitors — Five hundred persons, mostly school children, visited the Oregon Capitol each day during March, James McGilchrist, Capitol guide, said Wednesday. More than 125 schools sent classes or study groups to observe the Legislature during March. The peak day was March 24, when 1,400 persons were shown through the building and seated in the legislative galleries.

Inmates

(Continued from Page 1)

"Guards stationed throughout the institutions seemed uninterested," the report continued. "There seemed to be a general lack of knowledge of who had keys for certain gates. No one seemed to be in charge of various parts of the institution. There seemed to be little knowledge of work assignments."

Inmates Roam
"Inmates seemed to roam at will throughout the cellblocks, corridors and other parts of the institution."

"Outside of the two new cellblocks, the others gave definite indications of lack of maintenance," the wardens reported. "They were dirty and unkempt. Cells were screened off with curtains so that it was impossible for a guard to see what was going on inside. Cells were full of all sorts of gimcracks and other articles which, in most institutions, would be considered contraband."

"It is our opinion that the guard would find it next to impossible to properly supervise a cellhouse in this institution. Windows were broken out. Bottles of milk were setting on the window sills. Everywhere the appearance was that of disorganization and complete surrender to the will and desire of the inmate body."

The dining room in the prison, the report stated, appeared clean and offered good facilities for the handling of food.

"Big Shots" Favored
"However, there were indications that the serving of this food was not properly supervised, and that those who were so-called 'big shots' among the inmate body were getting the best of the food distribution. The kitchen was not clean. The floor and stoves were dirty, and the place was littered with dirty utensils and towels. There seemed to be little supervision over the men who were working there, and several were apparently idle."

"There seemed to be little control over the ice boxes and other storage places," the wardens said.

Food Stolen
"Testimony taken would indicate that a great amount of food was stolen from the kitchen area and traded about by inmates."

"According to reports, it is not unusual to see inmates with several steaks and frying them in various departments and shops. Conditions observed would substantiate these reports."

The wardens found there was little or no control over eating utensils and tools generally.

"We saw a large assortment of knives, shivs, blackjacks and other dangerous implements, as well as imitation guns, which had been confiscated from the prisoners of the institution, and as we were told covered only a period of six months. Many of these implements were made from property stolen from the dining room, kitchen, shops and elsewhere."

Conditions Not Justified
"Such a condition is definitely not justified in any prison," they declared "and we have never heard of it elsewhere on the scale that it exists in the Oregon penitentiary."

Dual leadership at the prison by the warden and superintendent was condemned by the wardens, who said that such a condition could not last long.

Guards Praised
The custodial force, the wardens said, gave an appearance of being high caliber individuals and neat in appearance. Wages of guards in the Oregon institution, are above the average for the whole country, but not in the top bracket.

However, the investigating wardens found that even though guards were frequently beaten up, little or no punishment was meted out to the inmates involved.

"To every member of the committee," the report stated, "this is an unheard of situation. In most institutions with which we are acquainted, one such beating would be a rarity and would meet with instant and appropriate punishments for the inmate or inmates responsible," the report said.

The investigators declared that much was to be desired in the manner in which the farm annex of the prison is being operated.

"It appears that in the last two years, the number of men used in operating the farm has almost doubled, whereas the produce from the farm has been annexed."

"We are informed that men have gotten drunk and gone into town have been thus returned within a day or so after having been sent back to the prison for disciplining."

Some Are Ill
"At the present time there are 25 men segregated in one of the rooms at the farm dormitory who are unable to work because of illness or disability."

Inmates

(Continued from Page 1)

"Guards stationed throughout the institutions seemed uninterested," the report continued. "There seemed to be a general lack of knowledge of who had keys for certain gates. No one seemed to be in charge of various parts of the institution. There seemed to be little knowledge of work assignments."

Inmates Roam
"Inmates seemed to roam at will throughout the cellblocks, corridors and other parts of the institution."

"Outside of the two new cellblocks, the others gave definite indications of lack of maintenance," the wardens reported. "They were dirty and unkempt. Cells were screened off with curtains so that it was impossible for a guard to see what was going on inside. Cells were full of all sorts of gimcracks and other articles which, in most institutions, would be considered contraband."

"It is our opinion that the guard would find it next to impossible to properly supervise a cellhouse in this institution. Windows were broken out. Bottles of milk were setting on the window sills. Everywhere the appearance was that of disorganization and complete surrender to the will and desire of the inmate body."

The dining room in the prison, the report stated, appeared clean and offered good facilities for the handling of food.

"Big Shots" Favored
"However, there were indications that the serving of this food was not properly supervised, and that those who were so-called 'big shots' among the inmate body were getting the best of the food distribution. The kitchen was not clean. The floor and stoves were dirty, and the place was littered with dirty utensils and towels. There seemed to be little supervision over the men who were working there, and several were apparently idle."

"There seemed to be little control over the ice boxes and other storage places," the wardens said.

Food Stolen
"Testimony taken would indicate that a great amount of food was stolen from the kitchen area and traded about by inmates."

"According to reports, it is not unusual to see inmates with several steaks and frying them in various departments and shops. Conditions observed would substantiate these reports."

The wardens found there was little or no control over eating utensils and tools generally.

"We saw a large assortment of knives, shivs, blackjacks and other dangerous implements, as well as imitation guns, which had been confiscated from the prisoners of the institution, and as we were told covered only a period of six months. Many of these implements were made from property stolen from the dining room, kitchen, shops and elsewhere."

Conditions Not Justified
"Such a condition is definitely not justified in any prison," they declared "and we have never heard of it elsewhere on the scale that it exists in the Oregon penitentiary."

Dual leadership at the prison by the warden and superintendent was condemned by the wardens, who said that such a condition could not last long.

Guards Praised
The custodial force, the wardens said, gave an appearance of being high caliber individuals and neat in appearance. Wages of guards in the Oregon institution, are above the average for the whole country, but not in the top bracket.

However, the investigating wardens found that even though guards were frequently beaten up, little or no punishment was meted out to the inmates involved.

"To every member of the committee," the report stated, "this is an unheard of situation. In most institutions with which we are acquainted, one such beating would be a rarity and would meet with instant and appropriate punishments for the inmate or inmates responsible," the report said.

The investigators declared that much was to be desired in the manner in which the farm annex of the prison is being operated.

"It appears that in the last two years, the number of men used in operating the farm has almost doubled, whereas the produce from the farm has been annexed."

"We are informed that men have gotten drunk and gone into town have been thus returned within a day or so after having been sent back to the prison for disciplining."

Some Are Ill
"At the present time there are 25 men segregated in one of the rooms at the farm dormitory who are unable to work because of illness or disability."

Inmates