Cats "Co-respondents" In This Divorce Suit

Portland (AP)—"Intellimity" might be the name of grounds for a divorce filed here by Homer W. Kershner.

Kershner asserted that "for 18 years the defendant had a mania for house cats and insisted on keeping as many as 17; that said cats... were not allowed to go out of doors... making the home unfit for human habitation."

Kershner added that conditions of the house prevented him from bringing home business associates and friends.

Hides in Dog House While Police Search

Marion, Mass. (AP)—Six-year-old August Corra Jr., put himself in the dog house for several hours Wednesday for staying out late.

During the long dog house occupancy in his back yard, Marion's police force and 15 firefighters joined in a search for him.

He said he hid in the dog's quarters because he had stayed out late and was afraid to go home.

Advice Promised in BLM Reorganization

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower assured Sen. Pat McCarran (D., Nev.), today that western senators will be "fully consulted" before any reorganization proposal is made affecting the bureau of land management.

McCarran and other western legislators have urged that activities of the interior department's bureau of land management and the agriculture department's forest service remain unchanged. McCarran had warned that transfer of the bureau to the forest service was "imminent."

Mr. Eisenhower wrote that "you and your group will be fully consulted" before any change is made.

Illegally Stored Gas Ignites, 11 Injured

San Francisco (AP)—Illegally stored butane gasoline caused the explosion which wrecked a three-story building, injured 11 people and caused an estimated 180,000 damage to Chinatown Wednesday, says Fire Chief Rudolph Seibert.

The chief said butane tanks were stored in the basement of a plumbing shop without a permit and were "definitely in violation of the law."

Bookmobile Plan for Linn

Albany — A county library bookmobile plan for Linn county was presented to about 100 persons from widely scattered parts of the county by the educational committee Tuesday at a meeting at the 4-H fair grounds dining room.

Eleanor Stephens, librarian of the Oregon State library at Salem, spoke of the value of books in preserving civilization and in developing individual thinking important in a democracy.

Data sheets covering the way a county library would operate in this county were given to persons attending the meeting. They were shown the way in which bookmobile service would reach areas where there is no library service and how it would supplement existing stocks of small libraries and rural schools.

Most persons attending represented various rural organizations of the county and they will explain the plan to their groups during the coming months.

Half Tower Survives Nevada Atomic Blast

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—About half of the 300-foot tower used in Tuesday's atomic blast was left standing, an Atomic Energy Commission source says, which makes the puzzling shot even more of a puzzle to those outside the curtain of secrecy surrounding test explosions.

In previous detonations, so far as is known, the towers have been vaporized, leaving no appreciable trace.

Model Husband, Father Nabbed

San Francisco (AP)—A 19-year-old "model husband and father," a fugitive from the Oregon state penitentiary, was arrested here by the FBI last night.

He was identified as Joseph Paul Baker, Richmond, Calif. He was sentenced to the institution in April, 1951, for breaking into a store at Eugene.

Baker escaped from prison last July as he worked as a trusty on a cherry-picking crew.

The FBI said he came to San Francisco, got a job as a cafeteria bus boy and married a waitress. Later he went to work for a Richmond chemical plant and three weeks ago the Bakers had their first child, a boy.

Baker was arrested when he and his wife, Andrea, went to her parents' home to spend the evening.
