Patient's Heart Action Is Restored

Los Angeles, (AP)—Medical drama developed when a patient's heart stopped just before a leading heart surgeon was to operate, demonstrating his technique to hospital staff members.

Instant incision of the chest and massage of the patient's heart by hand revived her, after three minutes.

The middle-aged woman, suffering from constriction of a heart valve, was being prepared for the surgery at City of Hope Hospital in nearby Duarte yesterday.

Haste Order in Murder Probe

Coquille, Ore. (AP)—A special meeting of the Coos county Grand Jury was expected soon to investigate the North Bend, Ore., nightclub shooting spree in which an enraged and apparently drunken Puerto Rican assistant ship's cook killed two persons and wounded five.

Florencio Martes Furtres, 38, who gave New York as his address was charged with wielding the .38 caliber pistol that killed Harold Edison Carter, 24, Hauser, and Maysel Alice Pressnall, 25, North Bend.

Wounded were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Pettit, 27; Harvey Hargens, 24, all of North Bend; and seaman Amos Jones and John Patrick of the Weyerhaeuser lumber vessel F. S. Bell.

The shooting took place Saturday night in Ripper's Round-up Room where Furtres had asked Mrs. Pressnall to dance. She refused and he returned to the ship where he is alleged to have obtained a pistol. About one hour later, investigators said, he re-entered the club, walked to Mrs. Pressnall's table and fired point blank at her and her escort, killing them both.

Authorities said Furtres emptied the gun into the crowd and then dashed to a storeroom to reload his weapon. He was overpowered by customers.

The awards included: Second Class badges by George VanDuesen, Kenny McDermitt, Robert Rowse, Peter Lorenson, James Miller, Lewis

Hatfield, Merle Aaeserude, Ronald Case and Larry Osterberg.

Star rank to Billy McCallister, presented by Charles Case. Merit badges presented by George Renschler to: Larry Frad, Billy McCallister, Errie Renschler, Andy Palmer, Arthur Krueger, Ted Olson.

Jim Kern, assistant Scout executive, talked concerning the jamboree and summer camp.

Committeemen present were Dayl Burres, Al Stevens, Francis Clark, Scoutmaster Buryl Palmer, Assistant Leon Gonlon and Leo McCallister, assistant cub master.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCallister and Mrs. Palmer.

Elks Temple Bids Opened

Albany — The George H. Buckler Construction company of Portland has submitted low bid on the projected Albany Elks temple, which will rise during the next year on a site at Fourth avenue and Broad-albin street. The Buckler bid, one of eight, was $334,344, including three alternates which, if deducted, would lower the bid by nearly $10,000. Awarding of the contract, however, will not be done until later.

The new Elks temple will be of reinforced concrete construction, two stories high, with the lower floor of concrete. The roof will be of composition material. The structure will be fireproof and will cover a quarter of a block.

The upper floor will include the lodge room and dining room and the club room, women's lounge, library, television room, conference rooms and heating unit and air conditioning equipment will occupy the ground floor.

Second low bid was submitted by Browning, Randolph & Newman, Salem. Spread between the high and low bid was $36,850, a margin of less than 10 per cent.

Pete Home After Adding 18,000 Miles

Pete is back in Salem after an 18,000-mile trip through three countries — and he's happy to be home again.

This last trip brought his total travels in the last nine years to about 60,000 miles and seven trips across the continent — and Pete thinks that is quite a bit of travel for a cat.

Of course, he didn't travel it alone. He had a little help from some friends, Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Courtney with whom he lives out south of town at Route 4, Box 583. They just happened to be going the same way he was going so he rode along.

His latest little jaunt took him about four and a half months, going through California, Mexico, the southern and eastern states to New York, then into Canada and back home.

Pete is 18 pounds of Maltese cat. He started his travels back in 1944 when he was acquired by Courtney back in Virginia. That was while Courtney was still in the navy. He retired in 1946. It was about that time that Pete made his first trip across the country.

After Courtney's retirement, he and the wife, set their headquarters at their present home and took off occasionally on pleasure jaunts and Pete just went along for the ride.

He's pretty proud of those 60,000 miles and although he was glad to get home, he's ready to go again any time.

Change Authorized For Albany Station

Washington (AP)—Radio station KWLL, Albany, Ore., was authorized by the Communications Commission Wednesday to change from 1,240 to 790 kilocycles with power increased from 350 watts to one kilowatt.

The commission was asked to approve a change in another Oregon station. In that one C. H. Fisher seeks control of KUGN and KUGN-FM.

Until the end of the Napoleonic wars, "ships of the line" with sides consisting of two feet of oak were virtually shot proof with the ineffective cannon used at that time.
