

Peg in Washington

BY ALENE (PEG) PHILLIPS

Washington, D. C. March 31, 1953

Dear Marian:

An especially delightful party honored Secretary and Mrs. Douglas McKay Sunday evening when the American Women's Press club entertained in their attractive club rooms. The Hawaiian theme was responsible for the decorations, the buffet, the favors, and the music. Three Hawaiian musicians from New York serenaded the guests. Mrs. Joseph Farrington, wife of the delegate from Hawaii, provided anthurium and other exotic flowers and leaves from the islands for effective bouquets around the rooms and lovely orchid leis that were presented to the honored guests and some of the wives of officials, as well as a lovely silk floral holoku—a native Hawaiian dress—to Mrs. McKay. Mrs. McKay reported that the dress was exactly right in size. To the Oregonians present, the piece de resistance on the buffet was baked Oregon salmon beautifully prepared. Chicken and rice surry with Hawaiian condiments and preserves, and thinly sliced roast beef completed the main dishes but the salmon fresh from Oregon, through the work of Congressman Walter Norblad—some 93 pounds in all—was a real treat to those from Oregon who included Senator and Mrs. Guy Corden, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smyth, Mr. and Mrs. V. MacKenzie, and me. The party is the first in a series to recognize the new honorary members of the club and Miss Florence Taaf, who is on Larry Smyth's staff in our department, and who was a principal hostess, was proud of the fact that the first event honored the Secretary of the Interior and his wife.

This has been a busy two weeks for the McKays since their return from Virgin Islands. Among the events have been the dinner for which the Ben Fishers entertained for several visiting Oregonians, the McKays and the Cordons; a dinner at which the Abbott Millises, former Portlanders, entertained the McKays and Senator and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall; a dinner given by the Henry Gonyeas, of Tacoma—they are parents of Wil Gonyea of Eugene, a long time friend of the Secretary, and whose other guests were the Rene Odilins of Tacoma and Senator and Mrs. John Bricker; and the dinner Saturday night at which a number of Seattle and Everett people gathered to honor the newly appointed Governor of Guam, Ford Eividge, Seattle, and Mrs. Eividge, and the McKays. I was interested to hear one of the guests remark that he was born in Albany, Oregon. He is Congressman J. Arthur Yeager of California, who lived in Albany during childhood, moved to Kirkland, Wash., was prominent in civic affairs in Seattle, and eventually was elected to Congress from his third home state of California. We discovered that our mothers had been friends in Albany in their girlhood. The Nat Rodgers of the Olympic Steamship company of Seattle were hosts for the dinner and several others associated with the company were present with whom we also found we had many mutual friends. Under Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Walter Williams were greeting fellow Seattleites about the room.

Today Mrs. McKay was a guest at the White House when Mrs. Eisenhower entertained at tea for Mary Flekford, who is serving as associate national chairman for the savings bond drive. Sections of old Pickford films were shown and the guests included cabinet wives and sub-cabinet wives. The McKays attended the reception for which Senator and Mrs. Robert A. Taft entertained to honor Mrs. Eisenhower. The President dropped in during the course of the reception. The event marked the first time the Tafts have entertained at a large affair since Mrs. Taft became a semi-invalid as a result of a stroke in 1950. Her gracious personality and warm friendliness overcome the handicap of greeting guests from her wheelchair. This was the party at which the Lady Astor-Joe McCarthy tilt developed and which undoubtedly has been reported in the wire services at home.

Among the Oregonians who have "checked in" at Interior this week have been Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koenig, formerly of Salem, where he was with Eoff Electric, but now of White Swan, Wash., where he is with Morris Hitchcock, brother of Oregon's State Senator Phil Hitchcock; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weisendanger, who came east as far as Michigan, picked up a car, and are touring homeward through Florida and the south. They spent his birthday on March 19 on the Canadian side of Niagara Falls and their first visit to Washington was another highlight of their trip. Among other callers: Marvin Klemme, who was with the State Land Board in Salem at one time and subsequently in the Grazing Service in Harney county. He reported on two

SS Lions Auxiliary Nominates

Nominations for officers in South Salem Lions club auxiliary were listed at this week's meeting.

They include for president, Mrs. Charles Nielsen, Mrs. Nels Johnson, Mrs. Charles Sweetser; for vice president, Mrs. Robert Morrow, Mrs. Arthur Martin, Mrs. Francis Hamstreet; for secretary, Mrs. Glen Briggs and Mrs. Howard Obershaw; for treasurer, Mrs. Glen Browning, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Donald Cooper; for lion trainer, Mrs. Louis Neuman, Mrs. R. The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Clayton Jones. For entertainment, Mr. Jones showed a film of his trip to Lake Louise. The May meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. Neuman.

Another Oregon lad in eastern schools, Buck Adams, student at Culver Military Academy and son of Dewey Adams, Scappoose, was an office caller to greet his dad's friend, Secretary McKay. Chet Irving, Klamath Falls; Robert Sipe, Albany; Julius Hult, Junction City; James Polhemus, General Thomas M. Robins, Tom Dellsell, Arthur Porter, Frank Warren, and Paul McKee, all of Portland, have been in this week. Mr. and Mrs. Harley Stevens, of San Francisco—she is a sister of Mrs. William Swindells, Dallas, and daughter, of Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, are Washington visitors, and during his call at the office, I exchanged Oregon City news recalling childhood days there. Douglas Lawson, Boston, uncle of Tom Lawson McCall, and former Prineville resident, entertained the Secretary at luncheon one noon. He still regards Oregon as the most wonderful home spot in the country. Chester Sterrett of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, is another visitor this week.

Incidentally, Mrs. McKay will be heard on the "Washington, U.S.A." radio broadcast over CBS on April 4. She was interviewed by Hazel Markel, former Oregonian, now in radio and television work here. The program will be heard in Oregon. Good-bye for now. Peg.
