State Building

Senator Binger, who was on the majority report to kill the bill, said that the house had kept this bill since January 9 and he objected to the small amount of time given the senate to consider it.

"We did not have time to even hold a hearing on this bill," he said, "and I certainly would not vote for any bill that I have not had an opportunity to study."

Senator Dick Neuberger said he didn't agree with Bain that the capitol should be moved to Portland, but he added that only two states in the union, Oregon and Wyoming, had this restriction on location of state institutions.

E. O. Supports Salem

People of Eastern Oregon, Senator Lowell Steen declared, have no great desire to move the capitol to Milton-Freewater or to Pendleton.

"We kind of like Salem and are proud of our state capitol," Sen Steen said. "We want to see development of the capitol mall go forward and feel that also it is an economy to have the state institutions concentrated in Salem. The question here is whether you want to develop our capitol city or break it down by moving institutions to Multnomah county."

Senator Douglas Yeater pointed out that there are 13 institutions located outside of Marion county and five state commissions have buildings outside of the capitol county.

In closing the debate Senator Lonergan denied that the bill represented an effort on the part of Multnomah county to "hog" the state institutions but declared that he favored the bill because he didn't think the legislature should be hamstrung if an emergency should arise.

After the minority report in favor of the bill had been voted down, the senate then adopted the majority report which indefinitely postponed the bill. Those who voted against the "building grab" were:

Embassy Gives

A State Department spokesman said that Jacob D. Beam, chargé d'affaires in Moscow, delivered the text of the speech to the Kremlin.

Long Range Program — "In discussing the intent of the speech our chiefs of diplomatic missions were told," the State Department spokesman said, "to make these points among others:

"1. That what the president was doing was setting forth a long range program which the new administration feels can contribute to world peace, stability, and the welfare of all peoples. It was a serious and constructive effort toward those aims.

"2. That the United States will accept at face value concrete actions which demonstrate the good faith of the USSR in bringing about a relaxation of tensions now obstructing the road to world peace. The president's speech makes abundantly clear, however, that this government will be impressed by acts and not by words."

Resumption

Allied agreement to get the truce talks underway came as a Communist convoy carrying disabled American and British prisoners neared Kaesong, just six miles from the Panmunjom area where the exchange of sick and wounded captives begins Monday.

The Communists said another 20 truck convoy of non-Koreans will leave the Red prison camp at Pyoktong Tuesday and arrive at Kaesong Tuesday.

In a letter turned over to Communist staff officers at Panmunjom the Allies proposed:

- 1. That Switzerland take custody of prisoners who do not want to return home.
  - 2. That the Reds be given 60 days to persuade them to go home and that Switzerland arrange the "peaceable disposition" of those who still refuse repatriation.
  - 3. That staff officers meet in Panmunjom to arrange for resumption of the armistice talks.
- The U. N. warned that it would break off the negotiations again "unless the meeting of full delegations indicate an acceptable agreement will be reached in a reasonable time."

New Hormone Discovered

Berkeley, Calif. (U.P.) — The discovery of a new hormone was announced today. In body chemistry that means what the discovery of a new continent would mean in geography or a new plant would mean in astronomy.

The new hormone is another manufactured by the pituitary gland which is about the size of a pea and is at the base of the brain. Hormones serve as chemical policemen of the body. The new one sees to it that the body produces the oxygen-carrying red blood cells it must have to live and act.

To Lift Veil

The committee, while in sympathy with the governor's position, some members were not in agreement as to the mechanics of the bill.

Under the present system, if a tax return is questioned by auditors of the commission, a letter is dispatched to the taxpayer, who may request a conference with the auditor. In important cases, attorneys of the commission and at times the commissioner in charge of income tax division, join in the conference.

Following this conference an assessment is made, and if this assessment proves unsatisfactory to the taxpayer he can request a hearing before the entire tax commission.

Amendment Adopted — Some members sought to lift the veil of secrecy after the assessment had been made following conference but this idea was opposed by others who contended that to do this would break down the secrecy which induces taxpayers to bring in records and give the commission a full report of all financial proceedings.

Finally the committee adopted the amendments to two house bills, 415 and 416, which would provide for turning records of compromises to the governor. Senators Walker, Steen and Hitchcock declined to concur but will not submit a minority report, they said.

The committee also amended House Bill 85 which among several proposed corrections in the tax law, removed excise tax exemptions to affiliated corporations. Only Senator Walker voted against the do-pass report, saying that he was doing so only because he did not have sufficient information on the bill.

Bex Davis Installed — In a ceremony held at Bend Thursday Rex Davis of Salem was installed as treasurer of the Royal Arch Masons of Oregon. A Roy Kellogg of Portland was installed as high priest, and A. H. McDonnell of McMinnville as principal sojourner.

Driver Fined — Nicholas Kovtynovich, Oswego, was found guilty by Marion county district court Judge Val D. Sloper Friday on a charge of drunk driving. Kovtynovich was fined $150 on the charge and filed an oral notice of appeal. He was arrested December 13 by state police on the charge.

Roth Backed for State JC Post

Silverton — Members of the Silverton Junior Chamber of Commerce voted to sponsor Harlan Roth for the office of state vice-president when state officers are selected for the coming year at the Salem sessions of May 22, 23 and 24.

Roth has been active in the state Jaycee organization program during the past year's service as secretary.

Sunday, May 3, is the date for the first "Come to Church" project adopted by the junior group, with Olaf Paulson, Jr., as chairman of the committee.

Local rural folk are to be special guests of both the junior and senior forums in the Farmers' Night program, April 28. Bob Mallorie is general chairman of plans.

Earl Adams, local businessman, was program speaker for the Jaycees, giving a talk of experiences in Europe and Greenland, during the recent several weeks' visit of Mr. and Mrs. Adams with the families of their son, Wallie, and their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Barkhurst, in Paris, France.

Bob Sites is Jaycee president and Jim Nelson, publications chairman.

Court in Portland — County Judge Rex Hartley and Commissioners Roy J. Rice and E. Friday attending a conference of the O&C Land Grant association. Up for consideration was a proposed settlement of the controverted law problems.

Over 100 Derby Boys Now Signed for Race in July

By VIC FREYER

Derby news notes for today. Derbyists are still signing up, both here in Salem and elsewhere. Well over 100 are signed up at Douglas McKay's and eight applications have been sent in from Albany and six from Lebanon. In addition, Dallas says they have over 80, Independence, Corvallis and Sweet Home several each and a number of small towns have two or three each. So you can see we already have many more signed up than raced last year and a good many more to come.

An order for the official 1953 Derby helmets for Derby drivers has been sent into national headquarters. 175 were ordered and additional ones will be ordered later as they are needed. They will be given out at the time of the Derby to each boy who races. The helmet will be a gift from the Chevrolet company.

The new helmets are blue with the official Derby emblem in color on the front. These 1953 safety racing helmets have a shorter visor this year after it was requested that way by many boys who raced last year, national headquarters said.

The 1953 Derby film will be back on May 4 for a week, Dick Rogers has announced, and a number of clubs and schools have already signed up to see it.

An estimated 4,450 have already seen it at showings in 23 locations. Last year's film is available right now at Douglas McKay's for anyone who wants to borrow it.

If your school or club wants to show it, just call Wayne Hadley at McKay's and tell him when you want it. Then you can pick it up, use it and return it to him there.

Anybody need a steering wheel? The Toy and Hobby shop, 163 North Commercial, has some on hand. They sell at $1.25 each.

They had quite a Derby clinic out at Keiser last Saturday. A good-sized group of boys turned out in addition to 13 fathers and a number of other persons. Three boys came in from Turner and one from Corvallis, although most of them were from the Keiser area.

The Corvallis lad is really serious about getting in this race. He has to get around on crutches but he attended the clinic and intends to build his racer in plenty of time for the race. He will be off his crutches by then and able to get in his racer.

Say, kids, if your dad wants to know more about this Soap Box Derby, tell him to have the secretary or program chairman of an organization he belongs to contact W. L. (Barney) Barnett, phone 2-3882, and he'll be glad to arrange for a speaker to explain the Derby to the group.

Barney is assistant Derby Director and he will be glad to come see them himself if it is an evening meeting. If it is a noon meeting he will arrange to have another speaker there.

Here are the names of some more Derbyists who have signed up. If you aren't signed yet, grab your dad or mother and dash down to McKay's and get your official rules book and drivers license.

Class A—Gerald Minifis, 2248 Mill street, sponsored by Salem Water department; Bob Mosbruck, 2345 North Fifth street, sponsored by Darby's Boys' shop; Don Muellerhaupt, Jr., 241 South 18th street, sponsored by his father; Joel Park, 1470 Franklin street, sponsored by Wallace Park garage; and Jimmy Rawlings, 810 Ratcliffe drive, sponsored by A & R Equipment company.

the New York GOP congressman, is permitted under Annapolis regulations to own a car and ride in it, but not drive it. So his fiancée, Nancy Davidson, daughter of history professor Captain Davidson, drives the car for him. Secretary of Labor Durkin should take a look at the unfair ruling his bureaucrats have applied to private airplane pilots, who, under the wage-hour act, are supposed to be paid an hourly rate. Thus a private pilot may fly two hours from Chicago to Washington, then wait in a hotel one day for his boss to fly home. This makes them lose money. Pilots claim that they are highly skilled, should be paid on a salary basis, not the number of hours they fly. Their bosses, incidentally, agree. But though the wage-hour act was passed to help labor not hinder it, labor department bureaucracy rules for a strict hourly wage rate.

Mr. and Mrs. Small Injured in Collision

Mr. and Mrs. Brazier C. Small of Salem are in a hospital at North Bend with injuries suffered in an automobile collision near Coos Bay early Friday morning.
