

Bids Will Be Opened For Removal of Snags

Contracts for the cutting of snags from approximately 1,300 acres in the Trask river area of the Tillamook Burn will be awarded early in May, State Forestry Department officials said Friday.

Removal of the snags from fire-corridors will be done as part of the job of fireproofing the tracts earmarked for reforestation this fall.

The area to be cleared of snags has been divided into nine or more blocks or compartments, varying in size from 80 to 260 acres and contractors may bid on one or any number of them.

Tours of the area have been scheduled for the mornings of April 29 and May 2, starting at 8 a.m. from the Forest Grove headquarters. Purpose of the tours is to show prospective contractors the nature of the work. Previously 177,000 snags have been removed from the burn.

Senate Votes to Double Salaries of Legislators

Jittery House members were trying Friday to decide whether to go along with the Senate's plan to double legislators' $600 annual salaries.

The Senate voted 20 to 10 Thursday to pay legislators $1,200 a year, despite the fact that the constitution says they shall get only $600.

Pointing out that the Supreme Court ruled several years ago that the $1,500 annual salary fixed for the governor by the Constitution should be regarded only as a minimum salary, Senate lawyers convinced the upper house that they could apply the same reasoning as to legislators' salaries.

Now the House members have the jitters because they fear the people, who voted the $600 annual pay won't like it.

Some representatives wonder if Gov. Paul L. Patterson would sign the bill. But others point out that, since his new $15,000 annual salary is 10 times greater than what the Constitution says it should be, he'd have to sign it to be consistent.

In the Senate debate, supporters of the bill complained that legislators can't afford to come here for $600 a year, and that the Legislature is becoming a rich man's club because poor men can't afford to serve.

Opponents argued that serving in the Legislature should be considered as a duty and public service, and that the amount of pay shouldn't make any difference.

Automobiles the new agency will handle will include the Jaguar, the MG and the Rover "75" as well as four members of the Rootes group—the Hillman Minx, the Sunbeam-Talbot, the Humber Hawk and the Humber Super Snipe, owners Richard G. Brown and H. J. Fox announced.

The grand opening Saturday will feature all of the above named cars on display, except the MG, numerous prizes and a two-hour program by the Portland bagpipe band from 8 to 10 in the evening.

The duo came here from Portland where both worked for the Smith Lyons agency there in the British car department.

Brown has been with Smith-Lyons the past few years and before that was a student. He is an armed forces veteran.

Senate Votes Money for OTI

Oregon Technical Institute at Klamath Falls was assured a new two-year lease on life Thursday when the Senate voted 23 to 6 for the school's 1 1/2-million dollar appropriation.

Calling the six-year-old school an "educational goiter," Sen. Walter Giersbach, Forest Grove, president-on-leave of Pacific University, attacked the school as being "wasteful and extravagant."

Dr. Giersbach moved to have the bill sent to the Senate Education Committee for study, but he lost 20 to 9.

Sen. Angus Gibson, Junction City, chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee that considered the bill, said "Oregon Tech has won a fine reputation. This budget can't be cut without reducing the quality of education. A high school graduate deserves the same right to vocational education as to a college education."
