Anderson Noses Out Bowman in 36-Hole Playoff

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—Edean Anderson of Montana won like a champion and Mrs. Lyle Bowman of California lost like one. That was the story of the 23rd annual Trans-Mississippi Golf tournament, which the 23-year-old long hitter from Helena won, 2 up on the 36th hole Sunday.

Six down at the end of 10 holes, Edean managed to make back into contention, square the match on the 31st hole and take the lead on the 32nd. From there on in she held on against the determined efforts of the losing titlist from Richmond, Calif. A trap and a poor shot out cost Mrs. Bowman the 31st, and a seven-foot putt for a birdie deuce—her first break on the greens—sent Edean into the lead.

Both finalists are products of Oregon State college golf, although they attended the school at different times. Edean, a semifinalist in the Trans-Miss. last year—held both years at the Arizona Country Club—had won numerous sectional laurels "but this was my biggest" victory. Her next big tournament appearance will be the Women's Western.

What a Wallop! Yankee star Mickey Mantle (right) shows teammate Billy Martin the ball he walloped for a 565-foot homer over leftfield bleacher wall in Washington's Griffith Stadium. The club secretary retrieved the ball, buying it back from a small boy to give to Mantle. It is believed to be the longest home run hit at Griffith. Martin also hit for the circuit—though not quite as lusty as Mantle's. (UP Telephoto)

Ford Wins By Two Strokes at Virginia Beach

Virginia Beach, Va. (AP)—Doug Ford's two-stroke victory in the Virginia Beach open is the latest proof that he didn't make a mistake by dropping baseball to stick with the family trade—golf.

Ford, a 52-year-old Harrison, N.Y., player whose father and four uncles are golf professionals, beat off a brilliant last round by darkhorse Ansel Snow to win the tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 262. He shot a two-under-par 67 on the final 18.

Snow was an unheralded pro from High Point, N.C., who trailed Ford by seven strokes after 54 holes, stole the final round show and almost the first money with a seven-under-par 62.

That spree, just a stroke off the course record set by Dick Metz of Maple City, Kan., in the first round, gave Snow a 264 and second place. Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., matched Ford's final round 67 and was third with a 267. Metz fired a one-over-par 70 and finished fourth with 270.
