

Heavy Machine Suit Renewed

Albany — Suit for $15,000 damages against the Slate Construction Co., Inc., and the General Casualty company of America has been filed in circuit court here by the Pacific General Contractors as an aftermath of a previous suit which was decided in circuit court here January 14, 1950.

In that suit the Pacific General Contractors were awarded a judgment of $38,844, the plaintiffs assert, adding that at the time of filing, April 27, 1949, they attached a power shovel and two Caterpillar tractors belonging to the defendant company and located in Douglas county.

The plaintiffs allege further that they released the equipment to the Slate company during pendency of the suit, but when it was redelivered to them it had depreciated to the total extent of $15,000. Furthermore, it is alleged, $25,000 of the judgment remains unpaid.

E. B. Albright Rites April 22

Silverton—Funeral services are being held this Wednesday afternoon from the Ekman Memorial chapel for Edward Baker Albright, 83, son of the late Daniel Albright and Mary Marquam-Albright.

He was one of four sons. His brothers, all deceased, were Elmer, Wallace and George.

He died Sunday evening, April 19, at the Silverton hospital following a few months illness. The Rev. Joyce Kendall is officiating. Concluding rites are at Miller cemetery in the family plot.

Mr. Albright was born near Marquam, August 18, 1869, on the donation land claim of his great grandparents, Ezekial and Elizabeth Burbage, pioneers of 1845.

This acreage was also the lifetime home of his grandparents, Olive Burbage-Marquam and Alfred Marquam, and of his parents, Daniel and Mary Albright.

With the exception of one year when Mr. Albright attended school in southern Oregon, he and his family made their residence on this farm which is one-half mile east of Silverton. He did general farming and also specialized in the raising of hops, fescue seed and wheat.

The town of Marquam was named for his ancestors. Mr. Albright's wife was Nettie Pearl Jones, a member of another well-known pioneer family. They were married November 2, 1893. Mrs. Albright passed away two years ago.

They are the parents of Attorney Rex Albright of Silverton, George of Grants Pass, Mrs. William Reinhart (Rose) of Arlington, Va., and Myrtle Jane Carson, wife of Attorney John Carson of Salem.

Grandchildren are Karen Albright of Grants Pass; Ann Carson, Salem; Jane Carson-Shaw of Medford; and William J. Reinhart, Jr., in helicopter school in a U.S. service in Texas.

Mr. Albright was affiliated with the Methodist church.

Play Success At Stayton High

Stayton — "Outstanding" was the comment of many people, after seeing the union high school play, "The Robe", staged Thursday and Friday nights, in the high school gym.

This was the first time this play has ever been presented in a high school.

"The Robe" tells the story of the robe that Jesus wore to His crucifixion, and of the affect it has on the people who come in contact with it.

An especially good performance was given by Clarence Hinrichs, in the role of Marcellus Gallo, and by David Neitling, portraying the slave Demetrius.

The students made the costumes for the play. Some fifty costumes had to be made. The props were suggestive ones with special lighting effects. There were nine scene changes. Others in the cast were: Howell Young, Claudia Hinrichs, Bill James, Lloyd Geraths, Arthur Basl, Mack Williams, Jane Cox, Deani McDonald, Donna Peabody, Eugene Champ, Carol Kruse, Wanda Tiger, William Morgan, Claudia Johnson, Gene Small, Bruce Philippi, Rodney Kiecker, Ed Small, Almata Coffman, LaDonna Robl, Terry Koll, Raymond Pietrok.

Oil Drilling Resumed In Jefferson County

Prineville (P) — Northwest Oils, Inc., of Sparks, Nev., resumed drilling for oil in the Grizzly district of southeastern Jefferson county Tuesday.

Drilling was suspended last fall after a 1,500-foot hole had been sunk. New equipment is being used this year.
