Peg in Washington

BY ALENE (PEG) PHILLIPS

Washington, D. C., April 20 Dear Marian: Because there were other Oregon friends in addition to the visiting editors in town last week, luncheons and dinners were numerous. A cross section of "eating out" in Washington might be indicated by merely repeating the names of spots that we enjoyed during the week. . . .

In addition to the two formal dinners, both at the Statler, there were luncheons in the Veranda room at the same hotel, in the swank dining room at the Carlton with orchestra overtones to the conversation, at the Senate dining room at the Capitol with the interesting members of the Congress pointed out to the group; all supplemented with dinners at Duke Zieberts, a predominately masculine-frequented restaurant; at Longchamps, where leisurely eating is possible in attractive surroundings with an excellent cuisine; at a buffet supper at the American Newspaper Women's Club; and finally at Mrs. K's Toll House, one of the most delightful spots in suburban Washington. . . .

A fabulous collection of Lutz glass is on display and one great window in one of the dining rooms is made up of Sandwich glass plates that have been substituted for the ordinary window panes. When such interesting displays are coupled with some of the best food in Washington, and the house is surrounded by beautiful grounds, it is a show place for our visiting "firemen." Over the fireplace in one of the rooms is this legend and I shall leave it to you to figure it out: "If the B m t put: If the B. putting." . . .

On another night last week, Secretary and Mrs. Douglas McKay, entertained the newly designated secretariat staff and their wives at a buffet dinner at their apartment. Lovely lilacs in the living room and white carnations and pink snapdragons in the dining room added color. The eleven guests were ushered first by the McKays to the apartment of the Vie MacKenzie also at the Greenbriar for the first course. It was the first time that the new Under Secretary, the Assistant Secretaries, the Chief Solicitor, and the Special Assistants and their wives had gathered together and a combination of "shop talk" and getting acquainted made an interesting evening. . . .

Guests of special interest today were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Reeves and their daughter, Miss Joyce Reeves, of Salem. Mr. Reeves, on the Capital Journal staff, enjoyed seeing his former neighbor in Salem, Secretary McKay. Attractive, blue-eyed Joyce, who is an airline hostess, is to be married soon. From here the Reeves will go to Detroit for a week's visit with relatives of Mrs. Reeves. . . .

Other visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pierce of Medford, with their son and daughter; Willard T. Evenson, president of the First National Bank, Clatskanie; Roy Ward and R. L. Clark, Portland; and Dr. and Mrs. Roben Maaske, enroute home from Turkey to Monmouth. Dr. Maaske, who was on an educational assignment for the State Department, reported much progress is being made in Turkey because the people there are responsive and friendly to the United States. Adieu again, Peg. . . .

Art Event to Open April 29

The studio of Clifford Gleason is opening at 162 South Commercial with an exhibition of oil paintings by Roimonds Siaprans of Salem, on April 29. The exhibition will be shown for two weeks in this small gallery. Mr. Siaprans was born in Riga, Latvia, and studied in art school in Esslinger-Stuttgart. He arrived in the United States in 1947. He entered University of Washington next year from which he was graduated four years later. He is currently studying at University of California at Berkeley for his master's degree in art. . . .

The Gleason gallery and studio are to be used for small shows, class groups, and art activities, also individual instruction in drawing and painting. . . .

On opening night, April 29, members of Salem Art association will assist in the studio. Pouring will be Mrs. Leon Gleason and Mrs. Walter Kirk. Assisting hostesses are Miss Katharine O'Reilly, Mrs. Jerry Stone and Mrs. William Van S. Meter, Mrs. Norman Stone, Mrs. Barbara Erskine. Co-sponsoring this show are Mrs. H. G. Maison and Mrs. Karl Becke from the Gift Box. . . .

HS Seniors To Visit On Campus

By ANN CARSON

University of Oregon, Eugene (Special) — Spring has finally come to the University of Oregon and we are expecting nothing but blue skies from now on. Tops are down on the convertibles, and the cotton dresses and bright shirts are out in full regalia. One could easily mistake the campus between clacks for a rainbow. . . .

The cleaning out of the Millrace took place last week-end with several startling discoveries. In one wash tub in the basement of one of the Millrace houses, several catfish and a whitefish have found a new home. If they can remain living in the clean water, they will be returned to their former abode Wednesday, when the water is returned to the millrace. One casualty of the day was the death of a 12-inch rainbow trout which died before it could be rushed to a bathtub at the Sig Ep house. Two hundred students turned out to help with the project and they were divided into nine groups, each assigned a specific section of the millrace to clean. It really shows the work that was put into it. . . .

The World Student Service Fund is again sponsoring an Ugly Man contest. It is of course the ambition of any red blooded Oregon boy to gain this honor. Ed Meyers is one of the aspirants. Another function will be the beauty auction which is scheduled for this Friday afternoon. Such campus attractions as the Homecoming Court and the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi will be auctioned. . . .

Last Tuesday all of the sororities participated in a car washing campaign to earn money. Some of the participants you might recognize were Sue Perry, Joan Marie Miller, Nancy Miller, Marjorie Becke, Sharon Brown, Plum Brown and Marcia Webb. . . .

Last week Isaac Stern, noted American violinist, presented a concert at McArthur. This was the last Civic series concert of the year. . . . Of the 12 semi-finalists who remain in the race for Junior week-end queen, Salem is still very well represented with Joan Marie Miller and Dorothy Pederson. . . . We'll probably be seeing a good many of you this week-end for Duck Preview. It's going to be a lot of fun and we are looking forward to seeing you. . . .
