Railroads to Adjust Rates

Spokane (P) - Representatives of eight railroads told northwest shippers Monday they are ready to adjust freight rates downward but wouldn't wantto go as low as the Inter-state Commerce commission

Harry C. Barron of Chicago, chairman of the Western Traf-fic committee, said the rail-roads would lose 26 million dollars a year in revenue if the ICC schedule is adopted and five million if the roads' rates are effected.

The ICC has announced plans to extend the uniform class rates to the Pacific Northwest. It would mean a rate reduction of about 30 per cent, on a trans-continental ship-

Portland U.M.—Some 3,500,000 boxes of West Coast winter pears were marketed during the last year, Fred J. Stratmann, Portland, manager of the Oregon - Washington - California Pear bureau, said today in his annual report.

Stratmann said the sales improved largely through bureau efforts in merchandising education and field work.

Merchandising Director Joseph Sholder of Canton, O., said the bureau's merchandising program was well received in all marketing areas but he said additional work still was needed in assisting service wholesalers of winter pears.

The bureau voted to recommend continued research at the People O.K. After All, Bill Finds

As long as people give a little time to checking up on themselves, and maybe not so much on other people, the world is going to be all right. That's the opinion of Bill Carver, the newsboy at State and Liberty.

Bill has an agrument.
Today the coin chute at Bill's vending stand seemed to be clogged. He got a piece of wire with a hook on the end to clear it. He pulled out a dollar bill.

Who, thought Bill, would be buying a dollar's worth of papers? He hadn't missed them. But a note was attached. It said:
"Stole papers."

So someone was paying for papers he'd taken from time to time without drop-ping a nickel in the slot. Then there was the bit of money and the letter that reached Bill January 2, 1951.

He remembers the date.
"I stole papers last sum-mer," said the note. "God
