Portland (A)-The open sea on for trout fishing in Oregon will be extended to a big part of the state Saturday. On that day the Rogue, Umpqua and most Eastern Oregon waters open up for anglers.

Still closed, though, until May 30, are most of the lakes, reservoirs and their tributaries within national forest boundaries in the Cascade Mountains.

Still, some of the fine Cas cade Mountain areas will open up on Saturday. Among these are Odell, Crescent, Suttle and Blue Lawes and Rock Creek and Wickiup reservoirs. In the area opening Satur-day, bag limits are the same as for those areas which opened April 18: limit of 10 fish a day with not more than five of them over 12 inches long. Specific regulations will be found in the 1953 angling regulations but in general, the minimum length for fish in Eastern Oregon waters is six inches and elsewhere is eight
