

Jean Williams In Queen Lead

Lebanon — Jean Williams took up a 2000-point margin held by Darlene Powell last week and assumed the lead this week in sales of festival pins for the strawberry fair, June 4-6.

Miss Williams held a slim 11,000 to 10,300 margin over Miss Powell. The third, fourth, and fifth spots are very close: Only 80 points separate Dee Lucas from third place contestant, Louise Bishop. Janet Humphreys is in fourth spot. The tabulations were announced Monday and were based on activities of the queen candidates last week.

Program of Church And College Studied

The program of the church related college was the topic of a discussion carried on at a dinner meeting on the Willamette university campus Tuesday night with Dr. John P. Gross and Dr. William A. Rush of Nashville, Tenn. as the principal speaker.

Dr. Gross is executive secretary and Dr. Rush is director of public relations and finance, respectively of the board of education of the Methodist church.

Representatives of the university and members of the board of education and the board of world service and finance of the Methodist church attended the dinner.

The two men from Nashville met with the cabinet of the Portland area of the church Wednesday noon.
