Advice to Vets Seeking Loans

Washington (AP) — The Veterans Administration VA said Tuesday all veterans who plan to seek GI loans should apply to VA regional offices in advance for certificates of eligibility. In the past, veterans have been advised to submit their discharge or separation papers to the private lending institution making the loan. The institution then submitted them to the VA on behalf of the veterans.

The change, VA said, will reduce delays in processing loan applications. It said it was necessary because under the Korean GI bill the VA must have information not previously needed to establish a veteran's eligibility. Certificates of eligibility are proof for private lenders that VA will guarantee or insure a loan if the veteran meets other usual loan requirements. The change applies to veterans wanting home, farm or business loans. In the past five years, the amount of feed needed to produce a three-pound broiler has been reduced from 10 1/2 pounds to about 9 pounds.
