

Farm Leaders Hit at Tariff

Washington (AP)—Leaders of national farm organizations joined Thursday in urging freer world trade and denouncing a bill before Congress to impose new trade restrictions.

Lloyd C. Halvorson, economist for the National Grange, said new trade barriers by the United States would stir resentment throughout the free world and imperil this nation's own economy.

He told the House Ways and Means Committee that foreign countries must be allowed to sell goods here to earn dollars

"to pay for the foodstuffs and machines needed from us." John C. Lynn, legislative director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said the bill before the committee would reverse the long established United States policy of reducing trade barriers.

"Its drastic provisions," he said, "would nullify" the effectiveness of the reciprocal trade agreements program, and would be contrary to "the real interests" of the U. S.

Community Dinner At Woodburn May 9

Woodburn — The last community dinner until fall will be held at the Union school Saturday, May 9, beginning at 7 p.m. An amateur show will be presented following the dinner and anyone interested in entering should contact Mrs. John Ramage.

Those attending are asked to bring "potluck" and table service. Coffee and rolls will be furnished by the committee. Everyone is welcome.

Advice Given On Rat Control

Many inquiries are reaching the Public Health Office and exterminator companies for information on how to get rid of rats.

Since this is the migratory season for rats are numerous and are often seen about premises both downtown and in the residential districts.

A bulletin from the health office says four steps are necessary for control. They are: Kill the rat, eliminate their food supply, destroy their breeding places, and make buildings rat-proof.

The bulletin continues: "Rat poisons are the most efficient means of destroying rats. Exterminators and pest control operators are experienced in handling rat poisons. They will choose the poison that best fits the condition under which it is to be used. It must be remembered that poisons deadly for one warm-blooded animal are more or less poisonous to others. Human beings, pets and domestic animals must be protected against accidental poisoning.

"Food and shelter are the two most important factors in a rat's existence. Open garbage and trash heaps should be eliminated. If birds, including the ducks along Mill Stream, are being fed, a rat-proof feeding tray should be provided. A feeding tray placed on a ledge to prevent spilling is best.

"Once the rats have been killed and their harbors eliminated, it becomes necessary to make the buildings as rat-proof as possible. All openings larger than 1/2 inch must be closed if rats are to be kept out. Hardware cloth over windows, near the ground, and metal sheathing on edge of doors gives protection against rat invasion. Almost any structure can be made rat-proof with a little ingenuity."

Power Boost For Radio KWIL

Albany—Radio station KWIL will be broadcasting from a new frequency and with increased power by late summer or early fall, it was announced Wednesday by R. R. Cronise, president of the Central Willamette Broadcasting company. Cronise's announcement came upon receipt of word from the Federal Communications commission of permission to construct a new station.

Cost of change-over will be $80,000 to $70,000, Cronise revealed.

The station's power will be increased to 1000 watts, and its frequency changed to 790 kilocycles, Cronise said.

KWIL will broadcast from a point four miles east of Albany.

C. H. Fisher and Son, Portland, who have been awarded the contract for erection of three towers and the radiating system, will begin work immediately.

Fire Destroys Mill at Idanha

Idanha—Fire early Wednesday destroyed the Idanha Shingle Mill Corp. plant owned by Wilbur Chestnut and Sam Palmerton.

The loss was estimated at $25,000 and was only partially covered by insurance. A shingle shed and shingles stored in it were saved.

Warren Stoll of the Idanha fire department discovered the blaze and sounded the alarm about 1:30 a.m. Firemen were unable to check the fire which started in the upstairs and had gained considerable headway when discovered.

Frey Now Publisher Portland Oregonian

Portland (AP)—M. J. Frey, general manager of the Oregonian, Thursday was named publisher of the newspaper by the Oregonian Publishing company.

Frey, who will continue to handle the general manager's duties, said the change was in titles only and that the paper's policy and operation would remain the same.

The paper has been published by the company.

Packard Invitation Month
MAY 9th TO JUNE 9th

You are invited to take an important part in the great New Packard Program

Here is an unusual opportunity to see for yourself the fine new cars that make the New Packard Program the news story of this automotive year. 25 beautiful new cars will be awarded, including a glamorous Packard Caribbean. We hope you will join us. Please read on—

LAST December the people of this country gave a typical, enthusiastic welcome to the announcement that Packard was returning to the fine-car field. Once again America had a new choice in fine cars!

At the same time, the Packard CLIPPER was announced as the only medium-priced car in America built in the fine-car tradition. The big type of car, priced just a few hundred dollars more than the low-priced lines.

These announcements were the first step in the revitalized Packard Program! Now you are invited to participate in step number two with 12 new Packards and 12 new Packard CLIPPERS to be awarded those who follow the simple rules for participating in Packard Invitation Month.

May 9th to June 9th is the time. Just visit your dealer then. See the new Packard or CLIPPER and, on an official participation form (which your dealer will provide), write 25 words or less about the feature that impresses you most. Tell us what we should say about that feature in future advertising.

Send in as many suggestions as you wish. Just be sure that each one is written on an official participation form and is in the mail before midnight on June 9th, 1953. See your Packard dealer soon.
