

FAMILY OF CHAMPIONS

Single Family Takes High Prizes at Scio Lamb Show

Scio—Championship ribbons at the annual Scio Fat Lamb Show Saturday became strictly a family matter for the W. F. Stellmacher family of the Riverside district, Albany. Stellmacher, competing against his oldest daughter, Betty, in the adult fleece exhibits won a first prize, but lost the grand championship to Betty in the finals. Janet Stellmacher, another daughter, won the grand championship in the 4-H class for a pen of three and third prize on fleece. And, just to keep the top ribbons in the family, Joan Stellmacher won the grand championship for single fat lamb and a first on fleece. The lamb show program started with a parade despite the rain, Saturday morning. In the afternoon the dog trials were held at the high school athletic field. First prize in the trials went to Eddie Ahrens, Turner; sec-
